LORDS ARE TO REJECT BUDGET, CABINET TO QUIT

It Is Believed Certain That Bill Will Be Defeated by Upper House of Parliament.

INTEREST IS INTENSE

Galleries Are Crowded and Peers Gather in Force to Hear Debate.

GUARD FOR MEMBERS

It Is Feared That Angry Public Will "Rush" Opponents of Measure.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—The members of the Cabinet are holding an all-day session in order to complete their deliberations in time for their resignation tonight, when the budget undoubtedly will be rejected by the House of Lords.

In order to prevent the populace from "rushing" Parliament when the budget is rejected (which is a foregone conclusion), a special guard of police will be placed about the chamber.

This was a day in the history of the House of Lords long to be remembered. The session was given over to the concluding arguments and division on the Government's budget bill and the debate was the most interesting that has been heard in the upper chamber in many years.

The galleries were more crowded than on any preceding day since the debate began and the peers, whose presence in view of the probable division was urgently requested by party "whips," gathered in force. The Episcopal benches were filled, a majority of the bishops being present to hear their colleague, the Archbishop of York, who was the first speaker of the afternoon. Several peers who had never even taken the oath of the chamber were sworn in in order that they might vote at the evening division.

Opposes Amendments.

The Archbishop of York said that he would have to take a position somewhat different from that of the primate and that if he voted he would vote against Lord Lansdowne's amendment. He joined with those, he said, who deplored the introduction of the amendment and he had not arguments sufficiently strong to prove to him that the budget was bad enough to justify the unprecedented course proposed by Lord Lansdowne.

The Archbishop said it would be unprecedented for the Lords to reject a finance bill passed by the House of Commons with such a majority. The peers would be judged, he thought, not by their intentions but by their performance, and no matter what they said, it would be understood that in refusing supplies for the year they had rejected the budget.

Quoting Lord Chatham, he contended that the consent of the peers was necessary only to clothe with the form of law a tax determined by the Crown. The gift of grant was in the House of Commons alone. The constitutional question was one, the speaker declared, which would profoundly stir the people of the country and many persons would prefer the passing of a bad budget to tampering with the fundamental principles of the constitution. It was not enough, he said, to prove that the budget was bad.

There was a comparatively small attendance at last night's session of the House of Lords. Plainly, most of the peers did not think it worth while to cut short their week-end vacation to hear speeches about a subject on which they have made up their minds. The processes showed far more serious interest in the proceedings.

The most important speech of the evening was delivered by the octogenarian, Lord James of Hereford, one of the greatest lawyers in England, who has been Solicitor-General and Attorney-General. He enjoys the distinction of having declined the two greatest offices in the state—the Lord Chancellorship and the speakership of the House of Commons—offered him by Gladstone. His reason was that he disapproved of Gladstone's home rule policy.

Amendment Indefensible.

Lord James denounced Lord Lansdowne's amendment to the finance bill on constitutional grounds. He argued that it is unprecedented, unjustified and indefensible, and he prophesied that it will prove fatal to the House of Lords.

Lord Morley, Secretary of State for India, opened the debate for the government. His weak voice detracted from the oratorical effect of a closely reasoned, constitutional argument. Lord Morley contended that Lord Lansdowne's amendment means the transfer of the taxing power from the House of Commons to the House of Lords.

"It arrogates to the Lords the power to force a dissolution of Parliament, which is the prerogative of the crown," Lord Morley said. "It means that no Parliament can exist which is out of sympathy with the House of Lords. It proposes to change the representative supremacy into an oligarchy. It reduces the country's financial system to chaos."

Lord Morley, quoting Burke, said the

Judge, However, Expresses Opinion That It Is a Desirable Habit to Form.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The cause of down-trodden man gained an inch or two today when Magistrate Breen ruled in the Essex Market Court that a husband doesn't have to turn over to his wife his pay envelope unopened every Saturday night. He should at least be allowed to tear off the end and take a peek at the money, perhaps to fondle a bill a minute before surrendering it to the head of his family.

But this happy decision in favor of man was marred somewhat by the expressed opinion of the Magistrate that it would be a fine thing if all husbands would let their wives open the envelopes and keep the contents and also go through the masculine pockets in a hunt for loose change.

"He admits he said it, but he's going to try to prove that he didn't know any better," said the man from Texas.

"Well, if he didn't know, he oughtn't to have said anything," said the man from Missouri. "I don't think preachers ought to deliver sermons on things they don't know about."

"Who said anything about a preacher?"

"Why, weren't you talking about the St. Louis minister who denounced the theaters?"

"No, I was talking about H. Clay Pierce's trial in Austin."

EXPERT TALKS ON WATERWAYS AT LUNCHEON

Lyman E. Cooley of Chicago Tells Business Men's League of Needs.

RATES ARE UNCERTAIN

Murray Carleton Deplores Present High Cost of Transportation on Mississippi.

Lyman E. Cooley of Chicago delivered an address on "The Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway" before the members of the Business Men's League at their luncheon at the Southern Hotel Tuesday. Mr. Cooley is a waterway expert, having had long experience as a river engineer, and gone thoroughly into the engineering features of the project, its probable cost and the legislation necessary to make it a great transportation agency.

The other speaker was Murray Carleton of St. Louis.

Mr. Cooley recently made a tour of Europe investigating different waterways that have been improved and utilized by foreign governments.

The members of the league listened to him in eager interest. The attendance was large and the speaker was given an enthusiastic reception. President James E. Smith presided at the luncheon.

Murray Carleton talked on the need of waterway development. He declared the neglect of the Mississippi River and the failure to utilize its transportation possibilities is a criminal waste of our natural resources.

Unfair in Competition.

In the beginning of his address Mr. Carleton discussed the question of why the river is not now used. His opinion was that in the development of the railroads unreasonable methods that would not now be tolerated were used to eliminate fair competition.

He said the railroads have not kept pace with the growth of the country's commerce, figures for 1907 showing a mileage increase of 21 per cent, an equipment increase of 23 to 35 per cent, while the freight business of the country increased 118 per cent. He quoted James J. Hill to prove that the railroads cannot be developed fast enough to handle the freight business.

Mr. Carleton said he was sure the railroads would now like to have the Mississippi River developed to supplement their facilities. The boat lines on the river, he said, make little effort to get business in competition with the railroads. If they adopted modern methods, and the boats were safe, he believed they would get much traffic.

Water Rates Uncertain.

It is now almost impossible, Mr. Carleton said, to find out what the water rates are. The boat line quotes its rates, plus insurance, which in some instances is so high as to be prohibitive. The time required to get this information was often so long that merchants took the risk of higher rates and shipped by rail.

Speaking of the water rates from New York to Texas, Mr. Carleton said the Mississippi Valley will have to do something for its own protection. An independent boat line cut the rate from New York to Texas from 85 to 25 cents, forcing all other lines to meet it. With the cheap rates from the Texas coast to the interior, he says the New York-to-Texas rates are lower than the St. Louis-to-Texas rates.

The railroads, he said, are unable to make rates to meet these conditions. He believed it was imperative to have boat lines from St. Louis to Galveston to compete with New York and other Eastern markets. If the Mississippi Valley is to derive any benefit from the completion of the Panama Canal the channel of the river must be deepened to carry ocean-going vessels from the Lakes to the Gulf. Mr. Carleton asserted that the center of manufacturing is moving rapidly toward St. Louis, and that with the great development of the country, and the rapid increase of population, it is high time for the Government to begin the work of making the Mississippi River do its proper share in carrying the commerce of the country.

Other Sections Developed.

"That St. Louis needs a superior boat service must be apparent to anyone who has given consideration to the subject," said Mr. Carleton. "We are practically the center of the producing and distributing district of this country.

"For years the great Northwest has been developed by the interests north of us, supplemented by the modern facilities of the Great Lakes, until that section is now developed to the extent that the overflow is seeking investments and homes in Canadian territory.

"For many years following the war the territory to the south and southwest of us was comparatively dormant. This condition, however, is rapidly changing, and that territory, which is naturally tributary to this city, is developing more rapidly than any section of the country and with much more diversified production and stimulating influences.

"Notwithstanding the fact that this territory is thus tributary to St. Louis, we cannot hope to reap the benefits to which we are justly entitled by financial affiliation, and by proximity unless we have transportation facilities in every respect equal to those of competitive cities."

FORD-STEWART LETTERS TELL OF WARRINER

HINTS OF AN EXPOSE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 30.—The inner lives of those named in the now noted Warriner Big Four defalcation, wherein $643,000 is known to have disappeared, are being bared day by day by the budget of letters procured by County Prosecutor Hunt from Chicago and as they are explored, continue to reveal the close connection between Mrs. Jeanette letters are from Mrs. Ford to E. S. Cooke.

In one dated in November, 1902, there is reference to her having met someone whom she designates as "C," just before seeing Warriner, and in one written a year later she speaks of a conference with "W" and "C" in Cincinnati. She also names "Ida" several times as having been "at the flat."

Mentions Exposure Threat.

The letter of 1902 reads, in part:

My Own Dear Pop—Your sweet letter just reached me. Now, sweetheart, for heaven's sake trust me. You suppose wrong when you think I didn't return. I haven't seen anything of Mr. C. and I don't know if I shall see him. I really think you are awfully unkind. I intend to keep my promise. I met "W" today at the Grand Hotel, but not satisfied with the interview I had with him. He tells me he won't do more than what he has already agreed to do.

Gave me to understand that he didn't care if I did expose the whole affair. Of course, I know he is bluffing.

I am sure I don't care if the whole thing comes out.

He can't work no bluff game on me.

Sweetheart do cheer up. I will see him again soon, possibly tomorrow and let you know what I've done. Sweetheart do cheer up. Your letter has given me the blues. I am awfully lonesome. Now write me soon and trust me. Good-by, dear old pop. lots of love and kisses. Please try to be true to your little girl. Ever your little girl,

JEANNETTE.

Much of the letters are unfit for print. This letter was written from Cincinnati, as was the one of a year later. In this late one, among other things not bearing on the subject, she speaks of having met some girl and then adds: "I was with Wariner and then I met "C." Thought it more important than being with the girl. Ida Brockman was in with some views of your flat. Ida and Betty were here today.

Talks of Money From Warriner.

In part the letter reads:

My Own Dear Pop: My eyes won't let me do close work. I have suffered much with then. I can't tell you how lonesome i have been and how I do miss you. God knows I never want to pass through another week like this.

Have suffered so with my eyes. The doctor forbids use until I get glasses. I was to get them today, but did not have the money to pay for them, so will have to wait until I get some from Warriner.

Another letter says:

I can make the Fords pay for the support of Alfred until I get my divorce, but I hate living in this town. What shall I do?

There are frequent references to her pending divorce proceedings.

When Mrs. Jeanette Ford was questioned by a reporter Tuesday relative to the letters and telegrams alleged to have been sent by her to Mrs. Edgar Cooke of Chicago, made public by the County Prosecutor, she declined to affirm or deny their authority.

"I really must decline to answer," she said. "The matter is in the hands of my attorneys, and I can't make any statement one way or the other."

Sensations Are Promised.

William Thorndyke, attorney for Mrs. Ford-Stewart, when seen in reference to the fact that County Prosecutor Hunt was laying bare the secrets of his client by giving out her private letters to Cooke and Warriner in the Big Four shortage case, said:

"It will be my inning before long and then my client will begin to tell things which, as sensations, will put the revelations of her enemies in the background. I notice the prosecutor is giving out letters said to have been written by Mrs. Ford Stewart. Instead of giving out these letters, why don't he have Cooke arrested? He knows all about Cooke. Why does not he have certain others arrested also? It looks rather odd that the prosecutor and the Big Four Railroad are seeking to center public attention on the $100,000 said to have been absorbed as blackmail and that the other $550,000 stolen has been allowed to drop out of sight."

The legitimate PAID circulation of the Post-Dispatch in St. Louis and its suburbs is greater than that of ALL other English Dailies COMBINED.

HELLO WIFE DOES NOT WANT TO BE DISCONNECTED

Mrs. Holton Gets "Busy" When Judge Intimates He Will "Cut Her Off."

DOESN'T WANT DIVORCE

He Appealed to Court Because She Telephoned Him Every Few Minutes.

For the first time in the history of divorce, lawyers believe, the telephone has now been named as a species of co-respondent. George L. Holton, suing his wife for divorce in Judge Williams' court, alleges that her devotion to the telephone broke up his home, embittered his life, endangered his job and compelled him in despair to ask an injunction from the courts restraining her from pestering him by wire.

The telephone has recently become the bane of the lives of retail druggists in St. Louis, who say that they can no longer endure the tootsie-wootsie talk which sickens their ears from morning to night. They have demanded that free telephones be removed, and that even slot telephones be barricaded within booths so as to wall up the lovey-dovey conversation.

They also want automatic cut-offs, so that "Mamie cannot pour her tender nothings into Willie's ear" longer than five minutes.

Accessable to All.

Many have denounced the instrument because it places them at the mercy of any person who chooses to call them up, and becomes an easy accomplice of individuals who could get a hearing by no other means. Still others have regretted the demoralization of good manners caused by the telephone, over which rudenesses are perpetrated which the speakers would not dream of committing face to face.

But the suit against Mrs. Jane Holton of Webster Groves reveals the invention of Prof. Bell in a far more ominous role—that of a destroyer of marital happiness. Holton says his wife telephoned him every few minutes at his office in Boston until his employers promised to discharge him if the nuisance did not cease, and that he was forced to ask the courts for assistance by begging that she be enjoined from telephoning him.

A woman with whom the Holtons boarded in Arlington, Mass., sent a deposition alleging that Mrs. Holton telephoned her house so indefatigably that she formed the habit of hanging up the receiver whenever she detected the treble "Hello" at the other end of the wire.

Holton's sister declared that in the intervals of telephoning the plaintiff's boarding house and office, Mrs. Holton found time to telephone to his mother's house with a frequency that became irritating.

Only Means of Communication.

Mrs. Holton, in defense, praised the telephone as a boon, providing the sole means of communicating with a husband who had refused to meet her. She said she was denied admittance whenever she went to his office or where he was living. She said the purpose of her endless use of the telephone was not to annoy her husband, but to endeavor to effect a reconciliation for the sake of their two children.

Mrs. Holton has not filed a counter suit, but asks that her husband's suit be denied. Once, when she understood that Judge Williams took her view of the virtues of the telephone instead of her husband's opinion of its sins, and intimated that he would grant her a divorce, she stood up and exclaimed: "Your Honor, I don't want a divorce."

Holton alleged that his wife deserted him, but Judge Williams, in taking the testimony under advisement, said that the evidence indicated Holton had deserted her.

Came From Boston.

Holton came to St. Louis from Boston, in October, 1907, and a year later filed suit for divorce. Mrs. Holton came with her children, James, 9 years old, and Phyllis, 8, last February, and has been living with them at the Oaks Hotel, Webster Groves.

By a stipulation filed in court, Holton has been paying his wife $35 a week alimony pending the disposition of the divorce proceedings. He lives at the Marquette Hotel and is connected with a desk concern.

MEN KILLED AS TRAIN FALLS

Cars Roll Down Embankment of Chicago Tracks.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Several persons are reported to have been killed in a wreck today on the Pennsylvania Railroad at West Twenty-first and Rockwell streets.

Two freight cars are said to have rolled down an embankment, burying several workers.

Pickpockets Get $230 on Car.

Walter A. Boettger of 3450 Magnolia avenue was robbed of $230 on a Bellefontaine car Sunday night. Two men jostled him as the car was on the fourteenth street viaduct. He discovered his loss when he reached home.

HUSBAND SUING, WIFE HE ACCUSES OF ANNOYING HIM BY TELEPHONE

CHILDREN TAKE IMAGINARY TRIP TO THE CLOUDS

Balloon Ascension Is Reproduced by Capt. John Berry, Veteran Aeronaut.

Capt. John Berry, veteran aeronaut, is going to teach the young idea of St. Louis how to fly. The initial lesson or what he hopes will develop into a departure in education was given at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday, before 100 of the largest pupils, boys and girls, of the Jefferson Public School, Ninth and Wash streets.

The opening of the lecture disclosed the captain perched in his balloon basket on the rostrum, "weighing off" an imaginary gas bag. Sand bags (filled with excelsior) clustered about the sides of the basket, an anchor rope hung coiled over a gunwale, life preservers were fastened in the rigging, and aeroscopes, aneroids and barometers glistened among the cordage.

Shouts to Invisible Crew.

"Hands off!" shouted Capt. Berry to an invisible crew of helpers, as he sprinkled a few ounces of excelsior from a sand shovel. Then dramatically: "Grab 'er, boys! She's still too heavy."

To the wide eyes of the children saving hands seemed to seize the basket as it scraped dangerously along the ground or floated towards a fence, and pull the intrepid voyager to safety.

"Jerk loose the appendix and let 'er go!" finally cried Capt. Berry, and appeared visibly, in the imaginative sight of his child-audience, to soar up and up into the clouds.

There were many gasps and thrills as he clambered into the rigging and cut loose the anchor rope, which the children believed they saw unraveling its coils down and down until it straightened with a shock, 150 feet below.

Capt. Berry then realistically consulted his barometer and aneroid, and announced the altitude as 8000 feet. He heated a fireless lime stove by pouring water into it, and pretended to be cooking a dinner of soup and canned beans. Then he announced that night was falling. He rigged up a canvas hammock and covered it with blankets, and lighted an electric torch. At a signal the auditorium was darkened.

From time to time he leaned over the gunwale and emitted a raucous, singsong cry of "Hey-oh there! Where are we?" followed by a far-carrying "Thank you," after letting an interval pass in which the information could mount up to him.

Descent to Earth Begins.

When Capt. Berry thought it was about time for daylight and for him to descend, on his make-believe flight, he extinguished the torch and pulled at a cord to let some gas escape. Again he chanted down into the depths: "Hey-oh, there! Catch the rope."

He then gave a realistic imitation of a descent, which is the most dangerous part of a balloon flight, and flung his weight upon the red rip cord just before seeming to strike the earth. As he stepped from the basket, the pupils clapped their hands and cheered.

Afterwards, Capt. Berry showed them stereopticon views of flights by himself and Miss Julia Hoerner, many of the photographs for which were taken in the clouds. When the lecture was over, he invited the boys and girls to examine his basket and its equipment and handle his instruments.

WITNESSES ARE FINED IN TRIAL OF H. C. PIERCE

Two Fail to Appear; Magnate Is Arraigned in Texas Court.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 30.—The trial of Henry Clay Pierce, charged with false swearing, got under way this morning in the District Court. Seventy talesmen responded to the summons and the selection of the jury was begun. It is not known how long this will take, but possibly it will consume several days.

C. W. Cahoun and Louis Fries, two witnesses for the State, were each fined $100 this morning at the request of the State for failing to be in court as instructed. Another witness, D. H. Hardy, was also absent but the State did not ask an attachment for him.

Pierce's chief counsel is Judge H. S. Priest. Other lawyers in his party are J. H. Roberts, R. L. Batts, T. W. Gregory and G. W. Allen of Austin; E. B. Perkins of Dallas, Sam Canty of Fort Worth and Howard Templeton of Sulphur Springs, Tex. The State's attorneys in the case are: James R. Hamilton, District Prosecutor; J. P. Lightfoot, Assistant Attorney-General; J. W. Brady, County Attorney; J. F. McCord, C. H. Jenkins and W. P. McLean.

Pierce and his attorneys had a conference in the former's private car early in the morning. When the case was called yesterday in the District Court by Judge George Calhoun, Pierce occupied the prisoner's seat at the bar and was closely surrounded by his attorneys. He did not seem at all perturbed by the situation. He smiled and joked with Judge Priest and other acquaintances in the courtroom.

Wants Pierce's Testimony.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 30.—Attorney-General Davidson of Texas wants the testimony of H. Clay Pierce, given in the Standard Oil case in this State, for use in prosecuting him for perjury in Texas. He has asked Attorney-General Major to send him the printed record and a copy of the report of Commissioner Anthony in the Standard Oil case. This would be impracticable unless certified copy was made, which would be very expensive and would delay the trial.

POLICE HEAR OF PLOT TO KIDNAP J. D. ROCKEFELLER

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 30.—The police were notified today that a man who refused to give his name had reported a plot to kidnap or kill John D. Rockefeller.

Though little credence was given the report, the police immediately took precautions to give the oil man the closest guard.

Mr. and Mrs. Rockefeller expect to leave this week for their home in New York.

FIRST MAN PUT ON TRIAL FOR SUGAR FRAUD

Case of Former Superintendent Starts Despite Efforts for Adjournment.

TRUST IS ACCUSED

Prosecutor Tells of the Tricked Scales by Which Government Was Swindled.

THEFTS OF $30,000,000

New York Business Man Declares That Robbery Has Gone on for 15 Years.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The trial of James F. Bendernagel, former manager of the American Sugar Refining Co.'s plant at Williamsburg, was resumed today. All motions made in the attempt to delay the trial were set aside and the last seat in the jury box was filled.

The ex-official and five of his former assistants are charged with having perpetrated fraud in weighing sugar to determine the duty due the Government.

"We expect to prove beyond a doubt," declared Attorney Wilfred T. Denison, in his opening statement, "that since the very date of the imposition of duty on sugar the Havemeyer & Elder refinery, later owned by the American Sugar Refining Co., have defrauded the United States Government of a portion of the duty charged."

Had Trick Scales.

Mr. Denison told the jury the now familiar story of the trick scales and a hole and a wire in each, by means of which the weighers are alleged to have manipulated the scale beam to make the sugar weight less.

"The special office of Mr. Bendernagel was to provide the sinews of war," said Mr. Denison, who added that the Government expected to prove that Oliver Spitzer, Bendernagel's right-hand man, the dock superintendent and Bendernagel himself, "saw to it that any Government weighers who were astute enough to discover anything wrong were removed."

Clerk First Witness.

Taking of evidence was begun with the examination of Thomas B. McLaughlin, chief entry clerk of the Custom House, who produced the entry papers of the steamship Eva, which in 1907 brought the cargo of sugar about which the testimony of the Government is expected to center in its attempt to fasten specific frauds upon the defendants.

SENATOR BORAH ASSURED THAT THERE WILL BE INQUIRY

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—"For 13 years the Sugar Trust has been robbing the Government in the gigantic manner recently disclosed in New York by Collector Loeb. The $3,000,000 paid the Government by the Sugar Trust as the amount stolen is less than one-tenth of what the thefts amounted to for the 13 years."

This is the information sent to United States Senator Borah of Idaho, who has prepared a resolution to present to Congress calling for an investigation of the Sugar Trust. The information is sent by a prominent business man of New York, who for 30 years has been close to the Sugar Trust and its dealings.

This man announced in his letter that he was willing to appear as a witness if a congressional investigation were started, and would bring for the inspection of the committee proofs of all that he asserts.

Investigation Is Assured.

Senator Borah received this information last night and has asked the writer's permission to make it public. It will be used by the Senator in the investigation he is now assured Congress will make. Mr. Borah has been told that he can count on two-thirds of the Senate supporting his resolution.

In the letter the writer gives an account of the methods used by the Trust to perfect its "system." He said the heads of the Sugar Trust were the guilty ones, and not the employes. He added that every theft was done with a full sanction of the heads, even the closing down of the Philadelphia Sugar Refining Co., and that the Trust was not only guilty of fraud by theft, but grossly guilty of violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

According to Senator Borah's informant the "corset steel spring" used on the scales at the Brooklyn dock was one of a number of contrivances the Trust used to defraud the Government. He also said that it will be shown, if the investigation is thorough, that the reason the Trust dropped many of its other methods of defrauding for the "corset steel spring" scheme, was because the latter was less complicated and less expensive.

Senator Borah said that his resolution will call for an inquiry into every phase of the American Sugar Refining Co.'s business from the date of its incorporation to date. Nearly every member of the Senate will lend a helping hand to put the resolution through and it

MEN OFFICIALS HAVE MADE MISS ERDER A SUFFRAGETTE

Mrs. Doxey's Nemesis Disappointed at What She Thinks Is an Injustice.

HAS FOUND OBSTACLES

Investigation Into Her Brother's Marriage and Death Opened Her Eyes.

MISS KATE ERDER has turned suffragette. Balked at almost every turn by men in office, who, she says, refuse to aid her in clearing up the mystery of her brother's marriage and sudden death, she declares that she is now for the first time convinced that justice could be better served if women were given an opportunity to take a part in making, enforcing and administering the laws of the land.

Herself a fine type of the woman who succeeds in competition with men, she is astounded that the great State of Missouri should permit the consideration of expense to enter into its refusal to listen to her plea that a bigamy warrant be issued for Mrs. Dora Doxey.

She is willing, she says, to spend her own savings, a part of the money she has earned by doing a man's work in the world, to bring Mrs. Doxey from Columbus, Neb., to St. Louis to stand trial on a charge which she feels confident of being able to prove.

Throwing Bricks Not the Best Way to Get Vote.

"I DO not believe that women can gain anything by marching through the streets, by carrying banners or by throwing bricks through windows," she said, after her second futile visit to Prosecuting Attorney Shackelford of St. Louis County.

"Women have a better way to show that they are fitted for the ballot and for office. This way is to qualify themselves for positions of trust in which they can prove that their ability is equal to that of men.

"I had never thought of being a suffragette until I took up this investigation and until after I tracked Dora Doxey, my brother's reputed widow, to Columbus, Neb., and had found her there, the wife of Dr. Loren B. Doxey.

"Though I felt that this was a great deal for a woman to do, the thought never entered my mind that my achievement was an argument for suffrage. The reason for this was that I felt that after what I had done the men who are permitted by law to monopolize all of the offices would aid me in continuing the investigation.

"That is where I was mistaken and my experience has opened my eyes.

Discouraged by Visits to Various Men Officials.

"I WENT to the Chief of Detectives of St. Louis—a man—and he told me that the burden of proof rested on my shoulders. I went to the Chief of Police—a man. He told me the same thing.

"I saw the Circuit Attorney—a man—and he said that he could not act in my behalf. I have visited the Prosecuting Attorney of St. Louis County—a man—and he hesitates and says that the State of Missouri cannot afford to pay the $150 or $200 necessary to vindicate its own good name.

"And now I am a suffragette.

"A woman Chief of Detectives, a woman Chief of Police, a woman Circuit Attorney or a woman prosecutor would not have refused the help for which I pleaded. Women in office would not permit technicalities to stand in the way of justice. They would not insist that sufficient evidence to make a conviction certain should be laid before them by an applicant for a warrant. They would not sit as judges in their own offices to prevent a case from being taken into court where it should properly be tried.

Has Charge of Finances of Large Business Concern.

MISS Erder herself is a woman of the type that many thinkers have selected as the one which ultimately will prove to the world that the ballot should not be for men alone. She has won recognition in the business world through her demonstration that the accident of sex does not determine efficiency.

The financial details of a large St. Louis commercial organization are in her hands. She is a trusted employe to whose discretion are left many executive details often delegated only to men.

Miss Erder will be 30 years old Jan. 4 next. She attended a public school until she was 12 years old. Her help was needed at home and for five years she was engrossed by domestic affairs and the study of music.

She became proficient as a piano and violin player, but she says now that even at that time she was looking forward to a business career. When the opportunity came for her to go out into the world and earn her living in competition with men she put her music and her other accomplishments aside and devoted herself to her life work.

Began Successful Career When She Was 18 Years Old.

AT 18 she became cashier of the Westminster Laundry, a position which she held for nearly seven years. For five years she has been cashier of the American Glue Co.

Though ambitious to make her mark in the business world she does not shirk domestic duties. She arises early enough to cook breakfast. From 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. she is plunged in financial affairs at her office. In the evening she marries home, dons an apron, helps her mother cook supper and tidy the house.

Being a suffragette need not prevent a woman looking after her home. That must always be her first duty," said Miss Erder. "But there are many other things she must learn to do without. I gave up my music because I could not attend to that and to business at the same time.

"I like novels and short stories that have to do with business life, and I am fond of plays whose plots turn on commercial or financial activities. I have no time for other books or plays. In painting and sculpture my tastes run the same way. I think that the great work which is being done in the world today is better worth depicting than the things which were done ages ago."

WATCH THE SIZE OF A SILVER QUARTER AND THIN AS A WAFER

In superb and costly surroundings in the Christmas display of jewelry by Hess & Culbertson, Seventh and St. Charles streets, is a tiny art nouveau watch about the size of a silver quarter. It is suspended from a handsome platinum chain caught together with a diamond-studded pendant. On the side opposite the dial is a pretty scroll design set with 30 small diamonds. The timepiece is about the thickness of a wafer and is priced at $500.

This is only one of the many artistic offerings shown at the holiday opening of this store, which is rapidly forging to the front as a jewelry center. In the beautiful display can be seen handsome pieces of cut glass which are declared to be among the finest products of the world's expert cutters shown in St. Louis since the World's Fair.

In the diamond display are many precious stones. Some of the finest deep-sea pearls ever shown here sparkle from the cases. Handsome diamond medallions, festooned necklaces, brilliant dog collars, pretty bracelets, and rings of all makes and sizes glitter under the plate-glass case covers.

The most modern departure of Hess & Culbertson is the establishment of a rest room for women on the second floor, fitted with toilet accessories, magazines and reclining couches, insuring the comfort of tired shoppers.

COOK RECORDS EXPECTED DEC. 6

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 30.—Rector Torp of the University of Copenhagen today extended an invitation to Dr. Maurice F. Egan, United States Minister to Denmark, to be present when the north polar records of Dr. Cook were received, and also during subsequent examination. The Cook records are expected on the steamer United States due here about Dec. 6.

"AD" MEN OPPOSE DISHABILLE IN SHOW WINDOWS

W. B. Deems Declares Some Lay Figures in Department Stores Are Vulgar.

Department store advertisements should clothe their figures more warmly, according to several speakers at the regular Tuesday luncheon of the St. Louis Advertising Men's League, at Lippe's Cafe.

"Some of these 'ads,'" said W. B. Deems, who is connected with an advertising company, "are vulgar. They display women and men in union suits and in nearly all the degrees of dishabille."

Other speakers criticized what they called the false civic patriotism of advertising wares on the sole merit that they were "made-in-St. Louis."

I. H. Sawyer, president of the League, was of the opinion that such advertisement is not good for the name of St. Louis unless the articles for sale are of superior merit in themselves.

The pros and cons of color advertisement in the daily papers was debated. Harry Meyers, Deems and other speakers held that this device accomplished the first necessity of a good ad—to attract attention. W. N. Aubuchon opposed advertising in colors, declaring that the engravers invariably make a cloak blue which is described as red in the advertisement.

Deems, in support of advertisements in color, pointed to his glaring red necktie, which he said had aided in focusing the attention of the diners upon what he had to say.

Japanese Sail Home; Wire Taft.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—After a tour of three months, covering nearly every State in the Union, the Japanese Honorary Commercial Commission sailed today for Japan. Before sailing, Baron Shibusawa, head of the commission, sent a telegram to President Taft thanking him for the courtesies extended to the commissioners while in this country.

Will It Scratch or Wear?
That's what you should know before using any Silver Polish. Many of them do and no wonder. They contain whiting, chalk and acids that were never intended for such a purpose.

First Man Put on Trial for Frauds in Sugar Trust Imports

make the investigation far-reaching. As one member stated today:

"The rottenness of the Sugar Trust has aroused the people so as to menace the life and existence of other corporations—corporations which do a legitimate business and have kept within the meaning the law."

It was said in authentic circles that President Taft's annual message will recommend the co-operation of Congress in the Sugar Trust case. This was pointed out by a Senator as a precedent, as heretofore the President in a way has resented any interference from Congress in the enforcement of the laws.

Lashing for Roosevelt.

It also developed at the Senate Office Building that Theodore Roosevelt and former Attorney-General Bonaparte will receive no mild lashing by the members of the Senate if the investigation of the Sugar Trust is made by a senatorial committee.

It is openly charged that the former Attorney-General did not prosecute the Sugar Trust when George H. Earle Jr. of Philadelphia, receiver of the Philadelphia Real Estate Trust Co., reported that the American Sugar Refining Co. was the cause of that failure, and violated the Sherman anti-trust law.

Mi-o-na Makes the Stomach Strong

Relieves Distress in a Few Minutes—Guaranteed to Cure Indigestion, or Money Back.

Let Mrs. Griffith tell you about Mi-o-na, the greatest prescription for stomach troubles ever written:

"It gives me very much pleasure to recommend your Mi-o-na tablets, because they certainly have done me so much good. In fact, I would not be without them now. For years I have been subject to acute gastritis, and have doctored for years, but only received slight benefit, and had to be careful what I ate. But, thanks to Mi-o-na stomach tablets, I can eat anything at any time now. Last Christmas, after partaking of a hearty turkey dinner, I was seized with an attack of acute indigestion, and the doctor worked over me for hours before I got relief. He paid me eight visits before I could say I was well enough to sit up. But since then I have taken Mi-o-na tablets, which were recommended very highly by a friend, and I have not been troubled since. Before using Mi-o-na I had attacks about every month. I cannot say too much in their praise."—Mrs. Ida Griffith, 1213 C. St., Washington, D. C., July 6, 1909.

House of Lords had no right in any sense to the disposition of the public purse. He contended that if there is one thing that cannot wisely be submitted to a popular vote, it is the budget with all its complexities. Besides, a popular vote would weaken what is most important to maintain, a sense of responsibility in the House of Commons.

Does Not Fear Socialism.

As to the Lords' contention that their act would arrest the wave of socialism, Lord Morley refused to believe that British artisans are predatory or socialistic. But, even granting that the misery existing among some classes has produced a movement akin to socialism, it was hardly wise of the Lords to take up a position exposing them to the charge of straining the constitution as champions of the rich against the poor.

"The more triumphant the majority for Lord Lansdowne's amendment?" said Lord Morley, "the huger the disparity between the numbers of the Government and the numbers of the opposition, the more flagrant will be the political scandal."

Whn Lord Morley finished his speech the small minority of Liberal peers broke into enthusiastic cheers.

Lord Rothschild, an indifferent speaker, who was painfully nervous, defended Lord Lansdowne's amendment on the ground that it will give the country a chance to pronounce on the "revolutionary finance of Lloyd-George," Chancellor of the Exchequer.

So interested were the peeresses in the debate that for three hours before the doors of the House proper opened they stood in line in the corridors leading to their special galleries. Then there was room in the galleries for only half of them. The others waited patiently throughout the evening on the chance of gaining admission.

One of the most beautiful women in the peeress' galleries was Lady Vivian, who was divorced three years ago. She attracted universal attention. Some of the peeresses who could not get in sent a message to "Black Rod," the official who controls admissions to the House. These noblewomen protested that Lady Vivian, who legally has forfeited her rank, exercising the privilege of a peeress

MEN'S LEAGUES FORMED TO AID WOMAN SUFFRAGE

JOHN MITCHELL IN IT

Plan Is to Spread Organization Into Every County Regardless of Parties.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The banner of "Votes for Women" is no longer to wave over an army exclusively feminine. Man has volunteered for the fray, and yesterday afternoon at the City Club, under the name of the "Men's League for Woman Suffrage," the first battalion of recruits from the voting half took the field to fight for equal suffrage.

George Foster Peabody is president of the new suffrage body, which numbers 150 members to start with and which expects to spread through each of the 61 counties of the State. Herbert Parsons, Congressman William S. Bennett, who managed Otto T. Bannard's recent campaign for Mayor; William M. Ivins, who managed Mr. Hearst's recent fight for Mayor; William Jay Schiffiin of the Citizens' Union, and John Mitchell are among the vice-presidents. All of these men have consented to serve actively, and to give all the time they can spare to battling for women suffrage.

Is State Organization.

The league is a State organization. Mr. Peabody presided at the meeting and Max Eastman was elected secretary and treasurer. A constitution was adopted and a number of committees were appointed. The executive committee named by President Peabody is as follows: Oswald Garrison Villard, C. C. Burlingham, Charles H. Strong, president of the City Club; Prof. Vladimir G. Simsonvitch, Dr. Simon Flexner of the Rockefeller Institute, Prof. John Dewey and Max Eastman.

It was announced that the league will have headquarters for the present at 118 Waverly place, and that it will extend its organization as rapidly as possible throughout the State. Local organizations are to be formed in all the principal cities. The leaders are to take a leaf from the book of the politicians and adopt practical political methods in their work.

They are to hold a number of public meetings during the winter, will make house-to-house canvasses, and will make an onslaught upon the Legislature. Representatives will attend all the hearings before legislative committees.

The new men's organization is to work entirely in harmony with the women's suffrage movements and frequent conferences will be held between them.

HERSEY WANTS BALLOON MEET IN ST. LOUIS

Would Take No Chances on Any Other City for International Matches.

PRAISES CITY'S GAS

Also Declares That We Can Care for Crowds in an Ideal Way.

Maj. H. B. Hersey, member of the Aero Club of America and of the Aero Club of France, has advised officers of the former organization that "no chances should be taken" and that St. Louis should be selected for the international aeronautic meet of 1910.

Maj. Hersey was a participant in the meet in St. Louis in 1906, his balloon, "The United States," landing in Canada, 60 miles from St. Louis. He is an inspector in the Department of Agriculture and is now in St. Louis inspecting the local office of the Weather Bureau.

Three Things to Consider.

"The three principal points to be considered in the selection of a place for holding an aeronautic meet," Maj. Hersey said to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "are the distance a balloon can go before it reaches the ocean, the quality of gas obtainable, and the ability of the city to properly care for the crowds. In all three of these St. Louis cannot be improved upon.

"I was recently asked by officers and members of the Aero Club of America for my opinion as to the proper place to hold the meet, which comes to the United States next year through the winning of the James Gordon Bennett Cup in Switzerland this year by Edward M. Mix, an American. I wrote them that we should take no chances. We have tried St. Louis and we know that excellent gas for ballooning is furnished here. There is plenty of distance from St. Louis in all directions, and the crowd can be well cared for.

"In meets in which only Americans participate, I think it advisable to try other cities in the Middle West, either Kansas City or Omaha, but in an international affair, we can't afford to run any risks.

Two Reached the Coast.

"Three years ago two balloons which started from St. Louis reached the coast, but this would probably never happen again. It would be a serious mistake to hold the meet farther east than St. Louis, and other cities in the Middle West would be an experiment.

"I know very little about aviation, but so far as I know, there is no reason why St. Louis would not be as good a place as any other for an aviation meet. While the two are separate events, it is probable they will be held at the same place."

Maj. Hersey leaves St. Louis Tuesday for his home in Milwaukee.

"IRISH DOLL" DECLARES SHE IS O, SO BEAUTIFUL! WIDOWED AND WOULD WED

Writes Werremeyer Hoping That She Will Suit Lonely John Morgan, Who Seeks Mate.

Poetic Justice Werremeyer frowned an Olympic scowl Tuesday, such as might have darkened the brow of Apollo when Midas giggled at his fiddling. To quote the Justice's own words, "somebody was trying to put something over on him."

He had just received a letter written on Marquette Hotel stationery in a feminine hand, and marked "Personal, important and in haste."

On Monday he was besought to find a mate for John S. Morgan, 1019 North Sixth street, who pleaded that his disposition would make up for his confessed lack of personal beauty.

"O, I wonder if I would suit John!" was the gushful beginning of Tuesday's letter. "I am a young widow, just 21 years old. I look a few years older, but honest Injun, I am not. I am a dandy housekeeper, a good cook and am considered a very beautiful girl—(beautiful! that is the word). This compliment is due to my pretty eyes and black hair.

"I am willing to join any church and I have an amiable disposition—sometimes! I am tired of working and am a candidate for matrimony. I can furnish the best of references. Best wishes to you (for my own success) and I thank you in advance for your efforts, even though they be fruitless. Lonesome Marie Lonnergun, better known as 'Irish Doll.'"

"I suspect someone is having a joke at my expense," mused Werremeyer, after perusing this effusion. "I never did like Lonelies, anyhow. If engaged persons come to me to be married I will oblige them in prose and rhyme, but I am not running a matrimonial bureau.

BOOKBINDINGS TO BE EXHIBITED

Franklin Club Members Will Show Prized Possessions.

The Franklin Club, composed of bookbinders, will give an exhibition of bookbindings Friday afternoon at the Artists' Guild to members and invited guests. The public will be admitted to the exhibition Saturday.

Fred W. Lehmann, president of the club; W. K. Bixby and Judge Jacob Klein, vice-presidents; Percy Werner, secretary, and Ben Altheimer, treasurer, are among those who have furnished books for display.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

Wonderful purchase of boys' overcoats and suits

ATTENTION, mothers! Tomorrow we offer you a bargain in winter clothing which you will have reason to remember for many days to come.

1000 fine overcoats and 2000 fine suits, worth $7.50, at the remarkable low price $4.65

These suits and overcoats were secured from THE ECLIPSE CLOTHING CO., New York, who sold us their entire surplus stock at 60c on the dollar. They are here and they will speak for themselves. You will do well to take advantage of the opportunity this sale offers and save money.

THE SUITS are in the double-breasted styles, with two pairs full-cut Knickerbocker trousers, made of best-grade, all-wool cheviots and cassimeres; latest fall and winter patterns, in fancy mixtures; sizes 7 to 17 years; they are real $7.50 values; tomorrow, $4.65.

THE OVERCOATS are in the ever-popular "Protector" button-to-the-neck style, as well as the ¾-length style, in a great variety of the most popular shades and colorings, in fancy mixtures, latest novelty effects; they are made of best all-wool cheviots, are tailored and lined in the best possible manner; in fact, a coat you would consider good value at $7.50; our sale price tomorrow, $4.65.

A great sale of men's suits and overcoats

A COMBINATION of circumstances, in which the greatest factor was warm weather, is the main reason for such wonderfully low prices at the very height of the season.

Men's $15 and $17.50 suits and overcoats, $9.95

When we say "$15 and $17.50 grades," we mean that. But we are compelled by the unseasonable weather and our large stock to forego profits; hence this remarkable offer this early in the season. The suits are strictly all-wool materials, in worsteds, cheviots and cassimeres, newest up-to-date shades and patterns in fancy mixtures, also plain blue serges. The overcoats are in the Protector, button-to-the-neck style, also ¾ lengths, in fancy mixtures in latest novelty effects, also plain black kerseys; tomorrow, $15 and $17.50 suits and overcoats.... $9.95

Mens' $18 and $20 suits and overcoats, $12.00

You have the choice of hundreds of patterns in worsteds, cassimeres and fancy cheviots, in suits that are of latest styles and tailored faultlessly. The overcoats are modeled in the most popular "Protector style" snug-fitting collar, with turn-back lapels; novelty effects in fancy cheviots, also plain shades; they are perfectly tailored, and in every respect are real $18 and $20 values; suits and overcoats..... $12.00

Extra special! The latest thing out in hats—Vienna silk plush, the hat that was the Parisian success and created such a craze in New York and Chicago. BRAILEY LOOKED TO FOR SECRETS OF TEL-TEL TRUST

MAJOR BEGINS ACTION

Asks for Investigator and Will Take Testimony When Man Is Named.

The testimony of James Brailey Jr., to be taken at Cleveland Friday, is expected to reveal the secret methods by which Wall street brokers, acting on behalf of the American Telegraph and Telephone Co., obtained a majority of the stock of the United States, Cleveland, Indianapolis and Toledo concerns.

It is also believed by attorneys for the minority stockholders, who are fighting the telephone consolidation, that similar negotiations have been carried on for the purchase of independent telephone companies in Missouri by the Bell company.

An investigation of the alleged Missouri deal will be conducted by Attorney-General Major, who has applied to the Supreme Court for the appointment of a commissioner to take testimony to determine whether the anti-trust laws of the State are being violated.

Restraining Order Stands.

No motion has yet been made by these companies to set aside the restraining order granted by the Cleveland courts on petition of minority stockholders to prevent the transfer of the original stock certificates held in trust by the Cleveland Trust Co. and the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. of St. Louis.

Attorneys for Brailey appeared promptly after that suit was filed, but made no move to have the injunction quashed. The inference was that Brailey could not act because he is not the real owner of the stock.

While Brailey is acting for the new interests it is believed that he has already turned over the certificates purchased to other interests. These are believed to be Wall street banking and brokerage houses. Just the moment that they attempt to oppose the suit their identity would be revealed.

The independents have been waiting patiently for this move and as week after week goes by the impression grows that Wall street interests have sold themselves into a hole.

The independent telephone interests hope to have the Attorney-General of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania and New York take action. Efforts will also be made to induce the Federal Government to file an injunction suit against the companies to restrain them from violating the Sherman anti-trust laws.

The recent purchase of the Western Union Telegraph Co. by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., which is declared to be practically controlled by the Postal Telegraph Co. and the purchase of control of independent companies in Ohio and Indiana, have convinced the independents that they have got to make a desperate fight.

Attorney-General Major expects the appointment of an examiner within a few days, and as soon as possible he will begin taking testimony. If the facts developed by the inquiry show a violation of the anti-trust laws of the State an outer suit will be filed against the offending corporations.

In his application for the appointment of an examiner, Attorney-General Major alleges that the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., the Bell Telephone Co. of Missouri and the Missouri & Kansas Telephone Co. have entered into a trust to control the price of service and drive competition from the field. These companies are charged with having obtained and seeking to obtain ownership of competitive companies.

Trust Fight Approved.

At a meeting of a subcommittee of the National Independent Telephone Association in St. Louis the fight against the trust was approved. Those attending the meeting were J. B. Ware of Chicago, Theodore Gary of Macon, C. O. Baider of Kansas City and Max Koehler of St. Louis.

Attorney-General Major, as soon as the examiner is appointed, probably will arrange to go to New York to take the testimony of the Wall street financiers who are interested in the telephone and telegraph merger.

FINED $100 FOR PRIZE FIGHT

Harry Trendall Pleads Guilty to Boxing With George Memsic.

Harry Trendall pleaded guilty before Judge Wurdeman at Clayton Tuesday to having been one of the principals in the prize fight with George Memsic at Wellston, Sept. 23, under the protection of an injunction granted by Judge Wurdeman. Trendall was fined $100 and was given a week in which to pay.

Charges filed by Prosecuting Attorney Shackleford are pending against Memsic and Johnnie Schenk, John O'Meara and 11 other officers of the "Commercial Club" and promoters of the fight.

WOOD ALCOHOL PLANT BURNS

SALEM, Mo., Nov. 30.—The large wood alcohol plant of the Sligo Furnace Co., 18 miles from Salem, was destroyed by fire at 6 o'clock this morning. The loss is estimated at $250,000. There was no insurance.

The origin of the fire is unknown.

Hilts Shoe Co. Re-organization Sale

We must raise $100,000.00 by January 1st

MR. C. E. HILTS, Who Retires.

Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock we begin this sale which will positively mark a new epoch in value giving. There have been dissolution sales, reorganization sales, retiring sales before, but never have you been afforded a sale so stupendous, so sensational as this. Our entire $200,000 stock of the most seasonable merchandise will be unreservedly sacrificed owing to the absolute necessity of raising $100,000 by January 1st.

Mr. C. E. Hilts, for over thirty years President of this firm, will retire on the above date and to properly execute this deal Mr. J. F. Sensenbrenner (for over twenty years Secretary and Manager), his successor, must raise $100,000 within the next thirty days.

To grasp the full importance of this great announcement you must appreciate the fact that Hilts Shoe Company is the only shoe house in St. Louis or America that is now at the very height of the season, offering its complete stock of men's, women's and children's shoes and other staples at after-season sale prices.

We are not starting this sale through choice but because of the reorganization of the firm which makes it an imperative necessity of raising $100,000 in so few weeks and regardless of cost, no sacrifice that we must make is too great to attain this end.

We are under rather than over-estimating many statements and claims and these unquestionably low prices on merchandise (the value of which all men and women are familiar) should cause this store to be crowded to its capacity tomorrow; but that is not all, to raise such a tremendous amount, and we are determined and must by January 1st, this store must be crowded every day and if prices that are cut ¼, ⅓, ½ and even less than regular can cause this response, these prices will.

J. F. SENSENBRENNER,

The Man Who Must Raise $100,000 by January 1st

MR. E. P. HILTS, Who Retires.

For over thirty years has the Hilts Shoe House been noted for selling the highest quality shoes at cut prices (all marked in plain figures) that were unmatchable in this city; yet, during this remarkably opportune sale they are again reduced from ¼ to ¾, which fully explains the great magnitude of this sensational, stupendous, "profit-sacrificing" reorganization sale.

Sale starts promptly at 8 o'clock tomorrow (Wednesday) morning; no goods sent C. O. D. or on approval during this great sale; we advise very early shopping to avoid the tremendous crowds. Here are but a few of the hundreds of like offerings. Don't forget our location, 35 years at 6th and Franklin Av., one block north of Union Market.

Great Bargain Surprises are in store for you each day during the progress of this

Sale of Women's and Misses' High-Grade Apparel

THE elements combined to make this sale greatest are quality, variety and price. Every garment we offer is of a style and character we stand ready to indorse, and you are not requested to choose from a mere handful, because then this would not be a very great sale, as a few would be elated and the greatest number disappointed. We aim to provide for this occasion such vast quantities and great varieties that every want may be supplied, and have put the prices so low as to make it a bargain feature worthy of every woman's consideration. In short, this is an event planned on a most gigantic scale, supplying your every need in the line of women's apparel at prices you cannot resist. We dare say that of the thousands who visited the department on Monday not one woman was able to appreciate the vast scope of this sale. Thousands upon thousands of garments were hidden from view, as is necessary in such great turmoil, and you can be assured during the remaining days of this sale of better selection than you were able to see on Monday, and surely better service.

WHAT IS BETTER FOR MISSOURI THAN 'SHOW ME'?

Gov. Hadley's Request for Nickname Brings Varied Results.

FLOWERY OR KICKER?

Public Opinion Is Far From Unanimous on Momentous Question.

Missouri needs a nickname and it looks like she is going to have a hard time getting it. Men of many walks in life interviewed by Post-Dispatch reporters are far from agreeing on what would be the most euphonious soubriquet to take the place of "Show Me," which in the judgment of Gov. Hadley and Immigration Commissioner Curran, no longer correctly represents the attitude of the State.

No longer, it is urged, is Missouri in the position of requiring to be shown; but is in the show business herself and is showing 'em.

Nicknaming a State is not as easy as it might seem. Among those interviewed by the Post-Dispatch were many heavy thinkers, but most of them pleaded for time. After thinking a day, most of them were in no better position to nickname Missouri than they had been before. There is no telling, however, what they might do, if they would think about it for a week or so.

Meerschaum or Kicker?

One suggestion is that it be the Meerschaum State, with reference to the corncob. Senator Tom Kinney wants it called the Kicker State for reasons that seem sufficient to him. Another, very far removed from the state of mind of the maker of the Kicker suggestion, wants it called the Flowery Kingdom.

Such divergence as this suggests the need of the suggesters getting together and coming to a compromise.

A sentiment expressed by many is that a nickname cannot be made to order, but grows out of conditions or peculiarities. Even so, there has to be a definite suggestion at some stage of the growth, and Gov. Hadley and Immigration Commissioner Curran think that if the Missouri patriots settle down and do some real hard thinking they will be able to produce a nickname that will bring fame—and immigrants—to Missouri.

Any person who thinks he can think of a nickname is invited to try, and send the product of his thinking to the Post-Dispatch.

Some Ideas for Nickname.

Chief of Police Creecy: "Agricultural State;" because, from a climatic and geographical standpoint, no other state in the Union is as favorably situated as Missouri for the development of soil and its products.

Chief of Detectives Smith: "The Meerschaum State;" because of the large quantity of wooden and corncob pipes manufactured in this Commonwealth.

Circuit Attorney Jones: "The Flowery Kingdom;" because the greatest flower garden in the world is in Missouri—in St. Louis.

Adolph Nast, Clerk of the Criminal Courts: "The Pennant State;" because, some day, our ball teams might win a championship.

Frank Galennie: "The State of the Union;" because Missouri furnished as many men on one side as on the other in the Civil War and it is the coming center of the population of the country. It is the first state that restored citizenship to Confederate soldiers. It is the slate which has, in a high degree, American broadness of heart and bigness of mind.

W. F. Saunders: "Show Me," because it is a natural growth. Nobody can make a State nickname to order. It grows out of circumstances or peculiarities. "Show me" is all right. I do not see why there should be a wish to change it. It is well known and is a good advertisement for the State in the East.

F. W. Lehmann: A State nickname is like a State song. It cannot be made to order.

C. P. Walbridge: A State nickname cannot be manufactured. It has to grow.

Col. Abe Slupsky: If you ask me for a nickname, on the level I'll tell you: Missouri is the bunco state. You understand me? There's more graft in the higher class in this State than in any other in the union. Every good confidence man in the country lands here. Why? It's easy pickings. If any gentleman wants an explanation of what I say, I will give it to him free. This is the bunco state of the union.

Capt. Pat Carmody: What's the matter with calling it "Joe Bowers' State?" Everybody has heard how he came from old Missouri.

Senator Tom Kinney: Well, we raise the most mules and we don't want to forget the Democratic donkey. So why not call it the Kicker State?"

Ex-Gov. Lon V. Stephens: My suggestion is "The Homeseekers' Paradise?"

Jeptha D. Howe: Nickname? What does this State need a nickname for? "Missouri" sounds good enough for me.

But Why Do Men Grumble If a Woman's So Humble?

A Pennsylvania college professor—a man, at that—says that women do not obtain their rights because they are too humble.—News Item.

AYE, humbly doth she bow and say:
"John! Carry up some coal;"
How doth she cringe while lordly man
Usurps the kingly role.

WITH sweet effacement doth she seek
The price to buy a hat,
And meekly doth she beg her liege:
"Now, John, put out the cat."

HOW doth she shrink, retiring still,
While John must take a flyer
At cooking breakfast, scouring pots
And stirring up the fire.

Piles and Purgatory

Begin With The Same Letter And There Are Other Resemblances.

Suffer? Oh, no! "Suffer" don't express it, but there is the PYRAMID PILE CURE. It's a Cure that comes to stay and gives one a fresh grip on things.

IT PROMISES TO CURE

and keeps its word. Even to the last letter. It is made that way. This is why. And it is not expensive—within the easy reach of every one. Only 50 cents a box at your druggist, and a box goes a long way.

YOURS IS THE WORST

kind and of long standing? Already tried everything you ever heard of? Discouraged? Well, rather. But the PYRAMID PILE CURE was made for just such cases. Yours is not a bit worse than hundreds of other cases that the Pyramid Pile Cure has cured.

SKEPTICAL? NO FAITH?

No wonder. But listen. We are so sure that our remedy will cure you that we will send you a Free Treatment. This will begin to show you what enough of it will do and then you can go to your drug store and get as much as you need. It won't be more than a box or so.

DON'T PUT OFF

getting rid of this terrible trouble. Of itself it is hard enough to endure, but it leads to things worse. In truth it badly disarranges the entire lower bowel tract; creates ulcers, abscesses and a series of evils any one of which can easily prove fatal.

DON'T PUT OFF

sending for the free trial package. We send this to show how great our faith is in this cure. If we did not believe in it, we would not make this offer. Today is the best day you will ever have to send for it. Do your writing plainly, so there will be no mistake. Fill out coupon; it won't take a minute's time and mail it to us.

WITH HIS THROAT GASHED HE WANDERS ABOUT THE COUNTRY FOR FIVE DAYS

Edwardsville Man Remembers Little About His Terrible Experience —He Is Near Death.

An unprecedented case of stamina, physicians say, is that of Jesse Sutherland of Edwardsville, Ill., who has reached his home alive after wandering about the country for five days with his throat cut. It is feared that blood poisoning, caused by prolonged neglect of the wound, may cost him his life.

Sutherland was found Thanksgiving day lying on the McKinley tracks east of Edwardsville with his throat slit. He refused to say whether the injury had been inflicted by himself or an assailant. He was carried home, and disappeared during the night while his nurse was absent.

He says that the days he was absent were spent by him in a trance, save for occasional flashes of consciousness. He remembered arriving at Fruit, Ill., on a Clover Leaf train, and staggering 12 miles across the country to another town. At another time he remembers being in Sorento, and at still another in Litchfield. He has a dim recollection of taking a train at Kaufman and alighting at Coffeen.

He cannot say whether he ate at all or how he quenched his thirst during his dazed wanderings. No one attended or even seems to have noticed his wound during the five days.

WETS WIN, BUT ALABAMA MUST REMAIN DRY

Present Laws Are for Prohibition, but Legislature May Change Them Next Year.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 30.—The people of Alabama have declined by a majority of 20,000 to adopt prohibition in the Constitution of the State. The short ballots and the intense interest taken in the election brought early returns to the headquarters in Birmingham, and in less than two hours after the polls closed the result was known.

State Remains Dry.

Despite the big majority against the amendment, the State will remain dry under the prohibition statutes passed by the last legislature. The only result of the election yesterday is to keep the prohibition amendment out of the Constitution.

The present statutes were prepared carefully, and it is believed they will stand court tests. Elated by their victory, however, in putting the bills through, the drys decided to push their advantage and try for a constitutional provision against the sale of intoxicants in the State. They believed they would win.

The campaign was intense and the polls were crowded all day. The vote was one of the largest ever polled in the State. Owing to the short ballot, it was known early that the people had spoken with no uncertainty against the proposed amendment, and throughout the State, especially in the larger cities, there were celebrations and rejoicing.

Rebuke to Administration.

The result of the election is a pronounced rebuke to the present administration, which worked for the amendment, and to Judge S. D. Weakley, who drafted the prohibition bills passed by the last Legislature, and who is Gov. B. B. Comer's candidate for Governor.

The State election comes next year, and the Legislature will probably have to pass on new prohibition laws, most likely amending the present laws, if not returning to the open saloon proposition again.

The larger counties in Alabama, including Jefferson, in which the Governor resides, as well as Fred M. Jackson, the State chairman of the antiamendists, gave big majorities against the amendment.

The election in Alabama was one of the most eventful ever known. Women worked around the polls in the larger cities and in many of the country towns. The women, aided by children, prayed and sang hymns as the voters got in line and marched to the polls. Coffee and sandwiches were served to the watchers and workers around the polls.

To offset the effect of the work of the women and children small bands of music were on hand, and at intervals began playing "Home, Sweet Home," ragtime tunes and "Dixie."

St. Louis Brewers Accused.

It was charged during the campaign that brewery interests of St. Louis and elsewhere, besides the liquor interests of the distilling centers, had contributed largely to the fund to defeat the amendment. The best-known politicians in the State took the stump against the amendment and worked hard in the campaign for and against the amendment.

Practically every other voter was challenged and required to make affidavit that he was a qualified elector. This delayed the casting of ballots considerably, but in spite of these handicaps the vote was heavy.

The legitimate PAID circulation of the Post-Dispatch in St. Louis and its suburbs is greater than that of ALL other English Dailies COMBINED.

BABY IS BORN TO ETHEL BARRYMORE IN BELMONT HOME

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The stork stopped at 46 East Thirty-fourth street, the home of August Belmont, at 11 o'clock Sunday night, and left Master Russell Griswold Colt Jr. Master Colt's mother, Ethel Barrymore, who was married to Russell Griswold Colt on March 15 last, has made Jack Barrymore and Lionel Barrymore uncles and the veteran John Drew a granduncle.

Mr. and Mrs. Colt spent the autumn at Bellehaven, Conn., and only recently took the Belmont house for the winter. In expectation of the stork's visit, the starring tour of the actress in the new play, "Mid Channel," was postponed until February.

Congratulations are pouring in on the proud father and mother, and one of the happiest men in New York, so it was said along Broadway, is John Drew, who believes he is a granduncle in the snow [illegible]. "Uncle John" sent Master Colt a silver mug.

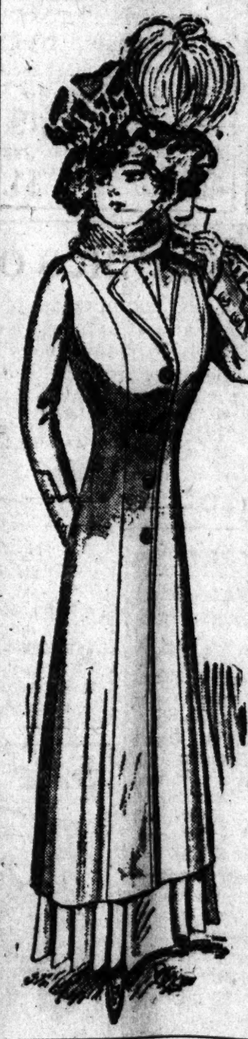
IT IS UNNECESSARY TO SAY ANYTHING of the MERITS OF OUR $19.95, $24.75 and $29.50 Suits—EVERY St. Louis woman KNOWS that they are FAR and AWAY superior in STYLE, TAILORING, FIT, etc., to Suits shown by OTHER stores at the same, or even HIGHER prices—but when we tell you that you will be given an opportunity to possess one of them

At Less Than Half the Price of the Cloth Alone



YOU will NATURALLY ask WHY we make such SENSATIONAL UNHEARD-OF Reductions?

The Story Is a Short One.

OUR POLICY HAS ALWAYS BEEN that as soon as any style suit becomes broken in sizes, or the COLOR assortment is depleted, we group them into ONE lot—MARK them at a price which we KNOW

Will Sell Them ALL in One Day Regardless of Cost or Value.

THAT IS WHAT WE ARE GOING TO DO TOMORROW, and while the quantities are larger than at any previous sale of this kind, the exceptionally HIGH CHARACTER of this lot, and the ridiculously low—almost GIVE-AWAY price—justifies us in DOUBT if they will last through the forenoon.

REMEMBER, YOU WILL NOT FIND EVERY SIZE IN EVERY STYLE, BUT THE STYLE AND SIZE RANGE IS SO GREAT YOU CANNOT FAIL TO FIND A SUIT TO YOUR LIKING AND SIZE—ESPECIALLY IF YOU COME EARLY.

THE CLOTHS—Serges, Worsteds, Broadcloths, Chevrons, Clay Worsteds, Homespuns, Novelty Weaves, Mannish Cloths, etc.

COLORS—All the staple colors, blues, browns, greens, tans and the new shades, raisin, prune, artichoke, stone, grays, etc.

STYLES—Coats 40 to 48 inches long, semi and form fitting, mostly plain tailored, some having slight touches of trimming; self-tailored buttons, etc. Skirts in the latest pleats.

PARIS BELIEVES ALEXIS KILLED M. STEINHEIL

ARTIST TELLS STORY

American Painter Asserts Gossip Has Never Been Published in French Capital.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Gossip in Paris, according to Alfred Partridge Klots, an American painter and a long-time resident of the French capital, has it that Grand Duke Alexis, uncle of the Czar, was the real slayer of M. Steinheil, whose widow, after a sensational trial, has just been acquitted of the murder. According to this widely accepted version of the crime, M. Steinheil surprised his wife in an intrigue with the Grand Duke and the latter, after a fight, killed him.

"The story is talked about all over Paris, though it has never been published," said the artist on his arrival yesterday on the Kroonland. "On the night of the murder it is said that someone was taken away from the Steinheil house in an automobile. This person is said to have been the Grand Duke, badly used up in the encounter with the husband."

The death of Mme. Japy, Mme. Steinheil's stepmother, is accounted for by the fact that she came upon the scene and was so frightened that she swallowed her false teeth and choked to death. The Grand Duke was removed from the house and his name was not mentioned in connection with the crime during the investigation and trial.

Mme. Steinheil, according to this new version of the tragedy, agreed to keep silent on the promise of a large sum of money. This money was not paid, and so, out of revenge, she had herself brought to trial in hopes of involving the Grand Duke in the scandal. Then, continues this Parisian tale, the Duke, knowing that the woman was to be brought to trial, committed suicide to avoid the discovery of the slayer, which he felt was bound to come.

Mme. Steinheil Dictates Memoirs.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Mme. Steinheil is still in this city at a private hotel near the Victoria station, the Evening News says. It adds that she drove in a taxicab to a picture shop in the Strand yesterday afternoon and bought post cards of King Edward and his family. She is described as moving about rapidly, as if to escape observation. This story is not generally believed. Mme. Steinheil is probably hiding in some secluded place, fulfilling her contract with a Paris newspaper by dictating her memoirs to one of its staff, who accompanied her for that purpose.

LAWYER QUITS MILLIONAIRE CLIENTS TO AID POOR WOMAN

Attorney Samuel Untermeyer Is Counsel for Defendant Accused of Murder.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Samuel Untermyer left his millionaire clients in the Wall street district yesterday and went to Part 3, Court of General Sessions, before Judge Malone, to defend Mrs. Augusta Cristanti, a poor woman, charged with the murder of her husband, and in danger, upon conviction, of death in the electric chair.

Untermyer had been assigned by Judge Malone to defend the woman because she was unable to employ counsel. The maximum fee which the law allows in a murder case is $500. Untermyer is one of a number of noted lawyers who agreed, as a matter of duty, to take such cases when called upon.

All day long lawyers and others went to Judge Malone's court to watch Untermyer, and the unanimous verdict was that his conduct of the defense was as clever a piece of work as was ever witnessed in a court of justice.

It was an ordinary crime—the shiftless husband, the wife supporting the family, a star boarder, jealous quarrels between husband and wife, the final one resulting in the woman stabbing the husband to death while their son struggled with his father for a revolver with which he was seeking to shoot the wife and mother—but the defense was far more brilliant than is the rule in such cases.

The appointment of Untermyer followed a protest against the neglect of poor defendants' interests by the lawyers usually assigned in such cases.

WOMEN TO DISPLAY THEIR FANCY WORK AT BAZAR

Many Useful Articles Will Be for Sale at Webster Groves Church Fair.

A display of fancy work made by members of the Holy Redeemer Catholic Church of Webster Groves will be one of the principal features of the bazar that opens Wednesday and continues for two days. Many useful articles have been made by the women to aid the church. There will be booths where many different articles will be on sale.

Dinner will be served both evenings in the restaurant. There will be a candy booth and a gypsy fortune teller. The first evening there will be music and dancing, and Thursday evening there will be a euchre, with handsome prizes.

The legitimate PAID circulation of the Post-Dispatch in St. Louis and its suburbs is greater than that of any other English Daily CORRECTION.

Stirring Sale of Beautiful Day and Evening Costumes at Incredible Prices

THE supreme value-giving event of 1909 is now creating a veritable buying furore on our wonderful "Floor of Fashion." We're only afraid the marvelously low prices will give you a wrong impression. Don't come expecting to find the ordinary "sale dresses"—every one of these 500 superb costumes is the very choicest of its class, immaculately new and in the height of present fashion. Every color you could wish and only one or two of a style. Convincing messages to women who are not restricted as to expense, as well as to those whose wardrobe allowance is limited. To both classes we present the opportunity to be irreproachably clad at approximately one-fourth the customary expenditure. A few emphatic examples are quoted, merely as suggestions of what you'll find at Barr's tomorrow.

"A MAN'S WORLD" TEACHES CLEANLY A GREAT LESSON

IT COSTS HAPPINESS

But She Makes the Man She Loves Pay the Penalty for Another Woman's Shame.

RACHEL CROTHERS, a playwright who is gaining steadily artistic strength, despite the fact that her first play, a success, was followed by a second that was more or less a failure, is a shrewd and legitimately resourceful person.

Realizing that American playgoers are justly wearied of the presence on their stage of "the woman with a past," yet that the moral problem which that woman sacrificially represents remains vital for preachment if the victim of the "double law of sex" is to be more effectively safeguarded against utter shipwreck of soul and body, Miss Crothers now voices the necessary argument through the medium of a good woman whose chosen mission in life is to avenge the wrongs of the woman made bad by man.

In her third play, "A Man's World," which was admirably presented to a big and representative audience at the Garrick last night by Mary Mannering and a thoroughly capable supporting company, this clever dramatist achieves a quite memorable triumph in the most difficult of all footlight tasks, that of instructing while entertaining her public, of pointing a moral, yet at the same time holding one's interest so tense that there is no resentment of the moral's emphasis.

Then, too, since it is the irrevocable law that the penalty for sin must be paid by the sinner, Miss Cpothers is not afraid to give her play an unhappy ending in obedience to this eternal canon.

She makes Malcolm Gaskell pay the penalty for a sin of his that had meant the shame of a girl who had loved him not wisely but too well. The girl herself has already paid her full share, and more, of this immutable penalty before the first curtain rises on the play in which she never appears. In shame and heartbreak the girl had died, leaving living a boy child, the fruit of a union which no church had ever blessed nor state made valid.

And because the brave and clean-souled Frank Ware, as the woman novelist-reformer played by Mary Mannering is known, was smitten to the soul with pity for this nameless waif of the bar-sinister, we have Miss Crothers' new play, convincingly built, in which the man who destroyed one woman's life is held to an inflexible reckoning by another woman.

For behold! At the cost of her own happiness, Frank Ware suddenly finds herself in possession of the weapon with which to enforce upon Malcolm Gaskell the sin-penalty of his incurring. Not knowing him as the father of the little shame-burdened boy whom she has adopted, she loves him.

This love of a good woman awakes in Malcolm Gaskell's own soul such a love as he had never felt before, a love which spells utter desolation and tragedy for him in the event of its hapless termination.

At which point the good woman whom he worships learns that he is the father of the illegitimate boy of her adoption, the boy whose mother had died in shame and heartbreak, leaving the man unpunished for his share of the sin that caused her shame and heartbreak and death.

An interesting situation truly—and one which the average playwright of the day would immediately assail with the determination to bring it to a happy final solution, even if life's verities had to be grabbed by the scruff of the neck and subjected to violence for namby-pambyism's sake. But not so with Rachel Crothers, for which reason I hail her as a dramatist of uncommon note in our country. Unafraid, she holds her people subject to the law, ignoring the popular clamor for the law's nullification in behalf of a milk-and-watery convention of the moment.

The last curtain of "A Man's World" falls as Malcolm Gaskell goes into the outer darkness at the bidding of the good woman who loves him and whom he loves, the time having arrived for his payment of the penalty of sin. There's a little gasp of astonishment on the part of the audience—we were all so smugly waiting for the accustomed happy ending—but O, the refreshing truthfulness of such a close to such a story!

For its strongest temptation to a happy ending lies in the fact that the good woman must here suffer with the bad man in the retributive climax of a tragedy that had cost another woman's life and soul. Yet, again is this play of Rachel Crothers splendidly sincere—for the supremest tragedy of sin is that it involves the innocent with the guilty in the stained life of the sinner whose sin brings down the curse.

Last night's Garrick audience was profoundly interested in this play. Miss Mannering so wholesomely realized the part of the sweet-souled and strong-natured Frank Ware that the keenest pity for that luckless but so resolute good woman tugged at one's heart strings. Charles Richman as Malcolm Gaskell was typically masculine throughout in his attitude toward the play's problem—even amusingly typical in his dismay at the story's close, because of being held to an accounting for the sin most commonly forgiven in man. The two characters stand out as incarnate sex types; indeed, in the tremendous dramatic contrast of sexual viewpoint. Because of this fidelity to life's truth, the story of which they were the central figures was made grippingly vital. The support, too, was good, capably maintaining the atmosphere of truthfulness created by the work of the two principals in the cast.

PLAYGOERS' GUIDE.

CENTURY—Robert Edeson in "The Noble Spaniard," a very light farce telling a story of the past generation in the style of the old-fashioned "comedy of manners." Capably played. Preceded by one-act tragedy, "The Outpost."

OLYMPIC — "McIntyre and Heath in Hayti," a laugh-compelling comedy along familiar Georgia Minstrel lines. Brightly staged, but book and lyrics weak.

GARRICK—Mary Mannering in "A Man's World." Strongly dramatic and well constructed play. Star has especially effective role. Good presentation.

AMERICAN—Ward and Vokes in "The Promoters." Hilarious musical farce cleverly presented by stars, with Lucy Daly and a competent company in support.

HAVLIN'S—"The Girl and the Detective." Thrilling Blaney melodrama, with bright comedy touches. Well played.

NEW COLUMBIA — Vaudeville bill headed by Mabel Hite and Mike Donlin in "The Double Play."

STANDARD—Town Talk Co. Burlesque and vaudeville.

BALTIMORE WOMAN SELLS THREE ST. LOUIS PROPERTIES

Mrs. J. A. C. Raphel Disposes of Houses and Lots Through James L. Barngrover.

A deal has been effected whereby Mrs. Julia A. Cherbonnier Raphel of Baltimore has disposed of four St. Louis houses to a client of Cornet & Zeibig for approximately $25,000.

The property is known as 3836 Windsor place, a two-story dwelling with a lot 30x147 feet; 4428 West Belle place, a two-story residence with lot 30x135 feet; 4476 West Belle place, a two-story residence with lot 25x135 feet, and 4478 West Belle place, a two and a half story residence with lot 25x135 feet.

Cornet & Zeibig were represented in the transaction by James L. Barngrover. The deal is important as emphasizing the market for property of this class, which heretofore has not been an active medium of investment.

BELLHOP GETS $50,000 ESTATE FOR PATIENCE

Woman Remembers Boy Who Waited on Her Faithfully Without Getting a Tip.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—That Dame Fortune has not ceased to bestow her gifts on those who deserve them is shown by the experience of Michael Dunphy, who until a few weeks ago was a bellboy at the Argonaut in this city. Last February Mrs. M. M. Potter of Salem, Mass., arrived at the Argonaut, and being ill and nervous was the bane of the "bellhops" of the hotel.

Soon after her arrival "Mike" Dunphy, a green lad, was hired, and his apparent greenness invited all of the difficult tasks of the bellboy's routine. Among other tasks that of waiting upon the querulous guest was shifted to "Mike."

He accepted the work gracefully and performed his duties in an exceptional manner, and when the guest left in the early part of June he was the recipient of many covert jibes from the rest of the boys on account of his willingness to oblige a non-tipping guest. He had his chance to laugh, however, when early in July he received a check for $100 from Mrs. Potter.

About two weeks ago, Assistant Manager George Dixon of the Argonaut received a letter from Brown and Carlysle, a firm of lawyers in Boston, saying that Mrs. Potter had died, leaving a bequest of $2500 for the faithful bellboy.

A check for that amount was inclosed, cashed by Dixon, and the money given to the lad, who immediately made arrangements for the purchase of a lot in the Richmond district and contracted for the construction of a home on it. With what he had left over he took his aged parents on a pleasure trip to Denver, where he now is.

His good luck did not end there. Yesterday Dixon received another letter from the law firm, stating that, on receiving his report of the lad's disposition of the $2500, they were ready to carry out a further provision of Mrs. Potter's will, to the effect that if the boy disposed of his check wisely he was to have a balance of $47,500, making the total amount $50,000.

The letter further declares that the lad may draw on the law firm for money up to that sum, and asks that an inclosed letter to that effect be forwarded to him.

Society

SOCIETY is much interested in the Bille Burke evening at the Olympic Theater Tuesday, Dec. 14, when she will present "Love Watches" for the benefit of the College Club. The boxes have been taken by Princeton, Yale, Michigan, Missouri, Washington, Amherst and Cornell colleges. Dr. J. Ross Hill of Missouri will be the guest of Dr. Hanan Loeb in the Missouri box. Chancellor Houston will be a guest in Washington's box. It is requested that all colleges represented will wear their colors and bring flags. Mr. Edward Golden will lead the singing of college songs. The sale of seats will open at Follman's Thursday morning.

Miss Ethel Shumate, who will be married Tuesday, Dec. 9, to Rolla S. Watson, has been guest of honor at several entertainments. Miss Orpha Kendrick gave a luncheon and bridge at her suburban home Thursday. Miss Julia Skinner of Webster Park gave a luncheon Friday. Mrs. A. K. Stewart entertained Miss Shumate at the Mercantile Club at luncheon Tuesday.

Wednesday Mrs. Richard A. Mills will give an evening party for the bride and bridegroom elect and their attendants. Mrs. Walter Dorsett will give an evening bridge party Thursday. Mrs. Theodore F. Meyer of Lindell boulevard will give a card party Saturday evening and in the afternoon Miss Anna Belle Loevy will give a luncheon. Mr. Watson and his bride will go for an Eastern honeymoon journey and upon their return will begin housekeeping in their own home, 3256 McPherson avenue.

THE usual Christmas sale under the auspices of the Episcopal school and alumnae of Bishop Robertson Hall will begin Wednesday in the school, 4244 Washington boulevard.

The Christmas bazar to be given by the West End Charity Circle Friday and Saturday at Grosvenor Gardens, 627 North King's highway, promises to be a pretty affair. All the articles for sale have been made by the members of the circle. The following will be in charge of the bazar: Mmes. A bazar will be given by the young women's auxiliary of St. John's M. E. Church South, King's highway and Washington boulevard, Monday, Dec. 6, at 3 p. m.

One of the home weddings of Tuesday evening will be that of Miss Ruth Dodd and Urban Charles Brewer of Larchmont, N. Y. The bride-elect is the niece of Samuel C. Dodd of 52 Vandeventer place, with whom she has made her home for several years. The wedding will take place at the Dodd home at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Samuel C. Niccolls of the Second Presbyterian Church will officiate. The bride-elect will enter with her uncle, who will give her in marriage. She will wear a bridal gown of white meteor satin and point lace. A chaplet of bridal blossoms will hold the long tulle veil in place. Miss Helen Dodd will be her sister's maid of honor. She will wear a girlish frock of white chiffon over pale pink meteor satin and will carry pink roses.

The bride's niece, Miss Eleanor Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Richards, will serve as flower girl. The bride's brother, Samuel Dodd of Philadelphia, will be best man. About 150 guests will witness the ceremony. There will be no reception. Mr. and Mrs. Brewer will go East after receiving the congratulations of their friends. They will make their home in Larchmont, N. Y.

St. Louis friends will be interested in the announcement of the engagement of Sidney Moore, son of Mrs. Sue V. Moore, formerly of St. Louis, but now of Denver, and Miss Frances Hart, daughter of Dr. Hart of Denver and a cousin of Augustus B. Hart of Portland place and B. L. Winchell. Mr. Moore is a graduate of Princeton and is Assistant Chief of the United States Forestry Department at Denver.

The wedding will take place in Denver, New Year's day, at St. Mark's Episcopal Church. David Metcalf of St. Louis will be Mr. Moore's best man. Some of the St. Louis friends who will attend the wedding are Mrs. Edward S. Leigh, Dr. and Mrs. Louis P. Butler, Will J. Thornton.

The Grand Avenue Presbyterian Church will be the scene of a large wedding Tuesday evening, when the marriage of Miss Lenita Collins and Charles Henry Morrill will take place. Dr. J. F. Cannon will perform the ceremony at 8 o'clock. A reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Ford Collins of West Pine boulevard. Miss Grace Morrill, Miss Mildred Stickney, Miss Marguerite Tower, Miss Louise Nugent will be bridesmaids. Miss Bessie Elliott will be maid of honor. Messrs. Fred Allen, Bert Filley, Eugene Pettus, Carl Langenberg will be groomsmen. Mr. Morrill will have Edward Mallinckrodt as best man.

Miss Olive Rae will give a tea Wednesday afternoon for Miss Ethel Chambers, a bride-elect of next week, and Miss Mildred Kupferle and her guests, Mrs. Leirbach of New York and Miss Bess Keedian of Pittsburg. The guests of honor will receive with the hostess. The guests are to be limited to the younger [illegible] assisting through the rooms and serving at the table will be: Mrs. Lily Schubert, Mrs. Otto Meyer, Mrs. George Bayle, Mrs. Frank Madison White, Misses Edna Peper, Edna Rocker of New York, Hazel Kramer, Edith Johnstone, June Niederlander, Katherine Tutt, Helen Day, Marguerite Lyon, Agness Ruhl, Lucille Ruhl. PRIEST FINDS BROTHER DEAD

Father Lavery Reaches McKeesport, Pa., Too Late.

The Rev. Father D. J. Lavery, pastor of the Holy Rosary Church, is expected to return this week from McKeesport, Pa., where the funeral of his brother, Patrick Lavery, was held, Tuesday. Father Lavery learned through a letter received last Saturday, that his brother, whom he had not seen for many years, was ill in a hospital in McKeesport. He took the next train east and arrived at the hospital Sunday a few minutes after his brother's death.

KAISER TELLS REICHSTAG OF EXTENSION OF SICK BENEFITS

Emperor Reads His Speech From the Throne—Plans for Financial Changes.

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—Emperor William opened the Reichstag today by personally reading the speech from the throne. The speech dealt largely with domestic legislation and contained the important announcement that the Government had prepared a measure extending the sick benefit insurance to the working classes not heretofore protected and creating a system of insurance for the dependent relatives of deceased workers. The Imperial Insurance organization will be modified in important particulars.

One of the principal tasks of the Government the Emperor said, was to fortify the financial position of the empire with the means provided by the finance bill of the last session, and this task would be accomplished through the appropriation bill for 1910, which would be laid before the house.

"Our possessions over seas, in Africa and in the South Seas," said the Emperor, "are developing well. The growth of their own incomes will relieve the empire considerably of colonial expenses."

AN OPPORTUNE PIANO OFFERING

Coming just in the nick of time when Christmas Remembrances are being planned. Nothing will give more genuine pleasure to every member of the family than a well-chosen Piano.

After Months of Careful Research, Thorough Investigation and Severe Test, We Enthusiastically Selected the

"Wachter"

Because of its many superior points—an instrument that will bring this new Piano Department of ours to the front by leaps and bounds—the "Wachter" possesses every virtue and every meritorious feature that the most expensive Pianos can possess—it is without question the best "Home" Piano on the market—so pronounced by some of the best-posted Piano Experts in America. We think so well of the "Wachter" Piano that we have secured control of the entire output of the "Wachter" factory—we take all the pianos they can make—and thus by selling direct we can afford to sell Pianos of the highest quality standard at a price within the reach of all—values that no other St. Louis Store can equal on qualities of equal excellence.

IS the Greatest Piano Bargain in the City

IS Sold on the Most Liberal Terms

IS a Safe Investment

Piano Stool and Scarf

Given free with every "Wachter" Piano sold.

Every Purchaser of a "Wachter" Piano Saves Over $100.00!!

Reason No. 1

Because our selling plan permits us to offer the "Wachter" Piano at actual factory cost with only our one small profit added.

Reason No. 2

BECAUSE unsurpassed facilities and equipment have reduced the manufacturing cost to the minimum, and you receive the benefit in the "Wachter" price.

The "Wachter" factories are among the largest, best equipped and most up-to-date in the world, with every opportunity for the greatest efficiency and economy in production.

Reason No. 3

BECAUSE our selling expense is very nominal when compared with the expense of exclusive piano dealers. We sell Pianos on the same small profit basis as any other article in our extensive line.

"Wachter" on a Piano Is Your Assurance of the Best Piano in the World for the Money

Reason No. 4

BECAUSE every "Wachter" piano is manufactured under the direct, personal supervision of experts. In the factories are employed the most skilled mechanics available. The world's choicest materials are at their command. The question of cost is the last consideration where tone, quality and durability are concerned.

Reason No. 5

BECAUSE the principles on which the "Wachter" is constructed were developed by one of the oldest and foremost piano builders of this country.

The scale is scientifically exact. The action even, pliant and elastic, and the tone all the most critical musicians could desire.

Reason No. 6

BECAUSE tone is the one predominating quality above everything else that gives the "Wachter" piano its distinctive character and individuality. It possesses the greatest volume of brilliancy, depth and power and by reason of the splendid construction, the richest, purest, most sympathetic and lasting musical quality.

We Will Place a "WACHTER" Piano in Your Home for 30 Days' Free Trial

To give you daily and positive proof of the "WACHTER'S" overwhelming superiority of construction, artistic design, superb finish, perfection of mechanism and inimitable tone quality.

We Sell the "WACHTER" Piano on Such Easy Terms of Payments

That no one, no matter how modest his circumstances, need longer forego the pleasure and educational value of a piano.

SEVERAL THOUSAND GET INVITATIONS TO DINNER OF EMBASSY ASSOCIATION

Business Suits Will Be Worn at the Banquet Wednesday Evening.

For the dinner to be given at the Mercantile Club Wednesday evening by E. Clarence Jones and Frederick Townsend Martin of New York to officers of the American Embassy Association, several thousand invitations have been issued to St. Louisans, who are expected to be the guests of the visitors.

D. R. Francis will preside. Mayor Kreismann will attend, and several church dignitaries, including Archbishop Glennon and Bishop Tuttle, have been invited. The object of Mr. Jones and Mr. Martin is to create sentiment favorable to the purchase of land in every foreign capital on which to erect American houses of colonial architecture, to be the homes of the American diplomatic representatives.

The visitors will come in from Chicago Tuesday evening and will be at the Jefferson Hotel. It was originally planned to give a luncheon at 1 p. m., Wednesday, but owing to the difficulty of getting a large hall, it was decided to give the dinner instead. The dinner will be given by the Embassy Association at its own expense, at 6 p. m. While it is an invitation affair, business dress will be in order.

The Rev. Joseph Wentker to Lecture.

On Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Diocesan Union, Rev. Joseph Wentker will lecture at St. Frances de Sales Hall, on the "Catholic Young Men and Social Work. After the lecture the Goller Alumni Association will produce one act of the drama, "Malediction."

Capt. John Berry, who passed over St. Louis at night in his balloon recently, said that the spectacle of the great city below him was the most inspiring experience in his long career. He said that it made him think, too, that the countless lights in the districts where the rich live and the scattered lights where the poor have their homes spoke to him eloquently of the contrast in the lives of the classes.

Possibly you are not going up in a balloon at night. But you can imagine that you are in one far above the city after nightfall. If you do, it will help you to understand the reason for the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Fund and why you should contribute to it as thousands have done during the past 10 years.

Because, in your imagination, you will see the great residence districts out in the West End, where the only worry suggested by Christmas is in the selection of presents that will please. And you will see the districts down close to the levee and the railroad tracks where thoughts of Christmas bring to the minds of the fathers and mothers and sons and daughters the painful consciousness that they cannot celebrate the great day as it should be celebrated.

Executive Committee to Meet.

It is for these that every year the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Fund is started. Through the agency of all the charitable organizations, those who would otherwise have no Christmas cheer are sought and brought to the great festival on Christmas day. And thousands who live in these districts are made to feel on that day that someone cares about them.

You who are thinking of the presents you are to give your relatives and friends this Christmas think for a moment of those in the city who have no relatives and friends able to give presents to them. And give what you can—it will make your own Christmas a happier one, for it is in the giving that the real spirit of Christmas is felt.

The executive committee, comprising prominent St. Louis men and women, will meet Wednesday afternoon in the Mercantile Club. The plan for the great dinner and festival to be held on Christmas day will be formulated at this meeting and reported later.

"TRUST-BUSTER" KELLOGG TO GO AFTER ELECTRICAL TRUST

Standard Oil's Prosecutor Considered as Best Man for Proposed Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Department of Justice has so far progressed in the investigation of the alleged Electrical Trust that it has under consideration now the question of selecting Frank B. Kellogg, the Standard Oil Trust buster, as the proper man to take charge of the prosecution.

The President and the Department of Justice are so impressed by Mr. Kellogg's management of the Standard Oil suit that they want him to go over the papers in the case against the Electrical Trust and put them into shape for action.

A legal battle equal to the one which was waged against the Oil Trust is expected when the case is brought into court.

"This Standard Oil case is a mere bagatelle besides the Electrical Trust," was the way a Government official put it in discussing the confidential papers which are in possession of the Attorney-General. He said that the papers indicated one of the largest and most intricate combinations the country had ever known. He thought it would require several more weeks of investigation and then some months of preparation before any suit could be begun to dissolve the trust.

DUKE KARL THEODORE, NOTED FOR HIS CHARITIES, IS DEAD

BAYREUTH, Bavaria, Nov. 30.—Duke Karl Theodor of Bavaria died today from kidney trouble.

Duke Karl never figured prominently in military or political affairs, but studied medicine and became a famous eye specialist. He maintained several private hospitals where the poor were treated free, and he did much to introduce some sort of sanitation in the homes of the mountaineers.

He was the head of the ducal line of the Bavarian house. One of his sisters, the Empress of Austria, was murdered in Geneva. Another sister married the Duke de Alencon and was burned to death in the Paris Charite Fair fire.

One of his daughters is the wife of Crown Prince Albert of Belgium and another daughter maried Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, a grandson of the Prince Regent and who probably will succeed to the throne on the death of the insane King Otto.

ST. MARK'S SALE DISAPPROVED

Church Committee Refuses to Sanction Its Transfer to Scientists.

Negotiations for the sale of St. Mark's Memorial Episcopal Church, 4005 Washington avenue, to Trinity Episcopal Parish, are expected to follow the action of the diocesan Standing Committee in disapproving the sale of the property to the Second Church of Christ, Scientist. While Bishop Tuttle has power to approve the sale as planned by the vestry, it is believed that the Standing Committee's decision, reached at a meeting Monday night, has settled the matter.

The real estate firm through which the Christian Scientists negotiated the purchase is not satisfied with the action of the diocesan authorities, and there is a possibility of litigation.

Railroad Building in Canada.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, Nov. 30.—According to an official report issued today the railways have spent this year in construction work in Western Canada $28,000,000 and in supplies and materials $20,000,000. Next year's estimates for the three leading railways provide for an expenditure of $75,000,000.

STARTS PENNY FUND FOR CHERRY

A suggestion has been made by a reader of the Post-Dispatch that the children of St. Louis start a penny fund for the children of Cherry.

The author of the suggestions says that there are many children in the St. Louis schools who want to contribute to the aid of the women and children in Cherry, but they do not know how to start the movement. The writer inclosed $1 toward the fund.

Relieve the heating burden!

"Too big a load"

Your lot is not a happy one if you have to carry the burden of old-fashioned heating—which requires a tremendous amount of fuel to produce but little heat, and constantly "gets out of order."

AMERICAN RADIATORS & IDEAL BOILERS

will lift that load off your shoulders. IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators produce the maximum amount of heat from the fuel and do not get out of order. They save the heat for the rooms instead of letting the most of it escape up the chimney, as is the case with old-fashioned heating methods.

ADVANTAGE 11: The phenomenal success of IDEAL Boilers is also largely due to the fact that they are made in sections so that even their largest parts can be carried through an ordinary size doorway. For this reason they can be quickly installed in old houses without disturbing the occupants. No tearing up necessary—in fact, in unmodernized or old types of houses IDEAL Boilers can be erected, including the necessary piping and radiators, without the necessity of removing the stove or hot-air furnace until the new heating outfit is ready to fire up. For this reason IDEAL Boilers can be quickly installed in winter weather when the old, crude heaters get badly worn or collapse.

IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators for Hot-Water or Low-Pressure Steam heating make the most scientific, simple, safest, surest outfits for warming any building, large or small, OLD or new, FARM or city. IDEAL Boilers consume less coal (or cheapest screenings) to heat the whole house than a stove consumes of expensive hard coal to heat a few rooms. Every known improvement and many exclusive features make IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators the most efficient and economical in the world, yet our enormous volume of sales enables us to put the price within reach of all.

A No. 3121 IDEAL Boiler and 440 ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $205, were used to Hot-Water heat this cottage.

A No. 22 IDEAL Boiler and 240 ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $115, were used to Hot-Water heat this cottage.

At these prices the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include cost of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which installation is extra and varies according to climatic and other conditions.

Why not at once drop your heating burden? Find out about it, anyway. Write, telephone, or call to-day for our book, "Heating Investments Successful"—it tells much—it's free

AMERICAN Radiators are made in tall, narrow, broad, low, small, giant, and other shapes, forms, and sizes to fit conveniently into any space that can be spared for them.

TO SEPARATE FRISCO-R. I. ROADS BY DECEMBER 5

It Is Expected That B. F. Yoakum Will Sever His Connections With Rock Island.

WILL TAKE $20,000,000

Control Hinges on Control of the Common Stock as Bond Collateral.

Official announcement of the separation of the Frisco and Rock Island systems will be announced about Dec. 5, according to information received from New York by St. Louis financial and railroad authorities Tuesday.

Daniel G. Reid, head of the Reid-Moore syndicate, which controls the Rock Island system, when seen at his New York office, dispatches say, remarked that "things are in such shape at present that no statement whatever can be made."

From semi-official sources it is learned that the consummation of the Frisco-Rock Island deal means that B. F. Yoakum will sever his connection with the Rock Island system. In banking circles it is believed that the passing of control of the St. Louis & San Francisco will involve $20,000,000. Control hinges on the common stock, which furnishes collateral security for the $17,-000,000 5 per cent collateral trust bonds of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Co.

These will be called for redemption as soon as the deal is closed at 102½ and interest, and will reduce the outlay of something over $18,500,000 cash. How this money is to be raised by the purchasing syndicate for reimbursing the Rock Island has not been disclosed.

CAT THROWN INTO CHURCH

LAWRENCEBURG, Ind., Nov. 30.—Ben Ingram, aged 17, a negro, who shot and killed Mollie Childers, aged 12, colored, a few years ago, was arrested on the charge of disturbing a religious meeting.

He threw a cat with a tin can tied to its tail through the window of the colored Baptist church during the services and caused a big scare.

Ingram entered a plea of guilty before Justice John Probst and was fined $25 and costs.

Open Season for Auctions Means Frenzied Finance in Smart Set

By MARGUERITE MARTYN.

THE lure of the Red Flag!

There's a subject for reformers. Doesn't it sound ominous and threatening? And to think it is undermining the habits, to say nothing of the hardly-earned wealth, of some of our best-behaved maids and matrons!

This is the open season for auctions, you must have observed. You've only to follow the red flag these bright and early Christmas shopping mornings, and you'll see quickly enough how it is that bridge and bargain rushes and other sports supposed to possess the flavor of reckless dissipation are abandoned as stupid and poky in favor of the auction. The big department stores with their page-size advertisements and their many salespeople and spacious quarters affording some measure of safety, have reduced bargain day to a very tame performance that most anybody can take part in. And with the removal of the former pressure and risk, of course, it ceases to be a fascinating adventure.

ALL SORTS OF FOLKS MEET IN AUCTION ROOMS.

BUT when you receive a neatly engraved card bidding you to an auction of jewelry or Japanese goods or bric-a-brac or diamonds in some small, exclusive shop downtown, you may depend upon it to possess all the elements and proportions of an exciting game of chance.

Of course, there will be the standing army of regular shoppers, insisting upon squeezing it. But there will be enough of your own exclusive set favored by the special invitations to form a tight little wedge, bristling with dangerous hat pins, long, ticklish plumes, withering glances and sharp or deftly used elbows with which to shoulder out the undesirables, disqualified as poky or stupid.

This struggle only adds activity and excitement. A perfectly private sale wouldn't have much more of the elements of contest and heroism than the usual afternoon tea.

Then after you've scrambled into one of these stuffy little shops and the one salesman, the auctioneer, with such ease and effrontery assumes such perfect control of the situation and the spirit of opposition goads you from so many directions—for there are all your dearest enemies and your most faithful friends bent upon outdoing you—you quickly become sensible of your own responsibility of holding up your own end, and the game is on.

YOU DON'T "SIT IN" THE GAME, YOU STAND UP.

HOW do you play it? Why, you just get into the game—no, you don't sit in—you stand up.

The auctioneer siezes the prize, waves it in the air in rapid circles ostensibly to attract your attention, but really to distract and confuse you. He adds further to your bewilderment with a lot of airy persiflage and soon the nature or identity of the prize is completely lost to view.

That's the first hazard, until somebody gets his private conversation tangled up in the scrimmages of words of the auctioneer, who picks it up and flings it about and calls it a bid. Suddenly somebody raises the bid. You don't know who it is, but it antagonizes you if it does not enrage you. It seems to affect everybody else the same way. Then the chase is really on. And sometimes it becomes so fast and furious that, if the auctioneer were not there to come to the rescue at last, there's no telling where it would end. No, it isn't anything like a bull fight, though it may sound like one. And it isn't a tussle between bulls and bears, although as each of those fast and furious bids costs successively more and more, it is easy to see how it may quickly amount to frenzied finance.

TEST OF ENDURANCE, SPEED, STRENGTH AND VALOR.

IT'S a game which is a test of speech and endurance and strength and valor and skill and bluff.

It's surprising, too, how some of the timidest of these same maids and matrons respond to the bullyragging of the auctioneer. They are game, most of them, to the last. There is the horrible suspense, the delicious expectancy, the fascinating uncertainty, in fact every new agony and thrill so sought after by the smart set. Of course you pay dearly for these entirely new sensations, not only in cash on the spot, but as is always the penalty for riotous living, there is the morning after.

In the cold, gray company of remorse you are haunted by all sorts of grewsome souvenirs. They are likely to take most any form. If it's a jewelry auction you've attended, probably you will see two or more large, glittering punchbowls where you are certain only one should be. But the worst is to come.

YOU GET ARTICLES YOUR BEST FRIEND WANTED.

ALTHOUGH you may all your life have been a perfectly good spinster lady and never expressed a taste for such things here are a shaving set, tobacco jar, cigarette case, whisky flask, a poker set, an odd cuff button or two—certainly incriminating evidence.

"Where was I yesterday?" you ask yourself as you rush to the mirror to see what other changes may have come over you. Then you remember." Why, these are all the things Gladys wanted for Harold. I must have outbid her."

You call up your newly-married friend and compare notes and find, yes, that she has all the things you had intended to bid in. O fair exchange is no robbery. Everything is straightened out again and you are ready for some more hilarity the next day.

Of course, it's a case for the reformers—those who say we shall not gamble nor indulge in other manly (?) sports. But O, don't tell them about it. They would put the lid on. They can do it so easily, you know, who have all the law in their own hands. And we could not retaliate by putting the lid upon their speculations on 'Change.

FOR THE PUBLIC

New Formula Cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and Hoarseness in Five Hours.

Much is being done in these days to stop the ravages of consumption, but probably nothing has been so effective as teaching the public how to break up a cold and cure coughs, bronchitis, tonsilitis, etc., with simple home-mixed medicine. A laxative cough syrup, free from whiskey, is the prime need. A cough indicates inflamation and congestion and these in turn are due to an excess of waste and poisons in the system. A tonic laxative cough syrup rids the system of congestion, while relieving the painful coughing. Get the following and mix at home: One-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Shake the bottle and take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less, according to age. Cut this out and save it for some friend. * * *

CHILD IS KICKED NEARLY TO DEATH BY A MULE TEAM

Louise was accompanying her mother, wife of Frank Ulrich, a mail clerk living at 6160 Bertha avenue, for a walk late Monday afternoon. As they walked on Hodiamont avenue the child saw a sandpile at Page boulevard, where a building is being erected. Pulling away from her mother's hand, she ran to the pile.

A team of mules hitched to a telephone company's repair wagon was standing in the street close to the sand. Persons who saw the accident say Louise stooped in the sand almost under the hind feet of one of the mules.

The animal began lunging and kicking. At almost the first kick the child was knocked unconscious and was struck several times as she lay on the ground.

The mother, who witnessed the accident only a few feet away, heedless of her own danger, rushed under the striking feet of the mule and pulled the child to safety. The mother was uninjured.

She carried Louise to Lammer's pharmacy, Page boulevard and Hodiamont avenue, where a physician advised that she be taken to the hospital. There it was ascertained that her injuries were serious. The doctors held little hope for her recovery.

Billiard Expert a Check Expert.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Nov. 30.—A man came here and announced that he was a billiard expert, and before leaving town passed a number of forged checks, purporting to be signed by farmers hereabouts. Williams, the billiard hall man, cashed one for $8.

CUSHION OF EGGS SAVES MAN

Butter, Too, Softens Shock of Being Hit by Train.

SCHWENKVILLE, Pa., Nov. 27.—While Huckster Daniel Landis, from near Gratersford, was crossing the railroad near his home, his team was struck by a freight train and his life was spared in a peculiar manner.

The engine, striking the covered wagon in the middle, completely severed the vehicle, the horses running away with the front part, while Mr. Landis was hurled against several hundred dozen smashed eggs and butter and other produce, which lessened the shock and undoubtedly saved his life.

CAT BITE ROMANCE PALES

Texas Woman Gets Divorce and $3000 Alimony From Doctor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Supreme Court Justice Brady has signed a final decree of divorce in favor of Mrs. Lulu Fowler Bryán Rambaud, and against her husband, Dr. George Rambaud, the physician in charge of the Pasteur Institute. The decree contained an order directing Rambaud to pay Mrs. Rambaud $3000 a year alimony.

The Rambauds were married in 1906. Miss Bryan, who hailed from Houston, Tex., was a patient at the Pasteur Institute undergoing treatment after she had been bitten by a pet cat. Her engagement to Dr. Rambaud was announced soon after she left the institute, and the wedding followed at Houston.

Average Sunday Gain of - 8,465

Over the corresponding period of 1908; and further that the sales of the Post-Dispatch in the City of St. Louis exceed by many thousands the number of homes in St. Louis.

W. C. STEIGERS, Business Manager.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 21st day of May, 1909.

My term expires March 15, 1913.

EFFECTIVE STAGE CENSORSHIP.

The Rev. Mr. Mauze's hearsay condemnation of theatrical tendencies is too vague and sweeping for salutary effect. To denounce plays dealing with sex problems, crimes or immoralities solely on account of the theme and without regard to motive or treatment is vain and would sweep from the stage some of the best plays—plays that convey trenchant moral lessons. Intelligent discrimination is necessary. Plays must deal with the conditions of life and society. They must deal with them sincerely and plainly, else the stage becomes an insignificant puppet show of no interest or influence.

Nor can the effect on the crass youth of either sex be accepted as the test of the play's character and influence. These must be judged by men and women who know life and are capable of sound judgment on its serious phases. Some good meat is not fit for babes, who should be kept away from it.

An official censorship of plays is an absurdity. Except for the purpose of protecting the public from bold indecency it is ineffective. As a matter of fact it is more likely to exclude from the stage the finest product of genius working for human betterment than the veiled indecencies of skillful panders working for indecency's sake to catch the fancy of the groundlings. The only effective and safe censorship is that of the informed mind and refined taste of the critic and the playgoer. The salvation of the stage and the protection of society from the influence of its debasement depend upon the improvement of individual taste and morals. Our hope in this as in other social reforms and betterments lies in the education of the individual, not in legal prohibitions and official interference.

It cannot be said that the Post-Dispatch has failed of its duty in informing its readers of the moral character and influence of plays. It has exercised discrimination and has fearlessly designated plays which deal with indecency for the purpose of appealing to degraded taste.

But the stage ought to be improved and every influence which will improve the public taste to the end that vicious plays may be eliminated is grateful. Discrimination in the selection of plays, and particularly in the choice of plays for young persons is sadly needed. It is needed even more in moving picture shows, where vivid impressions are made upon the minds of children by depiction of crimes and suggestive scenes. In yesterday's story of the two boys who were moved to rob a bank by the picture of a successful bank robbery we have an instance of the direct effect of the criminal scene on the youthful mind. Too often the pictures are literally moving in their influence on the impressionable and untrained mind. The exercise of judgment on the part of the public would promptly bring the managers to a judicious frame of mind.

Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes is helping the girl shirt waist makers in their strike at New York. She has advised them not to break the law.

DR. COOK AND HIS ENEMIES.

Dr. Cook, with his whereabouts unknown, continues nevertheless in the limelight and his presence has the melodramatic accessories of plots, schemes and conspiracies to dethrone him from the estate in which his claimed performance left him. No fading prima donna's press agent could produce a better yarn than that of the dummy records carried by Cook's secretary to Copenhagen while the real ones were sent in the strong box of another ship.

We are advised, too, that Cook's life has been threatened and he is the target for all sorts of murderous enemies. This may, at least, be taken as evidence that Dr. Cook is working on his book and keen to the value of advertising. It would be better, however, to dismiss the whole series of stories. There may have been threatening letters. They are common enough. But they are of more interest to the postoffice detectives than to either the receiver or the public. No one is so senseless as to think that Peary or the Peary Arctic Club or the National Geographic Society has had anything to do with them. Nor have any of the absurd reports come from Dr. Cook. Perhaps his misguided friends are responsible. Walter Wellman's late outburst is more "Eskimo" testimony and worth about as much as the irrelevant hearsay Peary offered.

We hope Dr. Cook's records and proofs are on the way to Copenhagen and that they will have a scientific examination and bring a speedy decision. A favorable decree will reassure Cook's friends and will be quite necessary to restore the marvelous achievement of reaching the pole to standing as the "great feat of the ages," as Mr. Roosevelt characterized it.

Since 1907 the number of Government employes has increased from 306,140 to 370,065, and there were more outside than inside the civil service before the increase began.

CONGRESS AND THE SUGAR TRUST.

Congressman Payne thinks Congress will not investigate the Sugar Trust scandal. He says it is being pretty thoroughly investigated now by the District Attorney and intimates that nothing more than that is necessary.

Coming from an organization man, Representative Payne's views are important, the more so as he is the only one of the ruling clique who has spoken on the subject. Senator Culberson, who wants an investigation, is the minority leader, and Senators Dolliver, Borah and Burkett are more or less tainted with insurgency. It is only a rumor that President Taft will say brisk, cutting things about the scandal in his message. No organization man in either Senate or House has spoken favorably for an investigation or expressed publicly indignation over the affair.

The silence is a strong reminder of the report that evidence of the frauds was before the Senate in executive session last spring and was practically ignored. But the public will not be satisfied with silence. The general demand is for the truth. Bare legal proceedings, necessarily confined to the prosecution of those who committed overt acts of crime, will not do.

Other things than the punishment of those who participated in the execution of the frauds are necessary. If some are to be punished only by the sense of ignominy which comes of public contempt, that punishment is also to be inflicted. There is possibly something of that kind in prospect and it is of no less importance that the names of some already mentioned be cleared if they are guiltless.

Theodore Roosevelt, one report says, had evidence of the Sugar Trust's evil deeds placed before him. Lyman J. Gage, Leslie M. Shaw and George B. Cortelyou, all former Secretaries of the Treasury, have been mentioned as having specific knowledge of the wrongdoing and Mr. Shaw is reported to have expressed his regrets and deplored the fact that "his hands were tied." Former Attorney-General Bonaparte and former Assistant Secretary Reynolds have had their names clouded and a reassuring slap on the back from President Taft will not clear them. An embarrassing bit of gossip is that Appraiser Whitehead of New York, apparently deeply involved, was a candidate for Assistant Secretary, under whose jurisdiction falls the investigation of revenue frauds.

The public wants the facts as to the relations of these men with the Sugar Trust. Their position is the more indelectable because of the trust's record as a corrupting influence. Its history is one succession of vicious performances. It has not only had the influence to stay for years the investigation of its own criminal acts, but it has had the political power to win for itself the highest favors. What is that influence and on whom was it exerted? Is that influence still potent? Plainly enough, a trust that would bribe petty employes of the Government to defraud the revenue would not hesitate to corrupt high officials to win tariff and other favors. How it tempted senators to speculate in its stocks 15 years ago is well remembered.

A congressional committee, bound by no embarrassing rules of evidence, and knowing no statutes of limitations, is the only means through which the facts may be obtained.

Secretary Ballinger, in his annual report, enthusiastically advocates a conservation policy. Did he ever oppose it?

WEALTH AND MORAL INFLUENCE.

The mesmerism of great wealth never shone more brilliantly than in the Rev. Dr. Oscar Haywood's remarkable assertion that John D. Rockefeller "has the brain of a Caesar and unlimited moral influence." It does not appear to be a random remark thrown out in a moment of excitement, but is a sober reflection included in a prepared sermon.

Can Dr. Haywood say why a man's moral influence grows with his wealth? Can he say why it is unlimited when the wealth goes beyond the power of the human mind to grasp and itself becomes practically unlimited?

The accumulation of a great fortune argues the possession of special qualities of intellect and character. But there is no necessary, vital connection between such qualities and those which make up what we call moral force and character.

Moral force issues from within. It is a personal possession and not a product of material circumstances. All men possess it in some degree, and the problem today, as it always has been, is to liberate the man from the restraints of circumstances. The world will then get the benefit of his whole moral influence, be it much or little.

Senator Burkett of Nebraska wants to put the Sugar Trust on the griddle even if the Senate does the squirming.

GOV. HADLEY MUST SHOW US.

Not content with his consuming desire for a State song, Gov. Hadley is on the trail of a motto definitive of Missouri's qualities and characteristics. He wants the indefinite and intangible something which distinguishes Missourians from all other peoples and Missouri from all other states boiled down to a sentence or distilled into a phrase so highly charged with significance that it will apply with equal force to the unshaven of the Ozarks and the shaven of the metropolis, and touch with communal feeling the hills, the valleys and the rivers.

Gov. Hadley seems to be pervaded by an idea that such a phrase may spring full-panoplied from the head of some new Jove. But it won't. State catchwords are not born of wishing. They filter down from the heights or seep through from the broad reaches of a people's experience. They are elastic, subtle and expansive. They absorb new meanings without losing old ones. They fit all conceivable conditions and answer all requirements. They retroact and they anticipate. They express sentiment and character. They do not have to be introduced and promoted. They are accepted without objection and make their way from highway to byway with telepathic mysteriousness.

In this respect no state is so well provided already as Missouri. Bay State for Massachusetts, Empire State for New York, Keystone for Pennsylvania, Cracker, Wolverine, Badger, Gopher, Jayhawker, Sucker and the rest are unmeaning or demeaning or perfunctory designations. They touch no general qualities of people or soil. They can't be used indiscriminately to show humor or seriousness. All are inept and insufficient compared to the grandiloquence and eternal fitness of "show me."

The Show Me State! There is piquancy and flavor in the words. It levels all distinctions and joins more than 3,000,000 souls together in a comprehensively respectful or skeptical attitude of inquiry. It makes us cosmopolitan. It is no attestation of conceit or superiority. It is modest without humiliation and strong without effrontery. It permits and has long permitted us to contribute to the eloquence of the nation's vernacular. It brings Gopher, Cracker, Green Mountain boy and all the rest into the rapidly growing family of Missourians. Some time during each month every person in the United States is from Missouri and is quick to proclaim it. Every proclamation is an honorable advertisement. Can Gov. Hadley improve on "show me!" He will have to show us.

In the interest of temperate utterance, our ministers wisely refrain from seeing the plays into which they shoot criticisms.

Religion is on the defensive, says Rabbi Harrison. He favors the mass play, too.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

A Charter Suggestion.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

There is a very important law that should be put into our new city Charter and that is a statute giving to an injured person one-half of the fine which is paid by the defendant, as the latter's victim is often made helpless; especially is this the case where the victim is a wife. At present a person is injured, the defendant is fined, the city gets the money, while the victim gets nothing. It is a great wrong. The victim should at least get half of the fine.

A WIFE.

William Clelland, Hero!

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It is with keen disappointment that I note the lack of interest paid such a noble act as was credited to Mr. Clelland of the Cherry mine disaster. A life may be saved, an accident averted through the efforts of one with a quick mind, but never such heroism as was shown by this brave miner when all seemed lost. Such faith in a higher power, such untiring and simple efforts he used in cheering up his unfortunate brothers in despair will be rewarded in Heaven; why not on earth? I believe that Carnegie should give this man a medal.

W. JENKINS.

The Death Penalty.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Is the death penalty justifiable? Is there justice in punishment? Does punishment rectify anything, human beings, conditions? Is death at the end of our earthly career punishment, justice? Do we kill the animals we eat in punishment, justice? Do we kill bugs and animals for our protection in punishment, justice? Is the painful consequence of coming in too close contact with fire punishment, justice? Have we any other basis for punishment, justice—an eye for an eye, death for death—than the animal mind, the undeveloped human mind, which demands the immediate return of pain received to the thing, person or life causing it? And does not reason demand that if this is consequently carried out it means destruction, and annihilation to everything, human beings, life, the universe, the Source of All? Where else can we stop?

SIXTY.

Telephones in Mines.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

E. I. B. says telephones in mines would make them safer; this is not the right expression. It would, of course, be of great importance to give an alarm of warning; also perhaps in some instances, instructions. There are mines in Illinois where they have telephones, mines where the management and the owners consider the men as human beings and not only as an instrument or a tool for making money. In a good many instances some of the mine managers want to show off as being economical, when in reality they are making expenses, and not only that, but lots of unnecessary trouble.

There are mines where, if the State Inspector would do his duty they would have to shut them down at once. But men are obliged to work in them for a living while they are in reality nothing but traps. It would be advisable that some of the mine owners would go down with the inspector or the mine committee in working clothes and go all over the mine and see for themselves that some of the mine managers have their mine not half way in a condition as to what the laws call for.

A MINER.

Moonshiners and Sugar.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A few days ago down in old Ripley County three moonshiners were arrested by Government officials and their stills confiscated. They had violated the Federal statutes and defrauded the Government out of hundreds, possibly thousands, of dollars, and it is but just that their stills and all property in any way connected with their illegal practice should be confiscated.

A few days before that it became known that the Government had been defrauded out of millions, possibly hundreds of millions of dollars by the powerful and immensely wealthy Sugar Trust.

Except for the enormity of the crime there is little difference in the outrages of the Sugar Trust against the Government and the crime these moonshiners have committed whose property was confiscated and who have been thrust into prison, leaving poor families disgraced and without support.

Then would not true justice demand that the entire property of the Sugar Trust be confiscated? Personal responsibility may be hard to fix in organizations like the Sugar Trust, but the property has a tangible existence and from a standpoint of moral law is subject to seizure and confiscation just as much as that of a moonshiner.

LAW-ABIDING CITIZEN.

Conditions in Mexico.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have read the letters of D. L. Thomas, J. W. T. and Adolfo S. Perreira d'Acosta. As to the last-named gentleman's assertion that "No man need go to Mexico to discover immorality," he no doubt refers to J. W. T.'s statement to the effect of 15-year-old girls being offered for 15 or 20 pesos by their own fathers and mothers. By it, Mr. J. W. T. evidently intended to illustrate conditions of dire poverty rather than of immorality to exist. Poverty, of course, does not encourage morality. As to the Mexicans gnashing their teeth with love for the Americans, that has perhaps for its reason that the Mexicans see in every American a "Joe" Green or a would-be Joe Green, who has come to their country for the sole purpose of assisting in the exploitation of the natives under the protection of President Diaz. It is true that these United States are not the Paradise some women correspondents in these columns lately would have us believe, but from all accounts, conditions in Mexico do seem to be unworthy of twentieth century civilization. But Mr. Adolfo S. P., etc., says: "Mexico has proven her capability in handling her own affairs by the just (?) administration of President P. Diaz." So has Russia. Nevertheless, the day may come when nations will become sufficiently civilized to step in and call a halt, when a neighboring government permits the torture and murder of its subjects or citizens. Neighbors do as much in cases of parents maltreating their children and nobody questions their right to do so.

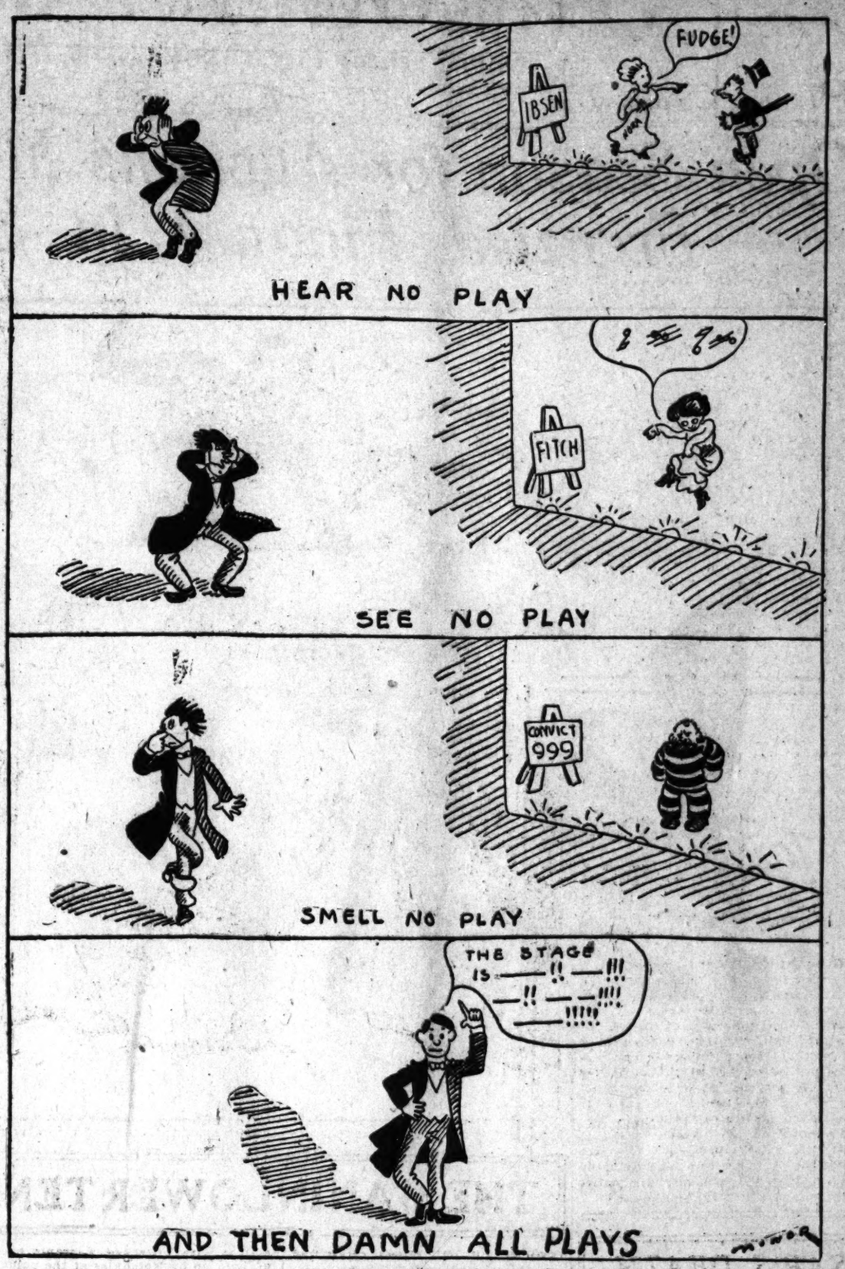
EXPERT TESTIMONY.



DOLLAR DOMINION.

From the New York World.

A bill has been introduced in Cuba to form a national gold-standard currency on the basis of that of the United States, with coins like ours from the cent up to the double eagle.

Thus out of the babble of discordant mints something like order and harmony is being gradually evolved, following the genius and the example of Thomas Jefferson, who first suggested our decimal coinage. There is now scarcely a land that does not know the dollar in common speech or use its coin equivalent, and only Great Britain rejects the manifest advantage of decimal notation.

Bohemia invented the dollar, or thaler, and it survives in Germany as the thaler or three marks. Four marks would be almost exactly our dollar, and so would four English shillings. All the states of the Latin Monetary Union, of which France is the head, have an almost exact equivalent of the dollar in the silver piece of five francs, liras or drachmas, current from Belgium to Greece; and the French sou, Italian soldo or Greek pendares is our cent. "Scudo" and "escudo" are old Italian and Spanish words for dollar, still in use.

Jefferson adopted as our standard the "Spanish milled dollar," the dollar with milled or grooved edges. Spain itself and the South American countries today use it under the name of the "peso" of 100 "centavos." This is also the coinage and currency of Northwestern Africa, as the Turkish medjidie and piaster—respectively $1 and 5 cents—are of Egypt and the Red Sea region. In the Philippines the American Government is now coining 50-cent silver pesos on the Mexican plan, but the peso gold is $1. Canada reckons in dollars and cents.

"DENOMINATIONAL TREASON."

From the Berea College Quarterly.

'Twas in West Virginia. A Berea student invited the preacher of another denomination who happened into his church to lead in prayer. The church officers called a meeting and dismissed the pastor for denominational treason the same day. After their vote he secured a reprieve of one week and in his next Sunday's sermon converted the church to a slightly more liberal view.

PROTECTING HIS RECORD.

From the Galveston News.

"What makes me mad," said Nebuchadnezzar as he picked the grass out of his teeth with a straw, "is the report that I abandoned meat and bread for fear of contracting trichnosis and pellagra."

NOT REQUIRED TO STAND.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

In addition to having a seat in the United States Senate and one in the national House of Representatives William Lorimer has several seats in the Illinois Legislature, all of which he is able to occupy at one time.

FOREARMING HIMSELF.

From the Columbus Journal.

Gov. Haskell prepares for the worst by announcing that no honest jury will find him guilty and then adding that of course a good many juries aren't of that kind.

JUST A MINUTE.

THE CZAR.

(An edict has been issued by the Czar forbidding flying machines to come within ten miles of St. Petersburg.—News.)

THE Czar put on his bomb-proof coat and hooked the armour at his throat.
"Now," he remarked, as one would muse, "I'll try that pair of mine-proof shoes."
The which he did, and ventured out, with royal guardsmen all about.

Around him till its two ends met was held a light torpedo net
Begirt by Bessemer and prayer, the Little Father took the air.

When something distant in the sky attraced someone's eagle eye,

And everyone, with craning neck, turned glass upon the distant speck;
But God is good—a space, and lo! the captain cried, "It is a crow!"

IN EXTENUATION.

Prohibition went down and out in Alabama yesterday, but the drys of that disrupted State have no apologies to make.

It has been a very unusual autumn. Ordinarily any sort of prohibition proposition will carry at this season. The Alabama drys could not have foreseen that we would have Indian summer of the softest sort up to the very first day of December.

Just as there is a temperature at which water freezes, there is a temperature at which a community will vote out the saloon. This has been proven again and again. Dr. Baker, the president of the National Anti-Saloon League, never sets out his decoys (he uses minors, sports and fathers of large and needy families) unless the temperature is down to freezing.

But selecting in advance for election purposes a day when the temperature is below freezing is not easy, and the Alabamans missed it. That is all.

REMINDER.

It is not too early to begin practicing taking bundles home on the car. It is well enough to say that everything is delivered, but we have all lived long enough to know that there is a certain per cent of bundles that we take out ourselves. Sometimes this is unavoidable, and at other times the clerk takes advantage of our timidity.

At any rate, it is not easy to take a bundle of any dimensions home on the car. There are a great many other fares, all more or less carrying bundles; and there are very few cars. A bundle as large as a suit case will not slip under the seat. The distance between the iron legs, if we recall, is only 33½ inches. However, we have time to find out. Of overhead accommodations there are virtually none. They won't let you tie anything to the bell rope. Freight on the back platform is not only forbidden, but the other fares don't like it, and if it is particularly obnoxious, they will purposely step on it. Large bundles up-ended on the lap are not always a success. They rub against the ladies' hats, if there is one in front. To carry them crosswise is impossible. The other fare in the seat won't stand for it.

Let us discover how it may be done. We have almost four weeks.

BUILDERS.

I never build a song by day or night,
Of breaking ocean or of flowing whim
But in some wondrous, unexpected way,

—Edwin Markham.

Ed has it on us. For instance:
We never build a song by day or night
Of Swazy folks, or poker themes, or gin,
But in some wondrous, unexpected way
Some agent or installment man comes in.

—John D. Wells, in Buffalo News.

John's got us skinned!
We never weave a song by day or night—
Something we think will make the whole world grin,
But in some wondrous unexpected way
The morning paper doesn't have it in.

—Judd Mortimer Lewis, in Houston Post.

Judd has beaten us to a frazzle!
We never try to trill a little song,
In summer, autumn, winter time, or spring,
But in that same old thought-dispelling way

—Paul Cook, in Birmingham Age-Herald.

Paul is a lucky fellow!
We never yet have had the Muse to poise
On widespread wings above this luckless spot,
As if at last deceived by our decoys,
But what some bill collector spoiled the shot.

However, there is no doubt that Dr. Cook did reach and place a brass tube in the box office.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

Write but one question. No bets decided. Business addresses not given. Legal questions must be simple. Address "Answers," Post-Dispatch, using postal cards when convenient.

FLOSS.—Month written notice.

G.—Eli Perkins, Melville D. Landon.

SUBSCRIBER.—"They overdid the matter" is not wrong.

J.—At a dance a gentleman may fan a lady with her fan.

READER.—First I in word Italian is sounded as the I in it.

UNHAPPY.—Marriage under any name whatever is binding.

IRENE.—Dr. Heath is pastor of the Water Tower Baptist Church.

H. H.—There is no pension for widow marrying a Civil War soldier after 1890.

O'NEILL.—Airbrake (first used in 1869) invented by George Westinghouse Jr.

M. H. A.—Write social facts as briefly as possible and address Society Editor.

G. E. X.—For Panama work write Isthmian Canal Commission, Washington, D. C.

D. F. R.—Until there is an investigation all the Nicarauga facts cannot be known.

F. B.—Your wages may be garnisheed for any debt, but your creditor cannot collect usury.

E. W.—The old water tower on East Grand avenue was begun in 1886 and completed in 1871.

NE.—More ships will need more men. Congress will, of course, legislate as may be necessary.

GOFF.—The year round a sign painter averages $15 a week. First-class men make more than that.

V. A.—If your father was not naturalized your birth in Ireland makes naturalization necessary for you.

S. G.—Hard times party refreshments: Water, turnips, cornbread, thin soup, beans, or any cheap food.

STUPID FLAT DWELLER.—Upper tenant deluging you with water should be arrested. See the landlord.

ANXIOUS.—If claims are not outlawed the stock company would be liable under the circumstances you state.

ANXIOUS READER. — (Illinois) Provisional allowance for support of widow vests at once upon husband's death.

EARNEST READER.—From the river to De Hodiamont, about 59 blocks. No figures as to number of families.

A. M. K.—C Q means "All wireless stations, attention!" C Q D, "All stations, attention! Danger! Watch out for details."

MUCH IN DOUBT.—It is unusual to place writing desk in parlor, but in a small flat one must make the most of the space.

D. H. M.—Body lice: Wash with 1 to 500 solution of bichloride of mercury twice a day until eggs are dead. Or try benzine.

R. F. D.—License to hunt in Montgomery County and any county adjoining, $1. State license, to hunt in every county, $5.

OLD READER.—Insanity is not ground for divorce in Missouri. A court, however, would probably consider all circumstances.

J. H. P.—Unless Illinois courts agree with one Missouri Judge that alimony is not a debt, an Illinois husband's wages could be garnished.

CRAZY.—Wait. Some of your friends may get acquainted with him. Perhaps it pays him well your insanity would soon be cured.

H. B.—No one is obliged to observe any legal holiday. There are so many lazy people, however, that most of us want to be idle as much as possible.

JACK.—So long as the jeweler who sold you the watch is willing to keep his part of the contract you cannot get your watch or the payment you made.

READER.—Your uncle dying intestate, his estate would pass to his sisters and brothers and, if any are dead their share would pass to their children.

READER.—When you go with your relatives to a concert and dance it is not improper for a young man to escort you home if he is sufficiently well known to you.

WIDOW.—Mr. Quinn has told you correctly. There is a fine for violaters of the law. You might have a talk with the Judge of the Juvenile Court, City Hall basement.

GASSMAN.—Court and jury, after hearing all the facts, might give you damages; but we cannot predict that they would do so. Some lawyer might take the case on a contingent fee.

SUBSCRIBER.—In the Public Library encyclopedias (third floor, Ninth and St. Charles) you may read all about whisky mash and distilling. We haven't space for what you ask.

MRS. DUKE.—You may select a few of your acquaintances and arrange a table for yourself and them, giving your other guests enough but not quite so much; but should this be observed it might set tongues to wagging.

SUBSCRIBER.—In horseshoes game the shoe farthest on wins; if distance is same there is a tie. As each shoe has two "toes," we don't understand "one having one toe up." Players should make their own rules before playing.

PACIFIC.—Los Angeles has the most equable climate of any city on the Pacific Coast. It is never very hot, and has fair opportunities for "live" characters. San Diego is also a hustling town and Portland is excellent.

M.—If husband dies without making will, widow has dower (one-third life interest) in the real estate; she gets also household goods, wearing apparel, etc. not exceeding in value $500, books $200, and child's share in remainder of personal property; remainder would be distributed between his children only, or their descendants.

A. T.—To clean dolly's hair: Take off all her clothes, wrap her in a towel up to her neck; fill the wash basin with warm water and pour a little ammonia in it. Wet a cloth with ammonia, and, holding her head over the water, wash the hair. When it is clean lay her in the sun to dry. It may be curled just as any girl's hair is curled.

GRATEFUL.—Blackheads: Wash face nooy and at night with strong suds made of one quart water and tablespoon of tincture of green soap. After night washing, dampen face again, sprinkle fine cornmeal upon hands and rub face vigorously. Rinse and rub into skin a good cream to soothe irritation made by meal application. Two weeks' treatment should remove all.

DAISY.—If a woman does not wish to dance she must decline with some polite excuse, never with a direct refusal; and, after having refused one man, she must not agree to dance with another. Nor will she throw over a partner she has accepted for any newcomer, however desirable he may be. The presentation of men for dances to young women gives them the privilege of that evening's acquaintance only.

E. G.—We don't know the origin of "Tell it to the Danes," but suppose it was started by some of Commander Peary's friends in order to publicly discredit upon the records of Cook, who has just sent his completed data to the University of Copenhagen. "Tell that to the marines" is an expression signifying disbelief in any statement made or story told. It originated in the fact that, owing to their ignorance of seamanship, the marines were formerly made fun of by the sailors.

How to Sing

No. 2

The Danger of Temperament and Its Proper Value.

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By MADAME BLANCHE MARCHESI,
The Most Famous of Vocal Teachers.

ONE hears a great deal of talk about temperamental singing—singing with vitality and emotion. But most people have only a vague idea of what they really mean by these words. Temperament, from the public's point of view, usually means a loud and violent burst of sound filled with suppressed passion. Sometimes the feeling of emotion seems to choke the artist, while again the same emotion is likely to rend him asunder, so violent is its vocal expression.

This sort of temperament, for which the dictionary gives no definition, is one of the most harmful factors in voice producing, as well as the most necessary for the success of the finished artist. A person with too much of this explosive temperament, with too much of the emotional quality, or rather with too much uncontrolled emotional quality, will have an enormous amount of trouble in placing the voice, and, after the voice is placed, will have great difficulty in retaining the purity and clarity of tone so difficult to acquire. For any uncontrolled feeling which makes itself noticeable in the voice is detrimental to good voice production.

Sometimes the outburst of a temperamental singer with a very big voice and a strong constitution, by the sheer physical strength and power of sound, can move and electrify an audience. But generally half of the effect which the uncontrolled temperamentalist hopes to achieve is lost because the voice is swallowed up in emotion, and the singer is literally trangled.

As a general thing the singer who is busy with his own feelings, enjoying his own emotions oblivious to anything else but the mood of his song, is not giving a perfect artistic interpretation. And it is seldom that under these conditions the audience is made to feel the emotion or sentiment in which the singer is indulging. Too much temperament is as harmful as too little. While the latter makes dull or operate interpretation colorless and uninteresting, an excess of emotion thwarts the singer's intentions of inspiring the audience and is harmful to the voice. For the vocal apparatus registers every emotion, and when the emotion is excessive the balance necessary for perfect tone emission is destroyed. The sound becomes impure at once; distracting the audience's attention from the meaning of the song to the mechanical imperfection in his voice production.

The great Coquelin once told me of a strange experience of his which illustrates this point. He was playing the famous balcony scene in "Cyrano de Bergerac." For some reason the beautiful pathos of the situation appealed to him as never before.

"I had never realized the real tragedy of Gascon's love for Roxane as I did that night, and I felt that I put my whole soul into my work," so Coquelin explained to me. "I was almost intoxicated with the sound of the voice, with the beauty of the scene, which was no longer just the theater with its balcony of painted wood and its canvas trees. I felt that I had never acted as I was acting then. What was my astonishment when, at the end of the scene, the applause which on all other occasions had been long and hearty was barely audible on this one night when I felt that I had done the part justice. Well, I learned one more lesson. To make the audience feel what you are saying you must not be carried away by your own feelings. By doing so you lose the mastery of your art."

To the young singer I would counsel careful control of the emotional side in singing until the vocal apparatus is perfected and the artistic ideals are formed. For many beautiful voices are injured by an overzealous display of vocal emotion, which evinces itself in loud shouting and usually in forcing of the voice. This last is sure to ruin even the most perfect vocal apparatus, and is always painful and distressing to listen to.

While the temperamental singer has to learn control the average American voice lacks the emotional quality. Temperament and sensitive appreciation of musical emotion must be cultivated. Of the two I think the latter is the hardest to do, and I doubt if there is any possible method or rule which can be laid down for acquiring the emotional quality in the voice which when rightly used is one of its greatest beauties.

Personally, I have always felt that this vital and emotional quality in the voice has as its source a vast sympathy with nature and humanity, no matter how curiously it may be disguised.

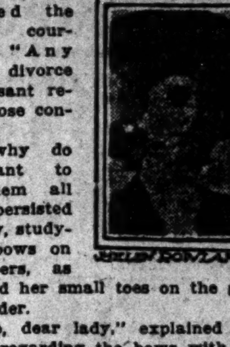
THE WIDOW SAYS

Observe the Eleventh Commandment and Be Happy, Though Married

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By HELEN ROWLAND.

"WHY are they making all this fuss about secret divorces?" inquired the Widow thoughtfully, as she put down her morning paper. "I think they're rather a pleasant relief, don't you?"



HELEN ROWLAND

"Of course," acquiesced the Bachelor, courteously. "Any sort of a divorce is a pleasant relief—to those concerned."

"But why do they want to make them all public?" persisted the Widow, studying the bows on her slippers, as she crossed her small toes on the glittering fender.

"Because, dear lady," explained the Bachelor, regarding the bows with artistic appreciation, "DIVORCE is the subject nearest and dearest to the heart of the American Nation, and when two people get one, everybody wants to know how they managed it."

"Nonsense!" retorted the Widow. "The Nation doesn't really want to know all the harrowing details—just how many cups they threw at one another, and what Mrs. Brown's maid thinks of her, and how many cocktails Mr. Brown takes before breakfast, and the number of his collars, and where Mrs. Brown buys her back hair. Besides, it's impolite for a husband and wife to call each other horrid names and abuse each other in print. It's breaking the eleventh commandment of matrimony!"

"What's that?" inquired the Bachelor. "'Thou shalt not tell?'"

"THOU SHALT NOT MAKE EACH OTHER UNCOMFORTABLE IN PUBLIC," corrected the Widow, seriously. "That's the 'unwritten law' of modern marriage: 'Thou shalt honor thy wife in the presence of other women; thou shalt not make thy husband ridiculous before company.' If two people will keep that one commandment they can forgive each other for breaking all the other ten—and still get along fairly comfortably."

"In other words," remarked the Bachelor, laconically, "give your wife a black eye in the sweet seclusion of home if you feel like it, but don't give her a black look across the table at a dinner party."

"Certainly," agreed the Widow. "Just as long as two people can keep up the illusion of romantic attachment before their friends, they can imagine that it still exists. Half the so-called 'happy marriages' are nothing but a mutual determination on the part of a husband and wife to fool the rest of the world. But the moment a husband begins to flirt with other women under his wife's nose"——

"And a wife," broke in the Bachelor, "sighs and looks resigned when her husband's name is mentioned"——

"And he walks two feet ahead of her in the street"——

"And she interrupts him in the middle of one of his best stories to pass the tea"——

"And they exchange subtle amenities and critical glances across the drawing-room," finished the widow, "the game is up and the play is over, and you might as well turn out the lights and ring down the curtain on the comedy.

"Well, why SHOULD they pretend to like one another?" demanded the Bachelor. "Stage love is as worthless as stage money. It seems to me I'd rather take my comforts at home than to wait for a public appearance. I could stand playing the role of neglected husband in public better than that of an extra footstool around the house"——

"Of course!" mocked the Widow. "A man rather likes the role of 'neglected husband,' I suppose. It makes OTHER women sympathize with him so and increases his popularity."

"I suppose so," returned the Bachelor, cheerfully. "For instance, when you treat me like a part of the furniture of the house across the street, or an extra footstool, all the other girls immediately come hovering around to pour oil on my wounded vanity"——

"And patch up your broken heart."

"Yes—and to tell how cold-blooded and frivolous and irresponsible you are"——

"Mr. Travers!"

"And just where you get your hair"——

"What!"

"And just how much of it—oh, well, you know. All those sweet little things that women love to"——

"Billy Travers," cried the Widow, jumping up in a storm of rustling silk, "I'll never treat you like—like one of the family again! I'll always treat you as politely and respectfully and considerately and sweetly"——

"WILL you!" exclaimed the Bachelor, delightedly.

"As—as a perfect stranger!"

And There Are Others.

The cook had been called away to a sick sister, and so the newly wed mistress of the house undertook, with the aid of the maid, to get the Sunday luncheon. The little maid, who had been struggling in the kitchen with a coffee mill that would not work, confessed that she had forgotten to wash the lettuce.

"Well, never mind, Pearl. Go on with the coffee and I'll do it," said the considerate mistress. "Where do they keep the soap?"—Red Hen.

The Attraction.

English Girl: You American girls have not such healthy complexions as we have. I cannot understand why our noblemen take a fancy to your white faces.

American Girl: It isn't our white faces that attract them, my dear; it's our greenbacks.—The Wasp.

TOGO ON CAESAR'S DEATH

The Japanese School-boy Retells the Famous Episode and Anthony's Oration.

WALLACE IRWIN is contributing a humorous series to the American Magazine. Mr. Irwin employs his friend Hashimura Togo in his fun making. The Japanese school-boy has undertaken to relate, in his own language, some of the world's historical events. He tells of the assassination of Julius Caesar in the following fashion:

"Next day Hon. Brutus, robed up in a clean white table-cloth with a blue border, which were considered very stylish for Senators in them heathen time, strole over to White House for see Hon. Caesar on sukjeck of Banquet of Soda, which were then quarreling with Pure Foods. When he arrive to East Room there was Hon. Wm. C. Scipio, Henry W. Cassius and other famous Stand Pats looking like mad corporations. Hon. Aldrich were unable to attend because he was not borned yet. Next to Caesar sat Hon. Mark Anthony, tennis' cabinet boy, looking as harmless as if he had never saw Egypt.

"'Mark,' say Hon. Caesar to this Sec of Commerce & Labors, 'I notice that Hon. Cassius are not looking at all well this morning. He have lean & hungary appearance. He should eat more starchy foods.'

"'Why you no ask him to lunch?' suggest Hon. Anthony.

"But Hon. Caesar neglect to do so, thank you, which were too bad, because Hon. Cassius departed off quite peeved by dispeptics and decide that Caesar must be stabbed as soonly as possible. Thusly are History's program changed by minus events.

"For several evenings following this conversation streets of Rome was filled with gum-slippers & other Black Hand noises. Large profits for Hardware Man. Every member of Congress carried a stabber, except Hon. Mark Anthony who was too busy learning a speech.

"Everybody knew what was going to happen except Hon. Caesar. Assassinations is like other Surprise Parties—if everybody knows it ain't no fun. So on morning of Mch 4 a large delegation of Cannon Republicans was bunched together by Statu of Pompus where Hon. Caesar always came when talking on Tariff & other disagreeable subjects. Pretty soonly he arrived. He was wearing a beast-skin overcoat, because a soothsayer had told him to avoid the Ides of March. He were not sure what a Ide was, but he thought it must have something to do with catching cold.

"'Hale, Caesar!' several Senators holla as soonly as he set down.

"'O Sere Boss & high Hon. Mr. Sir!' collide Hon. Brutus, stepping forthly with concealed weapons, 'I got here a Petition signed by several respectable Corporation Lawyers asking, please, why can't they sell the State of Wyoming to a saw mill who wants it.'

"'Hon. Brutus,' say Caesar, 'much as I love & admire you as a frend & companion, I cannot sell you anything you have not stolen already.'

"'Then accept this jab!' explain Brutus, poking knife to lung.

"'Brute!' gollup Caesar & die historickally. More stabs enjoyed by all present. I am pleased I was absent.' • • •

Hon. Mark Anthony he stood perpendicular in that ottomobile & said following oratory which Hon. Shakspeare, brite reporter, was there to copy:

"'Freendly Roman citizens,
Thanks for your ears.
I am a politician, not a undertaker;
Therefore I will praise Caesar
And let someone else bury him.
Are there any Roman suburbanite in this throngly mob
Who come to town
Maybe once in 6 months by trolley,
Who got such hobbled mind
He do not know name & address of them Persons what done this deed to Caesar?
If so
I will tell you to know:
Senators Brutus & Cassius
Assisted by other members of the Sugar Combination
Done this wicked knife-stick.
And yet several persons says
That Hons. Brutus & Cassius
Is Honorable Men.
Are they?
O surely must be!
Ain't all Republican statesmen & most Democrats
Honorable men?
Ain't it considered Honorable trick
For respectable Senators
To make knife-stick whenever necessary?
Ain't the Voters oftenly stuck like pigs
Every Congressional election?
Then what you mean by saying
That Senator Brutus
And Senator Cassius
Ain't all they are stuck up to be
As Honorable men?
If this wasn't a funeral
I should think you was joking.
"Some says Caesar was Ambitious.
Maybe-so he was;
But he were not ½ so Ambitious as lots of folks what ain't got sifficient brains to get up where their faults will be noticed.
Thrice have I offered him a goldy Crown
And teased him to be King.
Answer for him was, 'No!
Why should I wear a Crown so long as I am Boss?'
Was this Ambition?
Maybe-so it was;
But it was what made Caesar popular in Rome.

THE MAN IN LOWER TEN

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART,
Author of "The Circular Staircase."
(Copyright, 1909, Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

The name of John Gilmore of Pittsburg is forged to notes negotiated by Bronson, who is being prosecuted at Washington. Blakely & McKnight represent Gilmore, assisting in the prosecution. Lawrence (Lollie) Blakely takes the forged notes to Pittsburg that he may show them to Gilmore, who is ill, and take his deposition. On the return journey the forged notes are stolen from Blakely. He bought Lower Ten in the sleeping car, but finds it occupied by a man who the next morning is identified as Simon Harrington, who is stabbed through the heart during the night. Blakely's clothes are stolen and others left in their place contain articles belonging to Henry Pinckney Sullivan. Circumstances seem to point to Blakely as the murderer, and just as the crisis of accusation approaches the train (the Washington Flyer) is wrecked. Allison West, granddaughter of Gilmore, is on the train. She releases Blakely from the wreckage. He falls in love with her. She is involved in some mysterious way in the note forgery case, as is also a woman with bronze hair, who is injured in the wreck, and Mrs. Curtis, who is believed to have been killed in the wreck. Blakely learns that Miss West stayed with Mrs. Curtis at Cresson, which is near the point where the train was wrecked, and that lady wanted Allison to marry her brother, Henry Pinckney Sullivan, who is the husband of Simon Harrington's daughter.

CHAPTER XXIX.

A Night Ride.

THAT was Saturday night, two weeks after the wreck. The previous five days had been full of swift-moving events—the woman in the house next door, the picture in the theater of a man about to leap from the doomed train, the dinner at the Dallases, and Richey's discovery that Allison was the girl in the case. In quick succession had come our visit to the Carter place, the finding of the rest of the telegram, my seeing Alison there, and the strange interview with Mrs. Conway. The Cresson trip stood out in my memory for its serio-comic horrors and its one real thrill. Then—the discovery by the police of the sealskin bag and the bit of chain; Hotchkiss producing triumphantly Stuart for Sullivan and his subsequent discomfiture; McKnight at the station with Allison, and later the confession that he was out of the running.

And yet, when I thought it all over, the entire week and its events were two sides of a triangle that was narrowing rapidly to an apex, a point. And the said apex was at that moment in the drive below my window, resting his long legs by sitting on a carriage block, and smoking a pipe that made the night hideous. The sense of the ridiculous is very close to the sense of tragedy. I opened my screen and whistled, and Johnson looked up and grinned. We said nothing. I held up a handful of cigars, he extended his hat, and when I finally went to sleep, it was to a soothing breeze that wafted in salt air and a faint aroma of good tobacco. I was thoroughly tired, but I slept restlessly, dreaming of two detectives with Pittsburg warrants being held up by Hotchkiss at the point of a spaint, while Alison fastened their hands with a chain that was broken and much too short. I was roused about dawn by a light rap at the door, and, opening it, I found Forbes, in a pair of trousers and a pajama coat. He was as pleasant as most fleshy people are when they have to get up at night, and he said the telephone had been ringing for an hour, and he didn't know why somebody else in the blankety-blank house couldn't have heard it. He wouldn't get to sleep until noon.

As he was palpably asleep on his feet, I left him grumbling and went to the telephone. It proved to be Richey, who had found me by the simple expedient of tracing Alison, and he was jubilant.

"You'll have to come back," he said. "Got a railroad schedule there?"

"I don't sleep with one in my pocket," I retorted, "but if you'll hold the line I'll call out the window to Johnson. He's probably got one."

"Johnson!" I could hear the laugh with which McKnight comprehended the situation. He was still chuckling when I came back.

"Train to Richmond at 6:30 a. m.," I said "What time is it now?"

"Four. Listen, Lollie. We've got him. Do you hear? Through the woman at Baltimore. Then—the other woman, the lady of the restaurant" he was obviously avoiding names—"she is playing our cards for us. No—I don't know why, and I don't care. But you be at the Incubator tonight at 8 o'clock. If you can't shake Johnson, bring him, bless him."

To this day I believe the Sam Forbeses have not recovered from the surprise of my unexpected arrival, my one appearance at dinner in Granger's clothes, and the note on my dresser which informed them the next morning that I had folded my tent like the Arabs and silently stolen away. For half after five Johnson and I, the former as uninquisitive as ever, were on our way through the dust to the station, three miles away, and by four that afternoon we were in Washington. The journey had had been uneventful. Johnson relaxed under the influence of my tobacco, and spoke at some length on the latest improvements in gallows, dilating on the absurdity of cutting out the former free passes to see the affair in operation. I remember, too, that he mentioned the curious anomaly that permits a man about to be hanged to eat a hearty meal. I did not enjoy my dinner that night.

Before we got into Washington I had made an arrangement with Johnson to surrender myself at two the following afternoon. Also, I had wired to Alison, asking her if she would carry out the contract she had made. The detective saw me home, and left me there.

Mrs. Klopton received me with dignified reserve. The very tone in which she asked me when I would dine told me that something was wrong.

"Now—what is it, Mrs. Klopton?" I demanded finally, when she had informed me, in a patient and long-suffering tone, that she felt worn out and thought she needed a rest.

"When I lived with Mrs. Justice Springer," she began acidly, her mending basket in her hands, "it was an orderly, well-conducted household. You can ask any of the neighbors. Meals were cooked and, what's more, eaten; there was none of this 'here one day and gone the next' business."

"Nonsense," I observed. "You're tired, that's all, Mrs. Klopton. And I wish you would go out, I want to bathe."

"That's not all," she said with dignity, from the doorway. "Women coming and going here, women whose shoes I am not fit—I mean, women who are not fit to touch my shoes—coming here as insolent as you please, and asking for you."

"Good heavens!" I exclaimed. "What did you tell them—her, whichever it was?"

"Told her you were sick in a hospital and wouldn't be out for a year!" she said triumphantly. "And when she said she thought she'd come in and wait for you, I slammed the door on her."

"What time was she here?"

"Late last night. And she had a light-haired man across the street. If she thought I didn't see him, she don't know me." Then she closed the door and left me to my bath and my reflections.

At five minutes before eight I was at the Incubator, where I found Hotchkiss and McKnight. They were bending over a table, on which lay McKnight's total armament—a pair of pistols, an elephant gun and an old cavalry saber.

"Draw up a chair and help yourself to pie," he said, pointing to the arsenal. "This is for the benefit of our friend Hotchkiss here, who says he is a small man and fond of life."

Hotchkiss, who had been trying to get the wrong end of a cartridge into the barrel of one of the revolvers, straightened himself and mopped his face.

"We have desperate people to handle," he said pompously, "and we may need desperate means."

"Hotchkiss is like the small boy whose one ambition was to have people grow ashen and tremble at the mention of his name," McKnight jibed. But they were serious enough, both of them, under it all, and when they told me what they planned, I was serious, too.

"You're compounding a felony," I remonstrated, when they had explained. "I'm not eager to be locked away, but, by Jove, to offer her the stolen notes in exchange for Sullivan!"

"We haven't got either of them, you know," McKnight remonstrated, "and we won't have, if we don't start. Come along, Fido," to Hotchkiss.

The plan was simplicity itself. According to Hotchkiss, Sullivan was to meet Bronson at Mrs. Conway's apartment, at 8:30 that night, with the notes. He was to be paid there and the papers destroyed. "But just before that interesting finale," McKnight ended, "we will walk in, take the notes, grab Sullivan, and give the police a jolt that will put them out of the count."

I suppose not one of us, slewing around corners in the machine that night, had the faintest doubt that we were on the right track, or that Fate, scurvy enough before, was playing into our hands at last. Little Hotchkiss was in a state of fever; he alternately twitched and examined the revolver, and a fear that the two movements might be synchronous kept me uneasy. He produced and dilated on the scrap of pillow slip from the wreck, and showed me the stiletto, with its point in cotton batting for safekeeping. And in the intervals he implored Richey not to make such fine calculations at the corners.

TO BE CONTINUED TOMORROW.

The Perfect Woman Is Not a Fat One

Artists say the ideal proportion of weight in a woman is 26 pounds for every foot of her height. This would make a woman of 5 feet 4 inches weigh 136 pounds 8 ounces.

If you weigh more than this in proportion you are on the danger line and are likely to get too fat in a few years. Check it by taking a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime of this recipe: ½ ounce Marmola, ½ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 3½ ounces, Peppermint Water. Get the Marmola sealed and mix it with the other ingredients at home. This mixture is harmless, will not cause wrinkles, and has been known to take off seven pounds of fat a week without any help from exercise or dieting. It is inexpensive. ADV.

MICE AND MATCHES CAUSE FIRE

Blaze Damages Olive Street Millinery Store $1400.

Mice gnawing at matches is supposed to have caused a fire which did $1400 damage to the millinery stock of James O'Brien, 2845 Olive street, at 12:20 a. m. Tuesday. The fire was discovered by Theodore Forster, a druggist next door. It originated in the workroom at the rear of the millinery store, where a pile of rags lay near a box of matches.

WILL SUPERVISE SUGAR CENSUS

Henry Studniczka of 2012 St. Louis avenue, a former member of the Board of Education, has been appointed special agent of the Bureau of Manufactures of the Department of Commerce and Labor to take charge of a census of sugar production in the United States.

The position will pay $10 a day. Mr. Studnicska is an expert sugar chemist and was employed at the Belcher Sugar Refinery in St. Louis before the plant was purchased and closed by the trust.

PEARY WILL BE GUEST OF HONOR AT LUNCHEON GIVEN AT THE NOONDAY CLUB

Many Reservations Made for Explorer's Lecture at the Coliseum Friday Evening.

Plans for the reception of Robert E. Peary, the arctic explorer, upon his arrival in St. Louis at 7:40 a. m., Friday, have been completed by the Million Population Club. He will be escorted from the station to the St. Louis Club for breakfast, and from the club to one of the hotels, probably the Jefferson.

A luncheon at the Noonday Club at 12:30 p. m. will be given in honor of Commander Peary, with D. R. Francis as host. At 3 p. m. the commander will go to his rooms at the hotel and remain in retirement until the hour of the lecture, 8 p. m.

Many reservations have been made for the lecture. The St. Louis Society of Pedagogy and the Academy of Science have purchased large blocks of tickets, and several individuals have bought 100 or more. In addition to the reserved-seat tickets there are many 50-cent tickets for gallery seats. The tickets are on sale at Bollman's, and the public is requested by the Million Club to get tickets there to avoid the rush at the Coliseum.

Mexico Aiding Flood Sufferers.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 30.—The Mexican Government today appropriated 20,000 pesos for the purchase of more corn to be sold to Mexican flood sufferers at cost. This brings the total amount expended by the Mexican Government to enable the poor to purchase corn to $35,000.

ZELAYA, WILLING TO QUIT, WOULD NAME SUCCESSOR

ESTRADA IS OPPOSED

Head of Revolutionists Declares Foes of Nicaraguan President Are Strong.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—President Zelaya has made overtures to the revolutionists intimating his willingness to retire from the presidency of Nicaragua provided Congress be allowed to select a provisional President in his stead.

This news comes from the United States Consulate at Bluefields and was sent late Sunday night.

The dispatch says that a recognized representative of Zelaya has telegraphed an adroitly worded dispatch to the revolutionists to the effect that it is rumored that Zelaya, recognizing the weakness of his position, may retire, he first convening Congress, all of the delegates to which are named and controlled by him, with a view to the selection of a provisional President.

Gen. Estrada has sent the following reply:

"The government of Gen. Estrada completely assured of an ultimate triumph and much stronger than Zelaya, who, with his accomplices owe reparation to the country and Estrada being the unanimous choice for President of the Liberal party, aided by the Conservatives, will not accept any terms other than the recognition of the provisional government established."

FRENCHMEN SAY SOLDIERS ROBBED AND MENACED THEM

By Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 30.—A cable from San Jose, Costa Rica, says:

"The French Government has been drawn into the Nicaraguan trouble in a way that promises serious consequences for Zelaya as a result of brutal outrages committed on French citizens residing in Nicaragua. An official complaint has been lodged with the French Consul-General in Costa Rica by Faustino Montiel, a Frenchman. Montiel, who was manager of a farm owned by M. Menier of Paris and situated on the southeast coast of the Great Lake of Nicaragua, says:

"'On the 22d of October last we were surprised by a large detachment of troops commanded by a man called Larios, who we were told is an aide-de-camp of the President of Nicaragua. Immediately both Mr. Rulnart and myself were bound and dragged to the edge of a lake where, after a mockery of a trial, they threatened to shoot us—a threat which they repeated three times.

Buy Back Own Property.

"'As soon as we were safely in the lockup, the soldiers returned to sack the farm, wresting the keys from the housekeeper and carrying off all objects of value on which they could lay their hands, some of which we recognized later in Lortuga. We had to regain possession of our own horses by purchasing them from those to whom they had sold them.

"'During the operations at the farm the housekeeper was brutally treated by Larios, and it was with difficulty that she saved herself from being killed. They completely stripped the farm, not taking into account the French flag, which was at the time hoisted over the house.'"

A report that Leonard W. Groce and Leroy Cannon have not been executed by order of Zelaya, but are imprisoned near Bluefields, was brought here by Capt. Holmes and passengers of the steamship Atenas. The report was picked up by wireless Nov. 2, as the Atenas was passing the Nicaraguan coast. Bluefields was the point of origination.

Americans Held Prisoner.

It was stated that the two revolutionists, with 56 other Americans, are held prisoners by Zelaya's army and will be taken to Managua for incarceration in the Nicaraguan federal prisons.

The first news came from John M. Keith, a nephew of Minor C. Keith, vice-president of the United Fruit Co., who is the general agent of the Hamburg-American Line at San Jose, Costa Rica. Later the news was confirmed by inquiries at the Atenas from the first officer and other members of the crew and then from Capt. Holmes himself.

Transport for Marines on Hand.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Having gone at full speed from Pichilnque Bay, Mexico, the transport Buffalo was reported today as having arrived at Panama. It will be her mission in case of demonstration against Zelaya in Nicaragua to take marines from the Isthmus of Panama to Corinto on the Pacific coast of Nicaragua.

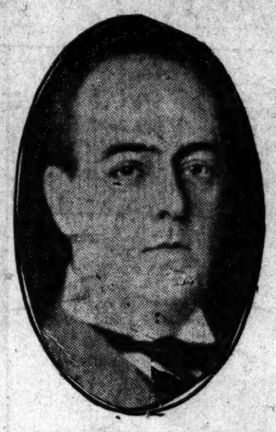
RAILROAD MAN WHO IS WANTED AS DIPLOMAT



FREDERICK A. DELANO.

DELANO AGAIN MENTIONED FOR POST IN CHINA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Frederick A. Delano of Chicago, president of the Wabash railroad, may become minister to China. This post has gone begging for some time and the impression prevails that possibly Mr. Delano may have decided to accept it and end the suspense.

The position was tendered to Mr. Delano just after it was offered to John Hays Hammond. At that time it was refused. Mr. Delano called on President Taft at the White House yesterday. From all the various negatives, the positive opinion has been builded that the President again besought Mr. Delano to accept the Chinese mission.

As nothing but a business man is desired for the Chinese post, one familiar with railroad concessions and options and such mining privileges as are connected with transportation operations, Mr. Delano is considered the ideal man for the vacancy.

FAVORS INDEX FOR PRAYERS

Minister Would Have Names Printed on Cards.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—A card index system for praying was advocated by the Rev. John Timothy Stone of the Fourth Presbyterian Church in an address before the Chicago Presbyterian Ministers' Association.

Mr. Stone advised the preachers to place the names of those for whom they wished to pray on card indexes and to use the cards frequently.

"I get down on my knees with my card index before me instead of the Bible," he said.

TO WOMEN WHO SUFFER

This Missouri Lady Speaks from the Experience of One Who Has Been Made Well.

It has been said that seven-tenths of the women of this country suffer from their peculiar troubles, endure distress that makes the lives of many of them miserable and almost unendurable. To such sufferers it will be a blessing to know that there is a remedy exactly suited to their ills, a blood-making tonic that will restore the functions to their regular activity, without which there can be no permanent good health.

A strong recommendation of this tonic treatment is the cure of Mrs. Alice Jenkins of No. 2538 Holmes street, Kansas City, Mo., of a severe case of weakness. She says:

"I suffered for several years with weakness following the birth of my children. My bowels were paralyzed and I suffered terribly with pains through them. For two years I spent most of the time in bed and could not walk at all. I was as thin as I could possibly be and live. I had no appetite or strength and my head bothered me all of the time. I could not remember anything. I had dizzy spells and was very nervous.

"I was under the care of so many doctors and received so little help that I became discouraged. I had no faith in any medicine and thought there was no help for me. But upon the advice of a neighbor, who had great confidence in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I decided to take them as a last resort. I noticed some improvement after taking a few boxes. The pills gave me new blood and I gradually grew stronger. The pains in my bowels disappeared, and I was finally cured. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a good blood tonic and I am certain they were the means of curing me."

A valuable booklet entitled "Plain Talks to Women," will be sent free, in sealed envelope, upon request, to any woman interested.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y. The genuine are sold only in packages bearing the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."

FORMER ST. LOUIS DOCTOR KILLS SELF IN NEW JERSEY

HACKENSACK, N. J., Nov. 30.—Dr. F. A. Wohlfarth, a salesman for a surgical supply house in New York, committed suicide Sunday night by shooting himself in the head at his home on Knox avenue, Grantwood.

Mrs. Wohlfarth is visiting a married daughter in Duluth, and Wohlfarth was alone in the house over Sunday. He had been in the habit of coming to Grantwood on Saturdays during his wife's absence and staying there until Monday morning.

A maid in the family of Sidney R. Ellis, an actor, who lives next door, noticed a light burning in the Wohlfarth residence yesterday, and she saw the storm door swinging in the wind.

Suspecting that something was wrong, the Ellis family notified the police and the body of Dr. Wohlfarth was found fully dressed in his bedroom.

Dr. Wohlfarth came originally from St. Louis. He was 56 years old. After his medical education he went on the stage and appeared for a time with Booth and Barrett. He had lived in Grantwood for about six years.

OUT-OF-ORDER STOMACHS FEEL FINE AFTER TAKING A LITTLE DIAPEPSIN

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of Indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy Stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why it makes Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour undigested food, Nausea, Headache Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to get relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with common every-day cures advertised that they have about made up their mind that they have something else wrong or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which putrefy in the digestive tract and intestines, and, besides, foul the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin. * * *

HORSE OPERATED ON FOR BROKEN SKULL AFTER A RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

A valuable bay horse belonging to George J. Bopp of Webster Groves was operated on Monday night by Dr. W. R. Harrison, veterinary, for a fractured skull suffered in a runaway. The unconscious steed was removed in an ambulance from the scene of the accident to Dr. Harrison's equine hospital and was anesthetized. Four slivers of bone were removed from the skull and several fissures sewed up with strong silver wire.

The horse was borrowed from Bopp by Edward Hess of Webster Groves, who wished to take Miss Ollie Stafford buggy riding. Hess was warned that the animal was ill-tempered. At the Gravois and Laclede roads it ran away and, swerving to avoid an automobile, crashed into a telegraph post head first. Hess and Miss Stafford were unhurt, but the horse fell insensible.

Hess telephoned to Dr. Harrison, who lives on the Denny and Clayton roads, five miles away, and the horse ambulance was sent at a gallop. Five men from the automobile, Hess and Dr. Harrison lifted the steed into the vehicle and a record run was made to the hospital.

POOR FAMILY AWAITS EVICTION

Patrolman Gives 50 Cents for Food and Reports Case.

John McCarty, his wife and four little children expect to be evicted from their rooms on the third floor at 2403 North Fifteenth street, according to a letter received by Capt. Johnson of the North Market Street District from Mrs. McCarty. The rent is overdue and they have no money. Patrolman H. Simon, who was sent to the McCarty home to investigate their condition, reported they were without food or fuel. He gave them 50 cents with which to purchase a meal. McCarty is out of employment. He told the policeman he wants work rather than charity.

BRIDGE DELAYED BY A WAIT FOR CONDEMNATION

Assembly and B. P. I. Each Thinks Other Should Act.

APPROACH NOT FIXED

Only Wagonway Is Platted by President Reber on the East Side.

While the Municipal Assembly is waiting for the Board of Public Improvements to take the initiative and the Board, in turn, is waiting for a move from the Assembly, no step is being taken to condemn the land for the east approach of the Free Bridge.

President Reber of the Board of Public Improvements said Tuesday that no surveys have been made under his supervision and none will begin until the Municipal Assembly directs him to proceed with them. Members of the Council, in opposing the adoption of a resolution, committing the Assembly to act on the subject of the railroad approaches, declared last Friday that the Board of Public Improvements was doing what the resolution proposed.

The only land which has thus far been surveyed and platted preparatory to condemnation is that on which the wagon approach will stand. As the wagon and railroad approaches will be coincident for but a short distance east of the river, surveys for one will not answer for the other.

Drew's Bill Before Assembly.

A strip of land 100 feet wide and 4700 feet long will be required for the railroad approach if it is built from the river to the east line of the Illinois Central's right of way. That is the point to which members of the United Free Bridge Committee desires the approach to go, so as to carry it beyond the property of any railroad and land it in neutral territory.

The Municipal Assembly has before it now only one bill for the condemnation of the requisite land. That was introduced by Councilman Drew Friday at the request of the United Free Bridge Committee. Hostility to this bill is very strong among a majority of councilmen, who regard it as an interference with the prerogative of the Board of Public Improvements.

It was the Council's intention to file Drew's bill Tuesday, if possible, but in view of President Reber's statement that he will undertake no surveys or other work in the condemnation of land for the east railroad approach, they probably will think better of it.

Most of the land over which the approach will be built belongs to the Southern Railway Co. Two parcels are the property of the St. Louis, Belleville & Southern and the East St. Louis & Carondelet railroads.

Five Railway Approaches Planned.

When the city began negotiations with the Southern Railway for the purchase of a plot 36x89 feet as the site for the east pier, the company expressed its willingness and readiness to lease or deed the ground. Although two months have passed, the city has not yet got the land and Mayor Kreismann, President Reber and City Counselor Walther have received no explanation of the delay.

Plans for the free bridge contemplate five railroad approaches. On the west side of the river there will be one directly into Mill Creek Valley, one south into First street and one north into the same street. On the east side of the river one approach probably will connect the Illinois Central and the other with the East St. Louis Terminal Belt Railroad at a point 11,200 feet east of the east pier.

It is the present intention to build the approach into the Mill Creek Valley first, that connecting the Illinois Central next, then the south divergency and finally the connection with the East Side Terminal Belt.

The annual Bazaar for the benefit of the Girls' Industrial Home will be held at the Home, corner Belt and Von Versen avenues, on Thursday and Friday, Dec. 2 and 3, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Fancy and useful articles, home-made preserves, pickles, mincemeat, candies and cakes will be for sale. Lunch will be served each day from 12 to 2. Every penny spent for the purchase of any of these articles will be a contribution to the home. Come and buy your Christmas presents and assist a worthy cause.

ALT FEARS REVENUE LOSS AS RESULT OF COURT RULE

Grand Jury Aid Suggested as Means of Preventing Shrinkage in License Fees.

License Collector Louis Alt told a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday that in view of the Supreme Court decision holding that he cannot go behind the returns made by merchants themselves, he probably will have to call to his aid the grand jury and the Circuit Attorney to prevent great losses of revenue to the city.

The decision was handed down in the case of Washington avenue wholesale merchants, who objected to having the valuation of their stocks increased by the License Board of Revision, and brought mandamus suit against Mr. Alt to compel him to issue them licenses.

"The decision hampers this department," said Mr. Alt. "Probably the only recourse I will have to force accurate returns will be the Circuit Attorney's office and the grand jury. I am not prepared to say just how much the city will lose by reason of the decision, as I have not seen a complete copy of it."

GEN. LUKE E. WRIGHT SLATED FOR FEDERAL DISTRICT BENCH

Tennesseean Expected to Succeed to Seat to Be Vacated by Judge Lurton.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—It is believed here that Gen. Luke E. Wright of Tennessee, former Governor of the Philippines and President Roosevelt's Secretary of War, has been selected by President Taft to be United States Judge of the Circuit Court for the Sixth District, to succeed Judge Horace E. Lurton, chosen to fill the United States Supreme Court vacancy caused by the death of Justice Peckham.

These nominations will not be announced until after Congress meets, but it can be stated upon the highest authority that the President has fixed upon these two jurists. Gen. Wright is a Democrat, but on account of his executive ability was made a Cabinet member by President Roosevelt.

HUSSEY APPEALS TWICE, BUT MUST PAY FINE FOR ASSAULT

After a delay of two and a half years, Frank Hussey, until recently legislative representative of the "Bottoms Gang," will have to pay a fine of $25 for an assault committed upon Policeman Joplin in the Manchester Avenue Police Station.

The fine was first imposed by Judge Tracy in police court, and Hussey appealed to the Circuit Court, where the fine was confirmed by Judge Fisher. The defendant appealed again to the St. Louis Court of Appeals, which handed down a decision Tuesday affirming the penalty.

The offense was committed June 10, 1907, when Hussey and his half-brother, "Lawler" Daly, became engaged in a battle with Joplin at Jefferson avenue and Olive street. The policeman arrested Hussey and was attacked in the police station. Joplin charged him with two assaults, but Hussey was acquitted of attacking him on the street.

"Mix half ounce of Concentrated pine compound with two ounces of glycerine and half a pint of good whiskey; shake well each time and use in doses of a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful every four hours."

The Concentrated pine is a special pine product and comes only in half ounce bottles, each enclosed in an air-tight case, but be sure it is labeled "Concentrated."

A prominent local druggist says that he has filled this prescription hundreds of times and that it is wonderfully effective.

The exhilarating action of pine on the mucous membrane of the throat and lungs is well known to every one who has ever been in a pine forest, but in the Concentrated pine compound this active principle is increased a hundred-fold and with the aid of the other ingredients of the formula given above is conducted direct to the vital membrane of the respiratory organs. * * *

ITCHING SCALY PIMPLY HUMOR

On Both His Legs—Scratched Until It Bled—Lasted Nearly Two Years in Spite of Doctor's Prescription and Neighbors' Advice.

EASY, ECONOMICAL CURE BY 2 SETS OF CUTICURA

"Three years ago small pimples appeared on both of my lower limbs. I scratched them until the blood would flow as from a wound. The itching would be more severe towards evening and at bed time. I went to one of the best doctors in my vicinity who gave me a prescription. This would stop the itching for a day or so but afterwards it would be still worse. After using several dollars' worth of this salve I tried several other remedies but to no avail. The neighbors advised using sulphur and lard but it was all fruitless.

"A few months afterwards I saw an advertisement in a newspaper of the Cuticura Remedies. I at once sent off for some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent Pills, but thinking they would be no better than the other remedies. But to my surprise after the first order was used the scales disappeared and the itching ceased and after using another order of the Cuticura Remedies I was completely cured, after suffering for nearly two years. I shall be glad to write to any one who may be interested in my cure. Carl Haldeman, Marshall, Wis., October 25, 1908."

Skin Purity The constant use of Cuticura Soap, assisted when necessary by Cuticura Ointment, not only preserves, purifies and beautifies the skin, scalp, hair and hands, but prevents clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads, inflammation, irritation, redness and roughness, and other unwholesome conditions. Guaranteed absolutely pure.

TELEPHONE TALK IN CHICAGO TO BE MEASURED BY METERS ATTACHED TO INSTRUMENTS

Proposed Plan Will Do Away With the Coin in the Slot System Now Used.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Chicagoans soon will have their telephonic talk measured.

For two years the commission created by the telephone franchise has been hunting for an accurate and effective meter and it announced to the Council last night that it had been successful. In addition, the commission has ordered the company to install "a meter."

In the report of the engineers are the following comments on the meter suggested:

"Such a meter would be suitable for use to replace the service of the present nickel or token box type given by the Chicago Telephone Co. It is a question of policy whether the meters should be placed on business telephones.

"Such a meter could be installed on any telephone line without interfering with the subscriber's use of the telephone, except for the time required for him to register, and would give him, at his station, an accurate, visible record of the total number of calls made by him, and for which he has to pay. The central office wiring in any exchange would not have to be changed."

WOMAN WRITER PREFERS HELL TO LIFE IN CHICAGO

Mrs. Atherton Declares Rich Homes of Lake City Are Hodge-Podge Architecture.

NEW YORK A PARADISE

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—"I would rather go to hell than to Chicago!"

"Coming to New York is like coming to Paradise!"

That's the difference, according to Mrs. Gertrude Atherton, the novelist, who has just arrived in New York from her home in San Francisco, via Chicago.

Mrs. Atherton is to stay in New York all winter and write a play for Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske. Just at present she is immersed in the proof sheets of a new novel.

Nothing Like New York.

"There is nothing in America like New York—it is the supreme center of civilization in the Western Hemisphere," she said. "Chicago—Chicago is nothing but rawness and crudeness, and ugliness, unspeakable. It is an awful nightmare. Why, truly, I had rather go to hell than to Chicago, if I had to choose one or the other for my abode.

"In Chicago one feels that everybody one sees is either vulgarly, disgustingly rich, or shamefully, horribly poor. The great ladies whom one meets driving about in their carriages seem to be literally swelling with wealth—one momentarily expects them to burst.

"And the other people whom one sees, the poor, poor people, are so tragically, helplessly miserable. It is like Dante's Inferno. There is the look of utter torture on so many of the faces. That's why I think Jane Addams is so wonderful—because she can do such splendid work in that awfully depressing atmosphere.

Hodge-Podge of Architecture.

"The homes of the rich people in Chicago are a perfectly hideous hodge-podge of architecture. I have seen nothing like them in New York. Of course, they are not strikingly beautiful, like the old vine-covered, many-towered European castles. But if they are slightly bare and monotonous, they commit no violent offense against good taste.

"And then New York is so clean! Why, I haven't been able to get the Chicago soot off my hands yet. The air here is a welcome change—it's so clear and fresh and inspiring.

"I think one reason why much crime is committed in Chicago is because people can't be well in the midst of that awful dirt and squalor—and when people aren't well they are so much more apt to be wicked."

SENATOR BELIEVES DEEP WATERWAY DEPENDS UPON A PLAN OF CONSERVATION

Question, Chamberlain of Oregon Says, Must Also Become National, Not Local.

United States Senator George A. Chamberlain of Oregon told the members of the Traffic Club of St. Louis Monday night that he was in favor of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf deep waterway movement, but expressed the belief that success depended upon making the movement national instead of local.

Senator Chamberlain was one of the speakers at the second annual meeting of the club, which was held at the Southern Hotel. He said also that success of the deep water project would depend upon conservation of the Western forests, as no amount of work would keep the deep waterway open if the forests were denuded. He contended that the consumption of coal and iron should be regulated to prevent the exhaustion of the supply.

The other speakers were Judge F. C. Dillard, counsel of the Union Pacific Railroad at Chicago, and George A. Post, president of the Railway Business Association of New York. Judge Dillard spoke on "The Relations Between Corporate Enterprise and the Public." Mr. Post spoke on "The Railway Business Association."

Retiring President Simmons was required to sing "Cousin Caruso" before giving up the reins. George J. Tansey was elected to succeed him. In resigning the office to Mr. Tansey, Mr. Simmons presented a mahogany gavel to the club. The other officers elected were:

Vice-presidents, Carl R. Gray, George W. Simmons, E. F. Kearney, P. W. Coyle, George E. Howard; secretary and treasurer, A. F. Versen; directors, John E. Massengale, J. D. McNamara, William Gray, O. H. Greene and E. E. Scharff.

AWAKENS IN TIME TO SNATCH ACID VIAL FROM WIFE'S LIPS

Louis E. Englehardt of 1500 South Twelfth street started from his sleep at 11:30 p. m. Monday and saw his wife, Mrs. Maud Englehardt, sitting beside him, draining a bottle of carbolic acid. He struck the vial from her hand and called for an ambulance. At the City Hospital it was found that Mrs. Englehardt had swallowed none of the poison and she was sent home.

Englehardt says that his wife has on many occasions threatened or attempted to end her life because she was "tired of living."

AUTHOR ARRAIGNED IN THE OLD BAILEY FOR LIBEL

Copyright, 1909, by Press Pub Co. (New York World.)

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Thomas Hudson Crossland, author of "The Unspeakable Scot" and "Lovely Woman," was arraigned in the Old Bailey yesterday charged with criminally libelling the Hon. Frederick Manners-Sutton, a relative of Viscount Canterbury. Mr. Crossland is editor of The Academy, with Lord Alfred Bruce Douglas, brother of the Marquis of Queensbury.

The trial was postponed until February affidavits that Maggie Dupont, an essential witness for the defense, has been spirited away to Philadelphia by the prosecutor's agents.

TWENTY-FIVE BODIES WASHED ASHORE IN JAPANESE STORM

Fears Entertained That a Ship and All on Board Have Been Lost.

TOKIO, Nov. 30.—A fierce storm swept over the vicinity of Shimonoseki yesterday and last night. The Kisagata Maru, a Japanese vessel of 2373 tons, foundered and it is feared that all on board were lost. Twenty-five bodies have been washed ashore. Many fishing boats are also believed to have been wrecked.

The piers and embankments at Shimonoseki have been badly damaged by the high seas.

O'CONNOR SEES HOPE FOR THE BROWNS OF 1910

New Manager Believes That Pitching Strength Only Is Needed to Make a Winning Team.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

JACK O'CONNOR, the new manager of the Browns, is on the job with all the spirit and aggressiveness characteristic of a son of Erin. After lying idle for two months, since the baseball season closed, he is now taking active hold of the work of constructing a team to play for St. Louis in the coming season. If some of his plans are carried out, and there is every reason to believe they will be, he will startle the fans of this city during the next few months and raise their hopes high for success on the ball field.

Jack was about town Monday afternoon, the first time in several weeks. He talked baseball profusely. His whole soul is in the game and he is turning his efforts to better baseball conditions here. In two weeks he will go to New York with Owner Hedges to attend the annual League meeting and it is at that time that he hopes to put through some trading that will make decisive changes on the Browns' team.

"The Browns need pitching strength," said O'Connor. "As long as I have played ball I never saw a good team that didn't have good pitchers. At the present time it seems we are weak along that line, but I cannot tell for sure just how some of our young pitchers will turn out. I didn't see those recruits last fall and will have no chance to see them until we go into training next spring, but you can be assured right now that we are going to hold onto all the pitchers until we know whether they can make good or not.

"I'm relying heavily on Bill Bailey next summer. He's a grand pitcher and for a young fellow with none too much strength he's as game a boy as ever stood in the box. I am hoping every day he will come here to spend the winter, for he knows that the climate of Texas in winter does not agree with him. For two seasons now he has reported in poor condition and it took half the summer to get him in shape.

"Word has just come from Harry Howell, who is camping in the woods of Southern Missouri, that his arm has apparently healed completely, and so far as he can tell, it is as strong as ever. When I heard that, I could have hugged him, for if Harry Howell and Bill Bailey can both report in condition next spring, it will take a load of care off my mind.

"You know, I think the bad start of the Browns last spring was caused mainly because Howell couldn't pitch. He was always the fellow to do the heavy work in April and May, and last spring he was helpless. Why, I wouldn't let him get away from me now for anyone, for if he can come back to his old form again, he will not be troubled in those early games next spring, and I certainly would like to get away to a good start.

"There's no chance for Howell to be traded. He's the kind of a fellow who goes the limit for a man any time. If his arm goes back on him again, he will not be turned out. Howel's too smart a fellow to get out of baseball.

"I have hopes that two or three of the young pitchers coming in will make good. They tell me Gilligan and Kinsella are much beyond the average. Then we will have Bill Graham, and he should be better than ever next year. Powell and Waddell, of course, may be a bit slow in getting into shape. Pelty, too, may not be ready for the early games. But on the whole, the pitching staff is an unknown quantity on the Browns team for next year and I am thinking more about it than anything else.

Expects Griggs to Be a World Beater; May Play the Outfield

"I HEAR more good words regarding Griggs than any other player I have. Well, I didn't see this fellow play last summer because I was out scouting after I joined the Browns again in midseason. But if half of what I hear is true, he must be a world beater. I don't know yet where he will play. They tell me he can play anywhere, but does better on first base or in the outfield. If he is a bit slow in his movements, I should imagine he would do better in the outfield than at first base.

"It's pretty hard to get Jack Powell to say a word about baseball, even to me, and I tried to pump him on Griggs. When he does say a thing, though, I know that he means it.

"I asked him what he thought about Griggs—if he could hit."

"'Say, he's the best in the world,' was Powell's answer. 'He won't hit at a ball two inches outside the plate.'

"Well, that was enough to convince me that he could hit, and if he can do that, we surely can teach him to do all the other things that a ballplayer should do.

"Wait till you see this fellow Olson," Jack then continued. "I saw him working over in the Association last fall, and he's just as fast as Bush of Detroit. Of course, he hasn't been hitting very well, but he can field with the best infielders in the country.

"Hartzell ought to be a great man on the infield next year. I always did think he belonged at shortstop. But I'm not saying he's going to get Wallace's place, for Wallace is not through playing yet. Bob can play third with the best of them, you know.

"Look out for Danny Hoffman next year. He's fast enough to do the things on the bases that Cobb does. But Dan's like a wild horse and has to be handled carefully. There's no chance for him to get away, and I look for him to have even a better season next year than he had last. I hear Schweitzer has recovered from his lameness, too, so we should have plenty of material for the outfield. There's a lot of new ones that I haven't seen, but I hear they are all right.

"What will be traded? Well, I couldn't say as to that, for I am not sure of them yet. I am working now with Mr. Hedges on several deals with three or four different clubs, but we cannot tell what will be done until we can get all these club owners together in New York."

Jack isn't worrying about the team, for he knows he can do but little until next spring. He wants to help in the trading and can be of service there because he knows all of the ballplayers now in the big leagues. But O'Connor isn't a trader such as McAleer was. Jack is anxiously waiting till he can get his entire squad out on the field in the Southern training camp, and he expects to build up a team there instead of making trades in the winter.

He is in favor of having all the veteran members of the team spend two weeks or even more at Hot Springs before the regular training begins in Texas. He intends to go there himself if possible, and believes every veteran ballplayer who is a bit overweight and slow in getting into condition, owes it to himself as well as to the club, to be ready for active training when the regular time comes. The young fellows need but a few days to get in shape, but the old-timers need two months.

FOUR CLUBS OF COAST ON HAND FOR BIG FIGHT

Eddie Graney Joins Coffroth, McCarey and Gleason in Effort to Land Battle.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The arrival of Eddie Graney in town today completes the California "big four" who will bid for the Jeffries-Johnson battle in the Meyers Hotel, Hoboken, tomorrow morning. The others are Tom McCarey, Jack Gleason and Jimmy Coffroth. Eleven o'clock is the time set for the opening of bids, and if all of the fabulous offers that have been delighting the ears of the fight fans for the last fortnight have been accompanied by the necessary certified check for $5000, Messrs. Berger, Little, Jeffries and Johnson will need a regular Jersey clothes hamper in which to pile the valuable paper.

Of course there will be other bidders in town besides Jimmy Coffroth, Tom McCarey, Jack Gleason and Eddie Graney, notably "Tex" Rickard of Goldfield fame, the man who engineered the Gans-Nelson battle. But it is certain that the others will not really be in it when it comes to bidding for the fight.

After the business of the day is finished, the principals will turn their attention to the little affair they have fixed up for the edification of those who have the price at Madison Square Garden in the evening. Jeffries will appear in three different events, according to a program as now arranged. He will present the sketch, "A Night With a Champion." Then he'll take on big Jack McCormick for a few rounds, after which he will wrestle with Frank Gotch. Gotch will later play for a while with Tom Jenkins, probably.

Johnson has brought two young heavies from Chicago, Monte Cutler, brother of the wrestler, "Kid" Cutler, and Jack Heinen. Jack says he will try the pair out tomorrow night with a view to finding out which will be suitable for a sparring partner during his training.

Dr. B. F. Roller, wrestler, boxer and allround performer, will do something, probably wrestle with Gotch.

SPORT BRIEFS.

Wabash University of Crawfordsville, Ind., has started arranging its football schedule for next season. It is practically certain that St. Louis U. will be one of the elevens that will play the "Little Giants" in 1910.

The Louisiana A. C. College football team defeated the Eagle A. C., 5 to 0. Woodson, on a recovered punt, made the only touchdown of the game.

John F. Lee has offered a new cup to be known as the president's trophy for the annual pool competition at the St. Louis Club. The cup must be won three times before it can be taken out of competition.

CATCHER BLISS OF THE CARDINALS BREAKS HIS LEG

Regals, New Bowling Champions of the City

Alley Strikes and Spares.

St. Louis tenpin bowlers are talking about the fact that, though the City Tenpin Association officials voted for scratch money prizes, none are to be awarded. Spencer Drake, president of the City Association, was one man who opposed the scratch money prizes. He argued that it would do the tenpin game no good to give prize scratch money to a "select ten men," who were generally admitted to be the best ten men in bowling in St. Louis.

It also develops the reason why George Qualey, considered one of the strongest bowlers on the Regal team, which won the city championship, did not bowl. Qualey was to have shot with the Regals. He, however, is a member of the Mentor No. 1 team of the Royal Arcanum League. Sunkel, counted a first-rate bowler, was to have shot with the Mentors. He failed to show up and Qualey had to fill his place. Qualey shot the worst three games of tenpins that he has done so far this season. He did his best, but when a man is not feeling right he cannot shoot his best game, which Musick & Co. found out to their regret.

Emil Masson and Bruce Darling of the Regals team should be given much credit for breaking the high scratch score for two-men teams. Darling, and especially Masson, have been in actual training for many a day to win out in the doubles. Even their diet received careful attention. It may sound strange, but Masson for days has been taking long walks in order to get in trim for his doubles. Four years ago Masson, with Al Bell as his partner, won the city championship in doubles. At that time "Stump" was the champion slowball bowler of St. Louis. Since then he has improved wonderfully, not only in making strikes, but in picking out his spares.

George Qualey and Jules Schmitt, scratch men in the two-men competition, bowled Monday night. Both men shot what was really excellent tenpins. Qualey's games were: 176, 212 and 201. Schmitt's games were: 210, 204 and 195. Nevertheless, these men will hardly get into the prize money, which shows that the tournament is what the name implies, a handicap event.

In any other game but tenpins, the scratch man is always given the advantage if there is a tie or any partiality to be shown. Nevertheless, in the tenpin game the really strong teams of the city are penalized by not being allowed to shoot on the lower floor of the De Soto Pine alleys, on which they make their big scores, also their averages for the season. It is on these same averages that handicaps are allotted. Why the City Star League teams were barred off the lower floor alleys is causing a bit of talk as scratch men are not supposed to be handicapped by shooting on the runs on which they have not made their averages on which the handicaps were figured.

Dennis Sweeney, last year's secretary of the City Association and secretary of the Middle West Bowling Association this year declares that there were more actual bowlers, and more bowling Sunday in the City Association tournament than was ever witnessed before in any tournament in the United States. The bowlers started to work at 9:30 a. m. and they shot their tournament games without intermission until almost midnight. Just how many bowlers competed even Guy Burkhart, secretary of the present City Association does not know.

The members of the Regals team—Jack Beresford, Emil Masson, Jules Schmitt, Louis Waldecker and Bruce Darling—which bowled into the championship scratch score of the tournament last Saturday, are, with the exception of Beresford, the Lynchs of last year, who won the city championship. The Duffys won the championship two years ago, but there is a large sum of money offered that the Regals will beat out the Duffys in the City Star championship race. The City Star League is the major tenpin organization of St. Louis, and the winner of the first prize money in the City League has to bowl the most consistent tenpins of the season in any league.

WOLGAST STOPS YOUNG POWELL IN FAST BOUT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—Ad Wolgast of Milwaukee won the decesion over Lew Powell of San Francisco Monday night after 20 rounds of bloody fighting. The local boy was clearly outfought in practically every round and Wolgast won through his ability as an infighter and his hard hitting. From the start of the fight Wolgast forced matters and was always trying to get in close where he could use rights and lefts to the body and a short right uppercut to the face. He started Powell's nose bleeding early in the game and the local boy had Wolgast bleeding at the mouth later in the bout.

Powell did his best work with a straight left to the face and a right cross, but his inability to deliver a stiff blow prevented him from stopping Wolgast's rushes, and as soon as the Milwaukee man got in close he had things his own way. At the end both men were on their feet fighting, but Powell was the weaker and Wolgast had the better of the bout throughout. Jack Welch refreed the match.

Interscholastic League Has Bright Prospects; Outside Organization Has Been Failure.

The smoke of the gridiron battles has now blown over and the many followers of athletics are directing their attention to the coming basket ball season. From present indications it looks as if the only basket ball of any consequence will be furnished in the Interscholastic League and from Washington U. The games in which these teams participate will be the ones which will bring out the crowds.

Two attempts have been made to reorganize the City League without success. In the last two years that organization has been a failure from a financial standpoint, in spite of the fact that there were many good teams included. The game was put in a bad light on account of poor officiating, which resulted in the contests ending up in a little prize fight of some kind. The supporting public refused to patronize the games and the result was that the league had to suspend operations with the schedule uncompleted.

This year a meeting to get a line on all the teams intending to join a newly organized league was held and about eight teams were on hand. It looked as if the game would improve in the eyes of the public with an eight-team league. It was a short-lived one, as at the next meeting, which was the one in which the schedule was to be arranged and the officers to be elected, only two teams had representatives present, which, of course, knocked out all possibilities of the sport being revived for a while. The Premiere Lodge team, formerly the Central Y. M. C. A. five, won the championship each time and still are the most conspicuous in the field and will continue to be unless some team will organize to give them a game. There is sufficient talent from which a team could be picked that would make them extend themselves. The last year's McKinley team, under the name of the B. M. G., gave them a mighty close game, and if they should continue again this year it will not be surprising to see them dethrone the Premieres.

The Premieres are arranging to have some pretty classy teams come here for games and it is hoped by so doing the game outside of the school teams will be revived.

The Washington U. squad turned out for its first practice yesterday and if the faculty does not deprive Coach Cayou of his material there is a fine chance for the Missouri Valley Conference championship going to the local team. Daily practice will be held and before the schedule is begun with Missouri on Jan. 13 the Indian coach will have a very fast team in the field.

Work has also begun in the interscholastic and it is needless to say that the organization will be a success after the banner season last year. The Soldan High School, the newly elected member of the League, will make its debut in I. L. athletics and their team will be followed with much interest. The schedule will open on Dec. 17, with Soldan and Yeatman, and will close with the championship game between Central and McKinley.

Fogel Shows He Has an Option on Johnny Kling

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—During a whirl of baseball rumors and letters of congratulations, Horace S. Fogel, the new president of the Philadelphia National League baseball club took time enough today to announce that he is unpledged for the annual meeting of the League, which is to be held in New York next week. President Fogel said he will go to the metropolis and place his vote for Heydler or Ward, as he sees fit.

Since the sale of the club it has been learned that John Kling, whose name was mentioned as the probable manager of the team, figures in an option which Thomas Durham is said to have obtained last season.

According to the data handed out by the new officials, Mr. Durham, unknown to the other owners of the club, obtained a $15,000 option on Kling, providing he could be induced to return to the game. This deal is said to have been made through Charles W. Murphy, president of the Cubs.

It was announced today that a special meeting of the new board of directors of the Phillies will be held on Thursday.

Morris Scheck, a local newspaper man, was today appointed secretary of the club. This means a change in the original officers, and Messrs. Elliot and Conway are to be advanced, so as to make room for Mr. Scheck. It is proposed to make Mr. Elliot vice-president instead of treasurer and to make Mr. Conway treasurer of the club.

William J. Shettsline, who for years has been connected with the club, will be retained as business manager.

Nothing has been done definite in regard to selecting a manager. Fred Lake, the former manager of the Boston Americans, has been suggested as a probable candidate for the place, but the talk about Johnny Kling will not down.

PAT CASEY OF HYDE PARKS WILL PLAY IN LOUISVILLE

Pat Casey, second baseman of the Hyde Parks club, champions of the Trolley League, also champions of St. Louis, has been signed by Owner Grayson of the Louisville American Association club for next season.

"Heine" Kulage, who is acting for Grayson, recommended Casey to the Colonels. Grayson is a St. Louisan who believes that there is a lot of first-rate baseball players here.

Grayson not long ago secured Johnny Baker, star southpaw of the Hyde Parks, for his team next year. Baker won about twenty-four games and lost one last season while he was twirling for "Heine."

Miller to Lead Michigan.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 30.—Joy Miller of Detroit was Monday elected captain of the University of Michigan football eleven for next year. Miller played at quarterback in the Minnesota game.

ASSOCIATION PLANNING TO ENTER CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 30.—That the rumor of an American Association invasion of American and National League cities and the precipitation of a baseball war is not all rumor was given confirmation here Monday by W. F. Eirick, County Commissioner of Cuyahoga County, who asserted that he and his associates had the promise of an American Association franchise and were closing a deal for a park.

Eirick declared it his intention to obtain a park on the West Side, at least five miles from the American League Park here, and explained that his associates and those who promised a franchise for Cleveland planned to give this city games in the absence of the American League club.

Greatest Nerve and Blood Tonic
No. 2. M. I. S. T. No. 2.

I have given personal inspection to the working of M. I. S. T. on the human system, and must say that it entirely meets with my professional sanction.
D. H. LOOMIS, Late Demonstrator of Anatomy, Philadelphia Medical College.

We Guarantee M.I.S.T. No. 2 will Cure or We Will Refund Your Money

RHEUMATISM, no matter how long standing. Any case of Inflammation of the Bladder, no matter if the patients have been for years forced to use a catheter. BLOOD POISON IN ANY STAGE. ANY CASE OF DIABETES.

In addition to the above M. I. S. T. No. 2 has cured many cases of Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia, Spinal Trouble and apparently incurable diseases of the nerves and has removed from the system cancer and cancerous growths.

M. I. S. T. has been on the market for over 20 years and has cured thousands of sufferers. It is prescribed by leading physicians all over the country. It is pleasant to take and absolutely safe. It never increases or diminishes the action of the heart.

FREE If you are suffering from any chronic disease you are urged to write to us, no matter how many doctors or kinds of medicines you have tried without relief. WE GUARANTEE TO CURE YOU or refund your money. That you may judge of the value of this Great Remedy for yourself, we will send you one week's treatment by mail FREE, only asking that when cured yourself you will recommend it to others. Write confidentially to our medical department, giving symptoms. $1 per box, or six boxes for $5.

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD POISON

Removing the outward symptoms is not all that is necessary to cure Contagious Blood Poison. The virulent germs which produce these external manifestations must be completely driven from the blood before a real cure can be effected. The least taint left in the circulation will sooner or later cause a fresh outbreak of the trouble, with all its hideous symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, copper-colored spots, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc. Only a blood purifier can cure Contagious Blood Poison. Medicines which merely check the symptoms for a time, because of their strong mineral nature, and leave the poison smouldering in the system, have brought disappointment to thousands. The disease always returns after such treatment. S. S. S. cures Contagious Blood Poison and cures it permanently. It goes into the blood, and removes every particle of the poison, making the circulation pure, rich and healthy, nor does S. S. S. leave the slightest trace of the disease for future outbreaks. S. S. S. does not contain any mineral ingredient, but is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, which are most valuable in their blood-purifying properties, and at the same time specifically adapted to building up the entire system. If you have Contagious Blood Poison S. S. S. will cure you because it will thoroughly purify your Blood. Home Treatment Book and any medical advice free to all

TEXAS TRUCK FARMS
There Is Big Money in Truck Farms on the ORANGE HILL Colony Lands

They are located near Houston and the sea coast, in the most fertile spot of Texas. Sign and mail the coupon at the bottom of this ad at once, and we will send you complete literature telling all about our WONDERFUL OFFER, and will also put you on the free mailing list of the Monthly Colonist.

The TRUCK FARMS on the ORANGE HILL LANDS cannot be classed with the ordinary truck farms, for, besides the general run of products of truck farms, you can raise Oranges, Figs, Strawberries and all kinds of fruit. In 1905 Mr. M. A. Coye, who has a small place on what is known as Liverpool Road, sold 400 cases of Figs for $400. This was the product of one and one-third acres.

The only part of the entire United States which can compare with the Orange Hill Lands is Southern California, and then only in regard to fertility of soil and climate.

In price the Orange Hill Lands cost about one-tenth as much per acre as Southern California lands. Practically the same products of Southern California lands can be grown on the Orange Hill Lands, and you have the advantage of being near the great eastern market. This means a big saving in freight and about two days in time.

Never before have you had the advantage of so wonderful an opportunity. Just think of it—land that is every bit as good as Southern California land at one-tenth the cost! This is your chance. Never again will so wonderful an opportunity stare you in the face.

Do not waste a moment, but sit right down now and sign and mail the coupon for the Monthly "Colonist," and complete descriptive literature, telling all about the wonderful Orange Hill Lands. It will be the signing of your Declaration of Independence. Office open Sunday and evenings by appointments.

OPENING PRICES ON WALL STREET ARE IRREGULAR

Industrials Develop Most Weakness; Sugar Continues Its Downward Course.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30, 12:30 p. m.—Although trading during the forenoon was of an extensive character it was largely professional, and price movements in either direction were not very important.

The tendency of prices seemed to be downward, but the opening irregularity was in evidence throughout the forenoon.

Anaconda and Lead declined ⅝ each, Colorado Fuel ¼, Steel preferred and Westinghouse 1 each. Smelting and Steel common gained ⅝ each, Sugar ½, Pacific Mail ⅝, Amalgamated Copper and Consolidated Gas 1 each. Utah Copper was at parity.

In the railway list several of the important stocks were unchanged. Among them were Atchison, B. & O., Canadian Pacific, C. & O., Erie, Mo. Pac., Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Reading and Wabash preferred. Standard Oil has been quiet for the last few days, hanging around 670.

Great Northern advanced ¼, St. Paul ⅝, Southern Pacific ½ and Union Pacific ⅝. B. R. T. and the Rock Island stocks declined ¼ each, New York Central ⅛, Louisville & Nashville and Great Northern Ore 1 each.

Sales to noon were 663,900 shares.

Stock prices were irregular in the initial trading on Wall Street today. The changes from the closing figures were almost exclusively limited to small fractions. Lead and Steel common gained ⅜ each, Smelting ¼, Amalgamated Copper ⅝, Utah Copper ⅛, and Anaconda ⅞.

Colorado Fuel and Consolidated Gas lost ⅜ each, Steel preferred ⅛, Western Union ⅝, and Car and Foundry ⅞.

In the rails section Atchison, St. Paul and Erie declined ⅛ each, Missouri Pacific and L. & N. ¾ each, and Great Northern 1 point.

Northern Pacific and Rock Island preferred advanced ⅛ each, B. R. T., Reading and the Harriman Pacifics ¼ each, Rock Island common ⅜ and Wabash preferred ½ point. Canadian Pacific was ¾ higher. C. & O., New York Central and Pennsylvania were unchanged.

American Sugar opened 1⅜ above its closing.

Rock Island, Union Pacific and Northern Pacific receded ¼ each, Wabash preferred and L. & N. ½ each. New York Central moved up ⅜ and Great Northern ⅛. The others were at parity.

The industrials were nearly all lower. Steel common and Smelting declined ¼ each, Utah Copper 1 and Sugar 2½ points.

Steel, Sugar and the Copper stocks were very active. Reading advanced 1 point and then reacted to the opening. It was quite active.

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S TRADING ON WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The active opening dealings in stocks today did not cause much change in the price level. Only a few of the prominent stocks moved widely from last night's closing. The gains and losses were much mixed and the contest between the opposing speculative forces was evident. American Sugar advanced 1⅛, Amalgamated Copper, Anaconda and Reading 1, and Wabash preferred, Canadian Pacific and American Smelting large fractions. St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred declined 1¼, American Car 1, and Great Northern preferred ¾.

The strength displayed by a few of the important stocks at the opening brought heavy offerings for both accounts, and prices went down quickly to below yesterday's closing. The copper stocks and American Sugar were, as on yesterday, the chief points of weakness. International Harvester and American Hide and Leather preferred lost 2, Kansas & Texas preferred 1⅝, Mackay companies 1¼, American Sugar, Utah Copper 1¼, Northern Pacific, Texas & Pacific, Southern Railway preferred, Cleveland, C., C. & St. Louis, Erie second preferred, Minneapolis & St. Louis, Illinois Central, Colorado Fuel, Great Northern Ore certificates, American Steel Foundries and American Beet Sugar 1. Supporting orders caused a moderate rally later and the list became quiet.

Prices weakened again, some of the railroads coming into the movement. Reading was forced 1⅝ under last night, Norfolk & Western 1¼ and New York Central, Louisville & Nashville and Great Northern preferred 1⅛. A long list of industrials suffered losses of a point upwards, including the United States Steel stocks and other iron and steel industrials. American Malting preferred dropped 3⅛, Great Northern Ore certificates 2⅝, American Car and Westinghouse Electric 2, American Cotton Oil 1⅜ and Western Union and Republic Steel 1⅛. Wabash preferred rose 1⅝. The market steadied and became dull at noon. Bonds were weak.

Trading became almost nominal when the demand slackened and prices fell back slightly. Brooklyn Transit was marked up 1⅛.

Large purchasing orders were distributed in Amalgamated Copper, Reading, Union Pacific and American Sugar, which produced a show of strength in the rest of the market. Many of the prominent railroad stocks rose to above yesterday's last prices and the losses in some of the industrials were fully made up. American Sugar and Central Railroad of New Jersey sold 2 points over last night, Amalgamated Copper 1⅝, Union Pacific 1⅝ and Northwestern 1⅛. Pittsburg Coal preferred lost 3 points.

The market closed about steady and quiet. The market showed great hesitation late in the day. Prices fluctuated below the best of the recovery, but without falling to the previous low point. Rock Island preferred rose 1 and Consolidated Gas 1⅝.

SUGAR.

London cables show that cane is steady at previous prices. Java, 12s 6d. Beet is steady, prices fully maintained; November, 12s 6d; December, 12s 6¾d; May, 12s 9¾d.

Local refined sugars are quoted on the basis of 5.15c, less 1 per cent, for standard granulated, except by Federal Co., which quotes 5.10c, less 1 per cent, but is taking business at 5.05c.

The raw sugar market is lower, as a sale of 2500 bags of Louisiana sugar was made for prompt delivery to New York at 4.23 cents, and that is the price quoted for spot. Muscovado, 89 test, is quoted at 3.63 cents, and molasses sugar, 89 test, at 3.38 cents.

CANDY COMMON FEATURE OF A QUIET SESSION

Trading Lighter Than Usual With No Material Change in Prices.

National Candy common was the feature of an exceedingly quiet session of the St. Louis Stock Exchange, Tuesday. Only five sales were recorded, four of which were Candy, at the steady price of 19¼.

Issues of the United Railways Co. and bank stocks were inactive.

*Deficit.

That the immediate results of the lopping off of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad Co. from the Rock Island system, in accordance with the negotiations under way, would be beneficial to the Rock Island Co. seems to be the general opinion of railroad and banking interests.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—President Stilwell of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient has left for the City of Mexico, over the Rock Island, in a special train with a party of financiers, officers and directors of the road. It is understood that the construction of the road west to the Pacific Coast of Mexico will be pushed rapidly.

Combined earnings of the Rock Island lines for the first quarter of the current fiscal year were the best ever shown for that period, as regards both gross and net. Gross earnings, $31,503,399, represented a gain of 11.8 per cent over last year and of approximately 3 per cent over the best previous year, while net operating income, $9,488,200, was 20.9 per cent better than 1908 and 3 per cent greater than the former high record.

NATIVE CATTLE—There was a larger proportion of good steers among today's offerings, and buyers were disposed to take hold readily. The market ruled active and strong. Top steers bought $8.25, the best price realized for some time. These cattle were Missouri fed and weighed 1438 pounds. Cows were active sale and strong. Heifers showed no improvement and were draggy. Veals showed no change and stockers were firm.

SOUTHERN CATTLE—The supply in the quarantine division proved moderate to light, aggregating only 1800 head. Early offerings ran mainly to Arkansas and Mississippi mixed stock. The movement on these cattle was active and prices held strong. A string of Texas cattle was reported to arrive later in the day, and it is claimed that these would contain some Texas grassers.

HOGS—Another liberal supply of hogs arrived, but the market opened on an active to 5c higher basis for all good quality hogs, with the heavy ones, however, showing the greatest advance. The top of the market went to $8.35, a price not reached for a good many weeks. The bulk of the good hogs sold from $8@8.25. Packers were a little slow, but in order to get the hogs they were forced into paying the advance. Pigs and lights, where good were ready sale and a little higher, while the off grades were practically no better than on Monday.

SHEEP—With a liberal supply on sale, the sheep trade was barely steady on the best offerings and weak to a shade lower on others. Best lambs went at $7.50, but they were hardly as good as they might have been, while the best mutton sheep sold at $5 and yearlings from $6.25@6.50. Buyers picked out the fat sheep and lambs and passed the thin ones up until late in the day. Stockers were steady and bucks, also.

HORSES AND MULES—The horse market opened strong and active this morning. Quality, both on Southern and Eastern horses, showed a marked improvement over yesterday's offerings. Fresh receipts for the day approximated 175 head.

The mule market remains in much the same condition as yesterday. Few buyers are here and trade is quite dull, both out of first hands and with the dealers. Fresh receipts for today approximated 250 head.

COTTON RALLIES ON RUMORS OF BULLISH GINNERS' REPORT

Prices Open Under Pressure, but Short Covering Brings About Recovery.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The cotton market opened easy at a decline of 5 to 9 points in response to easy cables. There was considerable covering at the decline and prices rallied 3 or 4 points from the lowest during the early session. Offerings of long cotton increased on the bulge, however, and the market later ruled nervous and irregular.

The market was steadier late in the forenoon on covering and rumors that preliminary returns to the National Ginners' Association indicated only 8,950,000 bales ginned to Dec. 1. Prices at midday were about 3 to 4 points net higher.

ST. LOUIS MONEY MARKET.

Reports from New York Tuesday were to the effect that there are signs of easing in the Eastern money market. Diligent inquiry among the St. Louis banking institutions failed to disclose a situation of this sort here, however. Money is coming to this center in fair volume, but the domestic exchange situation is very much as it was last week. Discounts were 5 to 6 per cent in the extremes. Call money ruled steady and collections good.

EXPORTS OF COPPER.

Although the exports of copper for the week ended Nov. 23 were somewhat smaller than those recorded in the preceding week, the total shipments of the metal were comparatively large, amounting to 10,505,906 pounds. This compares with 12,343,615 pounds exported in the week ended Nov. 16 and with 6,330,613 pounds in the week ended Nov. 9. Of the exports during the week, 5,740,524 pounds were shipped to England, or more than 50 per cent of the total, Germany was second.

EAST ST. LOUIS NOTES.

An effort is being made to include Third street within the fire limits, and if that is done a permit will be issued for rebuilding the elevator on the site of the one owned by the Interstate Warehouse and Elevator Co., which was destroyed by fire early Sunday morning, the second structure to burn on the same site within nine months. The building was a frame structure and was 165 feet high. Both fires are supposed to have been caused by crossed wires and in each case the flames started in the cupola.

The Wednesday Club will be entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. C. Haynes, 526 North Tenth street. Mrs. Martin D. Baker, Mrs. C. H. Quackenbush, Mrs. L. B. Washburn and Miss Mabel White will read papers. St. Beuve, Montaigne and Rabelais will be discussed.

After a long session the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners of East St Louis adjourned for a further consideration of evidence in the trial of Detective James P Neville, license inspector; A J Stocker, superintendent of the Bertillion system, and Chief of Detectives Patrick J Ryan.

Tom Anastos was shot in the left leg late Monday afternoon by Pete Kanolios in front of the Majestic Theater on Collinsville avenue as a matinee crowd was leaving. Kanolias fired three shots. Kanolias escaped. Anastos was taken to his home, 215 North Third street. The shooting was the result of a quarrel between the men before they left Greece.

The employes of the East St. Louis & Suburban Railway will give a ball Saturday night, Dec. 18, at Donahue's Hall, the proceeds to be devoted to the relief of the [illegible], Ill., mine sufferers.

LATE RECOVERY IN WHEAT PRICES

Heavy Tone, General During Most of Session, Is Interrupted Near the Close.

Belated short covering in the December position caused a recovery from the heavy tone that prevailed in the local wheat during most of Tuesday's session. Prices rallied from the early declines and closed in a steady position, ⅜@⅞c to ¼c higher for the day, except on July, which finished net ⅛c lower.

Conditions in the pit having been sufficiently relieved to make congestion unlikely, the market early was susceptible to the influence of bearish foreign news and other factors of a depressing character. Little demand existed and prices sagged fractionally. The market was dull and the range of values narrow, with a heavy tone apparent during the morning.

During the past week or so shorts, realizing their untenable position, have covered quite freely, relieving the congestion to a marked degree and making a squeeze in the near option unlikely. As the May option is a long way off, this encouraged the bearish element to give freer rein to their convictions and news of a bearish trend found readier response regarding selling in the pit.

There were reports of continued favorable harvesting weather and general crop conditions in Argentine. This was reflected in an easy tone to the cables. Liverpool was also affected by the cheaper and larger offerings of La Plata wheat and by the weak undertone in the spot market. The materialization of the expected decrease in the European visible and the continued light stocks at Liverpool caused only a partial rally. Liverpool closed ⅛d to ⅛d lower and prices in other foreign markets also showed declines.

There were no important changes in the domestic situation and few features of sufficient moment to inspire large operations developed. The weather in all directions is favorable. Crop reports continue to show a healthy condition and promise a large yield next year if present indications are fulfilled. Receipts, both in the Northwest and at winter wheat primaries, were large. Now that the danger of congestion has been practically removed and the short interest pretty well satisfied with wheat, the cash demand has lost its force. Stocks in all positions are still unusually small, but they are beginning to increase and with the large arrivals meeting very little inquiry, cash prices were again lowered. There was very little trade activity in any branch.

Prices opened under pressure and were forced down to fractional declines. The subsequent movements during the forenoon were narrow and uninteresting and values remained at the lower levels.

December wheat opened ⅛@⅜c lower at $1.07 and declined to $1.06⅝. May wheat opened ¼c lower at $1.06⅝ and declined to $1.06½. July wheat sold ⅛c lower at 96⅝c.

FINANCIAL ITEMS.

The foreign exchange market during the past week or so has been extremely dull and devoid of any developments of real interest. The only characteristic of the market is its continued firmness, which is brought about by an unusually light supply of commercial bills. When this is said virtually the whole situation in the present foreign exchange market is described.

THE MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILWAY CO.

TREASURER'S OFFICE, 195 BROADWAY.

A. H. CALEF, Treasurer.

NEW YORK, N. Y., November 17, 1909.

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY:

Pursuant to a resolution of the Board of Directors, adopted November 10, 1909, and subject to the approval of the Stockholders, for the purpose of securing which approval a special meeting has been called to convene January 18, 1910, the privilege will be given to stockholders of this Company to subscribe upon the terms and conditions hereinafter stated, on or before January 21, 1910, for an amount of Convertible Five Per Cent First and Refunding Mortgage Fifty-Year Gold Bonds, equal in face amount to thirty-six per cent (36%) of the par value of their respective holdings of the stock of this Company, as registered on its books, at three o'clock P. M., on December 8, 1909.

Warrants signed by the Treasurer or an Assistant Treasurer will be issued to stockholders as soon as possible after the closing of the books on December 8, 1909, specifying the amount of bonds for which each stockholder is entitled to subscribe. Such subscription warrants will be issued only for amounts of $500, or in multiples thereof. For each fraction of a $500 bond for which a stockholder is entitled to subscribe, a fractional warrant will be issued, which, if presented on or before January 14, 1910, with other fractional warrants aggregating $500, will be exchangeable for a subscription warrant for a $500 bond; and if the surrendered fractional warrants include a fraction in excess of $500, a new fractional warrant will be issued for such fraction.

On the back of these warrants will be two forms: The first is to be filled out and signed by the stockholders or by their assigns, in case they desire to subscribe. The second form, which is an assignment, is to be filled out and signed by the stockholders only in case they desire to dispose of their subscription privilege.

Stockholders who may wish to subscribe for a portion of the bonds covered by a warrant and dispose of the balance of the subscription privilege, or who may wish to dispose of a portion of the subscription privilege covered by the warrant to one person and the balance to another, should return their warrants to this office on or before January 14, 1910, to be split up into warrants for the desired amounts. Warrants so returned should be accompanied by a statement in writing specifying the number of warrants desired in exchange and the amount of bonds to be covered by each.

$950 per $1000 bond, with accrued interest adjusted.
$475 per $500 bond, with accrued interest adjusted.
Such price will be payable at the office of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, 28 Nassau Street, New York City, in installments as follows:

	Per $1000 bond.	Per $500 bond.
At the time of making subscription, on or before January 21, 1910	$350	$175
On or before March 4, 1910	$300	$150
On or before April 15, 1910	$300	$150

Subscriptions may be paid for in full at the time of making subscription, on or before January 21, 1910, in which case the amount payable will be $944.44 per $1000 bond or $472.22 per $500 bond; or, after the payment of the first installment on or before January 21, 1910, as above provided, the remainder of the subscription may be paid in full on or before March 4, 1910, by paying $598.20 per $1000 bond, or $299.10 per $500 bond.

Bonds will be issued with coupons maturing September 1, 1910, attached, and the foregoing payments include an adjustment of accrued interest to March 1, 1910.

The warrants must be surrendered to the Guaranty Trust Company of New York by the stockholders, or by the persons to whom assigned, on or before January 21, 1910, accompanied by the payment to said trust company, as depositary, of the first installment; and all warrants not so surrendered with such payment on or before said date shall be void and of no value.

Failure to pay the second or third installments when and as payable will operate as a forfeiture of all rights in respect of the subscription and the installments previously paid.

The Guaranty Trust Company of New York will, on surrender of the warrants and payment of the first installment, issue receipts which will be transferable by delivery and which must be presented to the Guaranty Trust Company of New York upon the payment of the second and third installments in order that such payment may be noted thereon.

Fractions desired by stockholders to complete full bonds, or fractions which stockholders desire to dispose of, must be bought or sold in the market, as the Company will not buy or sell fractions.

Full-paid receipts for bonds will be exchangeable for the engraved bonds as soon as issued.

No subscription or assignment of this privilege will be recognized unless made on the forms of the Company.

No stockholder of the Company shall be entitled to any of the above-mentioned bonds unless the terms of subscription herein specified are fully complied with.

The subscription and respective installment payments must be made to the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, 28 Nassau Street, New York City, at the dates and in accordance with the provisions stated above. Checks or drafts in payment of subscriptions must be drawn in favor of Guaranty Trust Company of New York, in New York funds, and for the exact amounts covering the respective installments.

By order of the Board of Directors,
A. H. CALEF, Treasurer.

P. S.—A statement giving details of the First and Refunding Mortgage Fifty-Year Gold Bonds and of the security therefor will be furnished upon application at the office of the Railway Company.

FINED TWICE AS SPEEDER, NEGRO HITS BOY OF 8

Favorite Son of Woman Mourning Death of Six Relatives Struck by Auto.

Mrs. William Hanley, who has buried two husbands and who since her third marriage has mourned the successive deaths of an adopted child, twin infants and a granddaughter, was prostrated Tuesday by anxiety for her favorite son, Robert Gelselman, 8 years old, who is in St. Luke's Hospital. An automobile ran the boy down on Union boulevard and there is fear that his skull was fractured.

The chauffeur, Eugene Hammond, a negro, has been twice fined for speeding.

Hanley, the boy's stepfather, left the City Hospital only a few days ago, after a prolonged illness, during which provisions ran low in his home at 5511 Delaware avenue. The house, in the midst of the abodes of wealth, is a small frame building, which scarcely shelters its occupants from the cold.

"They wouldn't let me see him," cried the mother, in telling of her visit to the hospital. "They might have let his mother see him."

The unusual sight of an automobile stopping in front of her home gave the mother the first intimation of the accident to her boy. The chauffeur soon afterward took her and her husband to St. Luke's, where they were told that little Robert was in a critical condition, but had a chance for recovery.

The chauffeur was arrested after he had taken the parents to the hospital and had returned to his employer, C. D. Johnson of 6237 McPherson avenue, and reported the accident. He was later released on $300 bond.

Woman's Kittens Were Skunks.

MONTICELLO, N. Y., Nov. 30.—Mrs. Nicholas Van Ness, on her way home last night took pity on what she supposed were three little black kittens, which turned out to be three young skunks, and today her brand new winter suit lies buried in her back yard.

DECLARES COOK DID NOT REACH M'KINLEY PEAK

Prof. Parker, One of Explorer's Party, Tears His Data Asunder.

POINTS OUT ERRORS

Says Photographs Show That Summit Was Not Scaled by Expedition.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 30.—Another member of the party which accompanied Dr. Frederick A. Cook to the Mount McKinley region has taken sides against the Brooklyn explorer. Prof. Herschel C. Parker of Columbia University, one of the leading American mountain climbers, who was the principal scientific member of the Cook expedition, declared in an interview today that Dr. Cook did not reach the top of Mount McKinley.

Prof. Parker said:

"It is with profound regret that I feel obliged to impeach the manhood and honor of a personal friend. Nothing but stern necessity would prompt me to this, but this is a case where truth and justice as well as science and civilization compel the step. Dr. Frederick Cook never made the ascent of Mount McKinley, as he has claimed.

He then reviews their joint attempt to climb the mountain and its failure. Continuing, he says:

"Then we made an agreement to return home and prepare for another attempt the following year from the Yukon side of the mountain. Russell Porter, the topographer, was left to make a map of the country southwest of the mountain; a packer was left with the horses until the return of a hunting party, while the rest of us, including Cook and myself, took the boat back to Tyonik on the coast of Alaska.

Ignorant of Instruments.

"My experience with Cook had demonstrated that he knew nothing about mountain climbing, and had no scientific training. All the measurements and care of the two hypsometers fell to me. In fact, I was in full charge of the expedition, as Cook seemed to realize his own total incompetence for such work.

"It was in the middle of August when we parted. His last words to me were that he simply wanted to hunt a little and look over some of the nearby glaciers. I came home and you may judge of my surprise when, one month later, he telegraphed that he had reached the summit of Mount McKinley.

"When his report came to me he said that he had remained two weeks to fix up his boat after I had left, and had then reorganized the party for the ascent of the mountain."

Prof. Parker, after going into a detailed description of how Cook sent all of his party away except Barrill and a man he had picked up in Alaska, says that Cook sent the following telegram to Editor Bridgeman of the Brooklyn Standard Union:

"We are making our final preparations. I will telegraph you if anything important happens."

Prof. Parker then says, referring to Cook's book: "In his book he says that in going up the Chulitna River he picked out several different routes over the northeastern ridge, and by one of these reached the summit.

"The impossibility of this lies in the fact that he was from fifteen to twenty miles further away from the mountain and 3000 feet lower while in the boat than we had been when examining the ridge with our glasses from the peaks.

"The nearest point to the mountain at which he could have been while in the boat was 40 miles, and at an elevation of only 1000 feet above the sea. On the peaks we had been at an elevation of 5000 feet and with our glasses could sweep the entire ridge. There was no possible route that way. The statement of Cook was absurd on its face.

"When Dr. Cook was questioned as to the route of ascent he could give no clear account. When Barrill was asked by Browne regarding the matter, he only replied: 'Ask the doctor.' As a matter of fact, Barrill wanted to get his pay and did not wish to offend the doctor.

Peak in Solid Ice.

"Now, as a matter of fact, the peak of Mount McKinley is solid ice, while the open ledges are thousands of feet below. His photographs show open ledges, while the glasses show a solid wall of ice on the peak, and this is the testimony of all other explorers.

"Now comes another bit of evidence. The photograph used in the book is probably from the same negative, but not cut down. By some fearful lack of foresight there appears in the lower right-hand corner another mountain peak of approximately the same height as the alleged Mount McKinley peak.

"Another discrepancy: Further along in the book is a photograph labeled 'A shoulder of Mount McKinley, 8000 feet high.' This photograph shows a large glacier at the foot, with several peaks on the other side, with a probable altiture of 7000 to 8000 feet. One of these peaks exactly corresponds with the peaks shown by the side of the alleged summit of Mount McKinley.

"A close inspection of the two shows the same formation as the photograph Cook labeled as the 'Top of the Continent.' Here are two photographs of exactly the same mountain, one of which is labeled 20,390 feet high and the other is labeled 8000 feet.

"Still another ridiculous statement in the Cook book: He gives the height of Mount McKinley as 20,390 feet, and says that he read this by his barometers. The highest barometer scale we had was for only 18,000 feet. How could he read his barometer 20,390 feet when it would only scale 18,000?"

BEER SUSTAINS WOMAN DURING 18-MILE WALK

When Charles Hoelscher of 717 Shenandoah avenue bet $5 with Mrs. Minnie Loesch of 3553 Louisiana avenue that she could not walk the 18 miles from St. Louis to Waterloo, Ill., "he thought he had a sure thing," says Mrs. Loesch, "because he knew I had tender feet."

Mrs. Loesch outwitted him by marching the entire distance in carpet slippers, and is now planning to buy a nice Christmas present for herself with the wagered money. She returned home Monday afternoon by train and described her trip as follows:

"I was accompanied by my husband, Charles, and by Emil Zeis of 2312 South Twelfth street, whom Hoelscher sent to see that I didn't steal a ride on a farm wagon on the way.

"We took a street car to Davis street Friday morning, crossed the ferry, and began walking from East Carondelet at 9:05 a. m. I think much of the success of the tramp was due to the fact that none of us drank a drop of water during the whole seven hours and a half. We relied wholly on beer.

"We reached Columbia, Ill., at noon, and as we carried no bundles, stopped for lunch and beer. After a short rest, we started on.

"At 4:40 p. m. we arrived in Waterloo and I was fresh enough to have walked six miles farther to the home of our friend, Charles C. Goeddel, but he met us with a buggy at Waterloo."

Mandate Against Labor Leaders Stayed Until Supreme Court Rules on Case.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia today granted the petition of Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor, in the contempt case against them, for a stay of execution of the mandate of the court sending them to jail. The mandate is stayed indefinitely pending appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States.

J. L. FLORY MADE CHIEF CLERK OF COURT OF APPEALS

Joseph L. Flory, former Republican candidate for Governor of Missouri, and recently secretary to Postmaster Akins, was appointed Tuesday to the clerkship of the St. Louis Court of Appeals. His appointment was one of three, effective Wednesday, which marked the passing of control in the court from the Democratic to the Republican party.

Flory will succeed John H. Murphy, a Democrat, who has held the clerkship for 10 years. The place pays $3000 a year. The other two positions attached to the court, paying $2000 a year each, were also given to Republicans. Thomas E. Francis was appointed to succeed J. Turner White of Springfield as court reporter, and Capt. William Todd Hunter of Potosi was named to succeed George Lynch as marshal.

The Marshal's duties consist of pronouncing the word "Oyez" at appropriate times and of serving an infrequent writ or other legal process. The position is considered one of the most restful sinecures known to Missouri officialdom. Capt. Hunter, the new appointee, is a Union veteran.

Francis, the new court reporter, is a young attorney and has been connected with the law firm of Boyle and Priest. He is a brother-in-law of Judge Norton of the court.

RICH AMERICAN RAGES THROUGH SPANISH HOTEL

LONDON, Nov. 30.—In a message dated Madrid, Nov. 25, the Chronicle's correspondent says:

"Lawrence Perrin, the American millionaire, who claimed to have discovered ancient treasure at his Moorish castle, is giving a good deal of trouble to the Ronda authorities and hotel proprietors. Yesterday he threw the whole of the Hotel Regina into a state of terror by threatening everybody with a loaded revolver, accompanying his threats with verses from the Koran.

"The hotel manager called for the police, and soon the Mayor, the Captain General and other authorities thronged to the hotel and discussed what measures should be taken, but without apparently coming to a conclusion.

"Perrin locked himself in his apartments and awaited their departure, and then summoned the manager, showed him a pile of gold coins, offered him a cigar, then gave him a severe thrashing. This was the first outbreak.

"It was at the house of an English acquaintance that the curtain raised on the second scene. There Perrin was received with such heavy blows by the lady of the house that he returned to the hotel in a helpless condition. He was so infuriated that he threatened to kill two of his servants. In their terror they leaped through a window and fell upon the pavement, 30 feet below, sustaining severe injuries.

"Perrin's American servants are tired of his eccentricities and have fled from the hotel. His 4-year-old boy is being taken care of by a neighbor, to whom Perrin has sent £50. The press describes Perrin's adventures of a 'lunatic abroad.'"
